White House Smearing Of Agnew Denied

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon's top aides, in what appears to be shaping up as a battle within the executive family, emphatically deny the White House is smearing Vice President Spiro T. Agnew by means of news leaks on the Maryland bribery scandal.

Reports that the White House is secretly funneling anti-Agnew information to newsmen are "blatantly and absolutely false," the aides say.

Justice Department sources indicated yesterday that the White House, which has access to details of the inquiry, may be the leaking the Agnew reports.

Nixon told a news conference Wednesday that he had ordered Attorney General Elliott Richardson to find the source of the leaks and to summarily fire anyone involved. Afterward, the President called Agnew to relay his concern personally.

The President knew long in advance, before he discussed it with Agnew, that federal prosecutors were conducting the investigation, White House officials said. He has said that it "would be improper for me to comment on the charges" but condemned the "outrageous leak of information from either the grand jury, or the prosecutors or the Justice Department—or all three."

However, Richardson has noted in a letter to Agnew that the "outlines" of the investigation are known to a number of witnesses, individuals, lawyers, the White House staff, investigative personnel of the Internal Revenue Service as well as the Justice Department.

In another repercussion of Nixon's news conference, a White House spokesman refused to give evidence supporting Nixon's claim that widespread burglary was authorized for national security purposes by both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations and well known.

"The President said it because it is correct," said Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren. "It's a fact, and I'm not going beyond that."

Nixon said burglaries occurred from 1960 to 1966 during the administrations of his two predecessors.

Presidential aides, meanwhile, said that Nixon is in an upbeat mood, feeling that he scored a success with his news conference. Aides said in hurdling the apparently dreaded meeting with the press after a five-month hiatus, Nixon had given a lift to morale in the White House.

They also reported he was stunned at the number of questions on Watergate, and hopes now that he can turn attention to other domestic problems.

Aides also were fanning out to reassure the public and the press that Nixon is fully capable of governing, despite inroads into his popularity because of Watergate.

Nixon, Gen. Alexander M. Haig, White House chief of staff, and Special Counsel J. Fred Buzhardt are being kept abreast of details of the investigation of allegations that Agnew accepted kickbacks from Maryland contractors.

Although Nixon's claims were denied swiftly by two former attorneys general who served in the 1960's, Ramsey Clark and Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, there were published reports today quoting informed Justice Department sources and former FBI officials as saying that FBI agents began conducting illegal burglaries in the 1930's.

U.S. Announces First Phase Of Thailand Pullout

3,550 Troops, 100 Warplanes At Seven Bases Will Leave

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — The United States announced plans today to pull 3,550 troops and more than 100 warplanes out of Thailand in the first phase of an American pullout from seven bases across the country.

Maj. Gen. Thomas W. Mellen, chief of the American Military Assistance Command for Thailand worked out the withdrawal agreement earlier in the day in talks with Lt. Gen. Kriangsak Chamananda, deputy chief of staff of Thailand's Supreme Command.

U.S. military sources said that the pullout would begin as early as the beginning of next week. They said that no type of aircraft was excluded including the B52 bombers. The first unit to depart were expected to be those Americans deployed here from Vietnam in 1972.

A joint statement, issued after the meeting at the Thai Foreign Ministry, said, "it was agreed that the U.S. would take immediate steps for an initial withdrawal of 3,550 U.S. military personnel from Thailand and also a reduction of more than 100 aircraft."

The statement made no specific mention of how long the pullout would take, but said the two sides would meet again in the first week of September to consider "further gradual reduction of the level of U.S. forces in Thailand.

The announcement said the future withdrawals would include "strategic, tactical and support aircraft" but would take "into consideration security requirements of Southeast Asia."

The United States and Thailand had agreed earlier to pull out some of America's 45,000 servicemen and more than 500 warplanes at Thai bases because of the Aug. 15 Cambodian bombing halt.

The bases were built by the United States during the 1960s at a cost of more than $650 million.

COMMUNITY HOUSE

Novato To Fete 50th Birthday

By FRANK FARRARA

The Novato Community House, in an attractive coat of red paint, with carpeted lobby and Victorian decor, isn't showing its age.

In fact, few people are aware that the building, which has served as a playhouse, dance hall, movie house, library and meeting center, will be 50 years old on Tuesday.

City historian Margaret A. Coady said the anniversary crept up before there was time to plan a special event, but there will be an exhibit at the Novato City Hall, from next Friday until Oct. 1.

When the community house was sheduled to open 50 years ago, the local newspaper heralded it as "the greatest achievement yet accomplished in this place" and "a monument to the spirit of the community."

The Novato concert band played at the opening ceremonies, Aug. 28, 1923, then Mayor D. D. Bowman spoke, Novato school pupils sang and Al Herman of Penngrove gave imitiations of 12 different breeds of roosters crowing.

About 700 persons attended the opening and "there was dancing until 1:30," according to the local newspaper.

The idea for a community center in Novato started a few years earlier, according to a letter written in the 1920s by Leonora White, wife of a Novato real estate broker.

She said when she arrived in Novato in 1918, it was "indeed the wild and wooly west" with a saloon near the railroad depot and on the next corner stood another saloon with a big room over it. . .the only meeting place for social activities, lodge meetings and the like."

Most depressing of all, she said, was an unused building along Grant Avenue, "its dusty windows covered with circus

POPULATION OF MARIN UP SLIGHTLY

Marin County's population increased slightly, while the number of Sonoma County residents jumped sharply last year, according to figures released yesterday by the State Finance Department.

The number of Marin residents rose 1.6 per cent, while Sonoma's population increased by 4.2 per cent. Both rates were above the statewide average of 1 per cent. (See state population story, page 5.)

Marin residents number approximately 215,800, up 3,100 over the previous fiscal year. Sonoma's total is 231,900, including a 9,700 increase last year.

Massive Tax Rebate Measure Is Signed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians will pay lower taxes on everything from beer to bikinis and enjoy a generous income tax break under what Gov. Ronald Reagan calls "the largest state tax rebate in the nation's history."

Reagan yesterday signed a bill providing $721 million in onetime tax cuts and denounced "would-be big spenders" in the Legislature who delayed the measure's enactment.

"The people have come out the victors in this long struggle," Reagan proclaimed during a bill-signing ceremony in his office.

Beginning Oct. 1, the new law will lower the state's six cents sales tax (6 ½ cents in San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District counties) by one penny for a six-month period.

The tax unnecessarily went up from five cents July 1 while the state had an $826 million budget surplus—because of a deadlock between Reagan and Democratic lawmakers.

The bill also provides a reduction of 20 to 35 per cent for income taxpayers on this year's tax bill.

The total amount of the tax benefits average out to about $34 for every man, woman and child in the state.

Reagan aides said a typical family of four earning $15,000 a year would receive a $60 income tax cut. The same family earning $25,000 would save $137. Couples earning below $8,000 would pay no income tax.

The bill (SB90) by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, overwhelmingly passed the Legislature last week following months of squabbling over how to return the huge surplus to the people.

"This legislation provides the people of California with the largest state tax rebate in the nation's history," Reagan told newsmen.

It was the second tax rebate bill Reagan has signed since he became governor. The first came during the 1970 election year and granted a 10 per cent cut in income taxes costing $87 million.

Reagan used the bill-signing occasion to tout his tax ceiling initiative which will be on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Pointing to the temporary nature of the latest tax break, Reagan declared voters "can finish the job already started by voting to limit and reduce their tax burden permanently."

Reagan told newsmen he did not believe the sales tax cut would adversely affect the state financially if his initiative passes.

Judge Lifts Price Controls On Gasoline

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A federal judge today suspended Phase IV price controls, scheduled to go into effect for most of the nation's retail gasoline dealers.

Government attorneys said they would immediately ask an appeals court to delay the order.

Under Phase IV controls, the retail price of gasoline would have remained frozen at Phase III levels.

Attorneys for the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers said the order in effect lifts price controls starting next month for the nation's 165,000 brand name service station dealers.

Jerry S. Cohen, an attorney for the gas station owners said, however, that the dealers, who constitute 75 per cent of the nation's service station owners, are not expected to raise prices significantly because of compe "What it does to prices is very little" because traditionally most dealers have simply passed on wholesale price increases, Cohen said. He noted that thus far only a few wholesalers have increased prices and those increases were about a penny a gallon.

U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker ruled that the Phase IV controls on gasoline station dealers were "abitrary and capricious" because the stations constituted the only small business still bound by price controls and the dealers were the only retailers under Phase IV oil regulations who may not pass on wholesale price increases.

Parker said that substantial numbers of service station owners would "go out of business or otherwise sustain substantial and severe economic injury" if the Phase IV ceiling was held on. He said the service station owners "have been singled out from all other classes and in particular all petroleum firms, in that they must absorb all product cost increases after Aug. 1, 1973."

The ruling came on a class action suit filed by the Petroleum Dealers Congress and named two service station operators in Waycross, Ga., and Fraser, Mich., as plaintiffs.

Parker said he was granting the dealers' request for a preliminary injunction against implementation of the Phase IV oil regulations which apply to brand name service station owners.

The Cost of Living Council issued the oil regulations on Aug. 17.

The class action suit was brought on behalf of brand name dealers. The independent dealers who obtain their gasoline supply from various sources are not affected by Parker's decision.

Madera Del Presidio Plan Is Cut

A new, reduced, master plan for the controversial Madera del Presidio project in Corte Madera is now being proposed by the developers, according to Mayor Holmes S. Norville.

The project, originally slated to include 528 townhouses on 90 acres south of the Koch luggage plant, has been modified to 365 units, some of them single-family houses, according to Norville.

The new application, filed by Cal-West Communities Inc., lists a firm called "Meadowsweet Joint Venture Co." as the developers.

It still shows 128 townhouse units in the first phase of the project, which was approved by

Judge Lifts Price Controls On Gasoline

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A federal judge today suspended Phase IV price controls, scheduled to go into effect for most of the nation's retail gasoline dealers.

Government attorneys said they would immediately ask an appeals court to delay the order.

Under Phase IV controls, the retail price of gasoline would have remained frozen at Phase III levels.

Attorneys for the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers said the order in effect lifts price controls starting next month for the nation's 165,000 brand name service station dealers.

Jerry S. The Cost of Living Council issued the oil regulations on Aug. 17.

FBI Burglaries Started In '30s

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The FBI has been carrying out burglaries since the 1930's, as President Nixon contends, according to a report by the Los Angeles Times today.

The newspaper said, however, quoting three former FBI officials, that the agents involved did not have authorization for the burglaries from high levels of previous administrations, as Nixon said.

Burglaries by government agents in the past were on the FBI's own initiative and were always limited operations against foreign intelligence targets and alleged domestic subversives, the former FBI men said.

"I have never heard of anything like burglarizing a doctor's office or of committing a burglary to get information about someone who had a criminal trial pending," the Times quoted one of its sources as saying. The source was identified as "a former FBI official of 25 years experience."

The Times identified one of its informants as William W. Turner of San Francisco, but it said the other two did not want their identities revealed.

The newspaper identified two men it said were FBI "black bag (burglary)" experts, according to others within the FBI.

Agent George Burley of Washington, D.C., is the FBI's "No. 1 burglar," according to Turner, and another is Chris Scaturo, "a veteran New York FBI agent nearing retirement ... a top technician who has received several merit awards" from the FBI for his burglary prowess.

The newspaper said another of its informants said that "Turner ought to know what he's talking about—he's an old black bag man."

Turner confirmed, the Times said, that during his years in the FBI, between 1951 and 1961, "burglary was a common investigative technique. I went on a number of these kind of operations."

Scaturo refused to comment on the matter, and Burley could not be reached, th Times said.

The term "black bag job" comes from the bag in which agents carry burglar's tools, the Times said.

The bag jobs began in the 1930's and were discontinued in 1966 "following an investigation by a Senate committee, but the practice was resumed during the Nixon administration," the Times said.

Burglaries were carried out at embassies and consulates, especially those of Communist nations, the Soviet trade mission in New York, the Japanese consulate in Seattle in the 1950's, civil rights organizations and militant leftist groups in the 1960's and the U.S. Communist party.

The Communist party headquarters was broken into "constantly," one former FBI man said.

The FBI was very cautious with the burglaries, the former agent said, and its burglars never carried any identification linking them with the bureau and usually were provided with a way "to deny they had ever done it."

Material obtained by breakins was attributed to "confidential and trusted informants" and burglaries were kept strictly separated from trial prosecutions. Agents likely to be called as witnesses in court were never told about bag jobs, the sources said.

The sources said the burglaries were not "quite well known," as Nixon said in his news conference Wednesday, but were a closely guarded secret within the FBI.

A Turkey Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Turkey production in the United States this year is expected to total 132 million birds, up 2 per cent from 1972, the Agriculture Department said today.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Support Pledged

VIENTIANE (UPI) — A group of 29 Laotian generals pledged firm support for the neutralist government after it crushed a right-wing coup attempt, but urged the cabinet not to sign the present form of a peace pact with the Communist-led Pathet Lao, well-informed sources said today.

Government sources reported yesterday that Prince Souvanna Phouma, the prime minister, had given the Pathet Lao a deadline of tomorrow for signing the agreement, which is aimed at ending more than 10 years of war in this tiny mountain kingdom.

The staff generals made their feelings known to the cabinet at a meeting.

Breakthrough

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Government troops today broke through to two positions surrounded for 10 days by rebel troops just south of Phnom Penh but the insurgents stepped up attacks against an outpost north of the capital.

Field reports also said rebel gunners fired five rockets into the surrounded town of Kompong Cham.

Newsmen reported that government soldiers backed by armored personnel carriers and a Cambodian Air Force propeller-driven T28 fighter-bomber linked up with 572 troops encircled for the past 10 days at Sethbo, 10 miles south of Phnom Penh.

Irish Battle

BELFAST (UPI) — Police battled a stone-throwing crowd early today at the scene of a bomb blast that demolished a pub and an adjacent house in a Roman Catholic section of the town of Portadown.

A police spokesman said at least four persons were injured last night when the bomb exploded in front of Hagan's Bar just as the evening's last drinks were being served.

Police said the bar and a house next door were demolished by the blast in the predominately Protestant town, 25 miles south of Belfast.

Combat Deaths

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese government, in the first such report since the Jan. 28 cease-fire, today listed its 24-hour battle deaths as double the total inflicted on the Communists.

Military command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien reported 38 South Vietnamese combat deaths and said most apparently resulted from shellings.

French Test

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — The government said today French Defense Minister Robert Galley will visit Papeete next week, bolstering reports France will soon set off the fourth blast in its controversial 1973 nuclear test program.

All three atmospheric explosions reported over Mururoa Atoll, 720 miles southeast of Papeete, have occurred on weekends this year.

General Resigns

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — The commander of Chile's troubled army resigned from the cabinet last night amid warnings by leftist labor leaders of alleged plots to overthrow the Marxist government of President Salvador Allende.

Gen. Carlos Prats — named to the cabinet Aug. 9 in what Allende described as a "last ditch" attempt to avoid civil war — quit as both army commander and defense minister.

A few hours earlier, the Marxist-led Central Labor Federation ordered its 800,000 members to fortify factories against anti-government conspirators.

Texas Deaths

HOUSTON (UPI) — A grand jury returned three more murder indictments yesterday against two teen-agers accused of taking part in the nation's worst mass murder of the 20th century. A county official said the jury has not completed its investigation into the deaths of 27 boys.

The indictments were returned against Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and David Owen Brooks, 18, who are charged with assisting Dean Arnold Corll, 33, in the sex-torture slayings of 27 boys. Henley said he shot and killed Corll, ending the three-year string of murders.

Satellite Launch

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — It probably will take two weeks to determine if the launch of an Intelsat IV satellite yesterday was successful, but officials said today it appeared that establishing a stationary orbit should be no problem.

The communications satellite is a backup unit for the orbiting conduits of television, telephone, and radio signals which the communications industry reports already has drastically reduced the costs of communication between the continents.

It was hoped that a successful orbit would mean that failures of two other Intelsats would not cause any major disruption in satellite transmission.

Rock Festival

BENTON, Tenn. (UPI) — Promoters of a mammoth rock festival said yesterday they had abandoned plans for the event because of a court injunction, but pledged to sponsor a free two-day concert to protest the court order.

A spokesman for C. C. Manifest Inc., promoters of the now defunct "Midwest Monster Peace Jubilee and Music Festival," said the protest concert would be held at "Freedom Valley, Tennessee" and it would draw "droves" of rock fans.

Water Warning

TOKYO (UPI) — Tokyo's government warned its 11.5 million people today that water supplies are shrinking rapidly and tighter rationing of water to their homes will soon be essential.

A spokesman for the Tokyo Water Office said dams on the Tone River, where the city gets most of its water, will be empty in 17 days at the current rate of use.

Dollar Slips

LONDON (UPI) — The dollar slipped from its recent gains on European money markets today. The price of gold inched ahead.

"It's the usual Friday lull before a long weekend," said a Frankfurt representative of an American bank. "Trading is very quiet."

Singer Is Upset By Namesake

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (UPI) — A singer of popular Brazilian music went to the police seeking to file criminal charges against a local transport boss who named his donkey after him.

Guido Agostinho dos Reis said he named one of his donkeys Toni Damito "after I heard him sing over the radio."

Damito said the incident has caused him to become the object of ridicule of the community. He said one anonymous admirer send him five pounds of hay.

Leak Source In Maryland Corruption Probe Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson has ordered a "systematic inquiry" into news leaks about the Maryland corruption probe involving Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. Justice Department sources said the leaks may be coming from the White House.

Richardson made public a letter he sent yesterday to Agnew, which told the vice president Richardson had ordered one of his assistants, Glen E. Pommerening, to make a thorough investigation of the leaks. The attorney general also said he had asked the FBI to furnish personnel "as needed" for the probe.

The attorney general said he had directed Pommerening to "undertake a systematic inquiry using any and all departmental sources as he sees fit."

Sources in the Justice Department said perhaps the leaks were coming from the White House or perhaps from law enforcement officials. The sources said only about a half dozen people in the Justice Department knew about the status of the Agnew investigation and that a poll of these persons failed to uncover a source.

President Nixon's aides at San Clemente, Calif., denied the leaks were coming from the White House. "Reports that the White House might be involved are totally false," a spokesman said.

Inquiry is ordered

Agnew has expressed anger over the leaks. He called a news conference early in the week after Time magazine reported, quoting Justice Department sources, that Agnew appeared certain to be indicted as a result of the investigation into an alleged Maryland kickback scheme. Nixon also deplored the leaks at his Wednesday news conference in San Clemente.

Richardson promised Agnew that should any of the leaks be traced to Justice Department personnel "departmental regulations providing administrative sanction including dismissal will apply." He added, however, that there may be "no fully effective means of stopping the cynical rumors" because "a considerable number of people in and out of government are aware of some details of the investigation."

Earlier yesterday, a federal grand jury in Baltimore indicted N. Dale Anderson, 56, the Democratic Baltimore County chief executive, on charges of extorting $46,420 from contractors since he succeeded Agnew in the position in 1966.

Former County Administrator William E. Fornoff, who served under both Anderson and Agnew, was said to have obtained the money "as agent" for Anderson.

Boater Survives Nine-Hour Float

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A 23-year-old man today survived nine hours of floating in San Francisco Bay after the capsizing of 16-foot outboard motor boat.

The Coast Guard searched for two others in boat which was carrying night crewmen of Smith-Rice Co., a dredging firm, off Oyster Point. The boat capsized at 10:30 p.m.

John Engler, an engineer, was pulled from the water at 7:25 a.m. and taken to Peninsula Hospital where his condition was described as satisfactory. The Coast Guard said he had hung on to a floating object.

FBI Burglaries Started In '30s

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The FBI has been carrying out burglaries since the 1930's, as President Nixon contends, according to a report by the Los Angeles Times today.

Final Arguments Delayed In Brent Bedayan's Trial

Final arguments in the murder trial of Brent William Bedayan of Mill Valley have been delayed to today, while the judge toiled to prepare instructions to the jury on complex sanity issues raised in the case.

Summation arguments were to have been presented yesterday afternoon by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, and Deputy Public Defender Frank J. Cox, Bedayan's lawyer.

But Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick said neither attorney could sum up his case until the judge's written instructions to the jury had been reviewed by both sides.

Judge Broderick told the jury he was still wrestling with the legal questions of sanity. "The exact state of the law is clouded," he said. "I don't want to just flow a bunch of words over you."

Throughout the trial, the defense has admitted Bedayan murdered three members of the Melvin J. Schallock family in March, but contends the Mill Valley man was insane at the time. Bales has tried to show that Bedayan was legally sane and understood the consequences of his acts.

The judge was reportedly having trouble interpreting for jurors appelate court rulings on a defendant's "diminished capacity" to understand the consequences of his actions.

Broderick ordered jurors to return at 10 a.m. today to hear closing arguments and instructions, then begin deliberations.

Judge Throws Out Air Force Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A regulation requiring Air Force personnel to obtain permission from their commanders before they collect signatures on petitions has been declared unconstitutional by a federal judge.

U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker ruled yesterday the regulation was a "vague and standardless restraint upon the exercise of First Amendment rights."

Woman Fights For Her Job

WQODLAND (UPI) — A widow fired from her cafeteria job for allegedly spreading mayonnaise wrongly and sauerkraut too slowly has filed suit to force the University of California to rehire her.

Mrs. Doris Judd, 59, a UC Davis food services employe for nearly eight years, charged in her Superior Court suit that she was "the victim of contrived charges."

Her attorney, Loren McMaster of the California State Employes' Association, filed the suit Thursday after losing an appeal of her dismissal to UC President Charles J. Hitch.

Ervin Says Watergate Tale Untold

SHELBY, N.C. (UPI) — Senate Watergate committee chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said yesterday President Nixon has failed to provide the nation with an adequate answer to questions raised by Watergate.

"The President's statements so far have consisted of rhetoric and denials," Ervin told a news conference. "They have not been helpful to the investigation."

Rejecting Nixon's call for an end to the hearings, the senior North Carolina senator said he could think of "no more important business "than searching for the truth behind the break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters.

"We have received evidence indicating men entrusted with political power undertook to destroy the process by which the President of the United States is elected," Ervin said.

"Watergate is one of the most important aspects of the business of the people," he said in an apparent reference to Nixon's call to get on with the "people's business" and ignore the incident.

"I cannot think of anything more important."

In a news conference here Ervin said he does not believe Congress will attempt to change Nixon's mind on the issue of turning over tapes of Watergate conversations by adopting delaying tactics or refusing to confirm presidential appointees. He will vote for Henry A. Kissinger as the new secretary of state, he added.

Ervin also rejected a Nixon assertion that the work of Watergate was bogging down the wheels of Congress. Only a few senators, he said, were involved with the committee and even these had continued with their Senate work.

Nixon's contention that his ability to govern, or that of his successors, would be hampered by releasing evidence to a congressional probe, said Ervin, was "absurd."

Testimony before the committee, he added, indicated legislation "to make it unlawful to make substantial campaign contributions in cash" is needed. Contributions should be made by check or some other method which could later be documented.

Aide Says Nixon In Good Shape

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Presidential Counselor Anne Armstrong said yesterday President Nixon is "in command of himself" and is not "sick or nervous."

Mrs. Armstrong, here to turn over surplus federal property to the state, said she had just left the President at the Western White House in San Clemente.

"He is fit," she said.

"There have been a lot of stories to the contrary—that he is haggard, nervous, irritable and his health has not been the best."

Final Arguments Delayed In Brent Bedayan's Trial

Final arguments in the murder trial of Brent William Bedayan of Mill Valley have been delayed to today, while the judge toiled to prepare instructions to the jury on complex sanity issues raised in the case.

Summation arguments were to have been presented yesterday afternoon by Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales, and Deputy Public Defender Frank J. Cox, Bedayan's lawyer.

But Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick said neither attorney could sum up his case until the judge's written instructions to the jury had been reviewed by both sides.

Judge Broderick told the jury he was still wrestling with the legal questions of sanity. "The exact state of the law is clouded," he said. "I don't want to just flow a bunch of words over you."

Throughout the trial, the defense has admitted Bedayan murdered three members of the Melvin J. Schallock family in March, but contends the Mill Valley man was insane at the time. Bales has tried to show that Bedayan was legally sane and understood the consequences of his acts.

The judge was reportedly having trouble interpreting for jurors appelate court rulings on a defendant's "diminished capacity" to understand the consequences of his actions.

Broderick ordered jurors to return at 10 a.m. today to hear closing arguments and instructions, then begin deliberations.

Judge Throws Out Air Force Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A regulation requiring Air Force personnel to obtain permission from their commanders before they collect signatures on petitions has been declared unconstitutional by a federal judge.

U.S. District Judge Barrington D. Parker ruled yesterday the regulation was a "vague and standardless restraint upon the exercise of First Amendment rights."

Woman Fights For Her Job

WQODLAND (UPI) — A widow fired from her cafeteria job for allegedly spreading mayonnaise wrongly and sauerkraut too slowly has filed suit to force the University of California to rehire her.

Mrs. Doris Judd, 59, a UC Davis food services employe for nearly eight years, charged in her Superior Court suit that she was "the victim of contrived charges."

Her attorney, Loren McMaster of the California State Employes' Association, filed the suit Thursday after losing an appeal of her dismissal to UC President Charles J. Hitch.

Ervin Says Watergate Tale Untold

SHELBY, N.C. (UPI) — Senate Watergate committee chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said yesterday President Nixon has failed to provide the nation with an adequate answer to questions raised by Watergate.

"The President's statements so far have consisted of rhetoric and denials," Ervin told a news conference. "They have not been helpful to the investigation."

Rejecting Nixon's call for an end to the hearings, the senior North Carolina senator said he could think of "no more important business "than searching for the truth behind the break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters.

"We have received evidence indicating men entrusted with political power undertook to destroy the process by which the President of the United States is elected," Ervin said.

"Watergate is one of the most important aspects of the business of the people," he said in an apparent reference to Nixon's call to get on with the "people's business" and ignore the incident.

"I cannot think of anything more important."

In a news conference here Ervin said he does not believe Congress will attempt to change Nixon's mind on the issue of turning over tapes of Watergate conversations by adopting delaying tactics or refusing to confirm presidential appointees. He will vote for Henry A. Kissinger as the new secretary of state, he added.

Ervin also rejected a Nixon assertion that the work of Watergate was bogging down the wheels of Congress. Only a few senators, he said, were involved with the committee and even these had continued with their Senate work.

Nixon's contention that his ability to govern, or that of his successors, would be hampered by releasing evidence to a congressional probe, said Ervin, was "absurd."

Testimony before the committee, he added, indicated legislation "to make it unlawful to make substantial campaign contributions in cash" is needed. Contributions should be made by check or some other method which could later be documented.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, Aug. 24, the 236th day of 1973 with 129 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Roman Catholic Cardinal Richard Cushing was born Aug. 24, 1895.

On this day in history:

In 74 A.D., thousands were killed and the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum buried by the eruption of volcanic Mount Vesuvious in Italy.

In 1814, the British captured Washington D.C., burning the Capitol Building and the Executive Mansion.

In 1932, Amelia Earhart became the first woman to make a transcontinental nonstop flight.

In 1968, France detonated its first hydrogen bomb in the South Pacific.

A thought for the day: British poet Robert Southwell said, "When Fortune smiles, I smile to think how quickly she will frown."

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Report On Satellite Station Is Accepted

Marin County officials yesterday accepted an environmental impact report for a proposed satellite tracking station on the Soula Joule ranch south of the Marshall-Petaluma road in West Marin.

The report, which can be appealed to the planning commission within 10 days, was accepted as adequate by environmental hearing officer Pierre W. Joske when no protests materialized.

The tracking station is one of five planned for the continental United States by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. to establish a domestic satellite communications system.

The Marin station, called the Three Peaks Earth Station, will consist of two dish-shaped antennas, 95 feet in diameter and 115 feet high, one transmitting tower about 235 feet high and a one-story building.

It will be located on a five-acre site surrounded by a seven-foot chain link fence and will have a work force of 14 persons. It will be manned around the clock.

The AT&T property totals about 260 acres, of which 255 acres will remain in a "natural state," according to the environmental report.

The report, prepared by the county planning department, said main adverse impact from the project will be visual blight to surrounding lands which are zoned for 40-acre and 60-acre lots. It suggests future development be located in such a way as to avoid view of the tracking station.

The report also said the new station will generate about $125,000 in tax revenues the first year but will decline as equipment depreciates.

Hub Blaze Comes Close To Houses

A fire fanned by a 20-mile-per-hour north wind yesterday burned through six acres of heavily wooded hillside between South Oak and Oak avenues in San Anselmo.

Three homes sustained minor damage and flames spouted 50 feet in the air in what San Anselmo Fire Chief Richard McLaren said was more like a forest fire than a grass fire.

"It had four homes surrounded almost right from the beginning," according to McClaren, and the fight to stave off damage to houses allowed the fire to get out of control elsewhere, he said.

The fire started at 1:40 p.m. at two points on either side of the home of Thomas Cagwin at 47 South Oak Avenue, which chief McLaren said "points to" the fire being a set.

It was contained by 3 p.m. by 10 units and about 25 men from the San Anselmo, Ross, Fairfax, and county fire departments. Mopping up operations were still going on today.

Damage was limited to blistered paint at the home at 501 Oak Avenue, minor burns on the porch at 30 South Oak Avenue, and a six-inch hole in the roof at 47 South Oak.

PLAN

the town planning commission last week. This first unit, located on the flat area immediately south of the Koch property and east of Highway 101, is now awaiting town council approval.

(The council decided earlier this week that the project is exempt from the town's building moratorium.)

Other areas in the plan have been modified to provide cluster groups of single-family residences rather than townhouses, Norville said.

An area which earlier was planned for 79 apartment units along the creek adjacent to Marin Estates now shows only 13 single-family homes.

A bowl-shaped hill slope, the most visible area from outside the development, will have a combination of duplex and detached single-family buildings, he said.

Cluster housing will be used to provide maximum open space, according to Norville.

Open space areas would be similar to those proposed in the original plans, but some street realignment would be necessary to provide access to detached homes, Norville said.

He also said that the developer said the price range of the units would be somewhat higher than originally proposed, ranging from $30,000 to $70,000, depending on size and location.

The original Madera del Presidio plans were approved by the council but were halted by a citizens' suit last January. The developers then resubmitted plans for the first phase and subsequently, this latest modification.

New Claims In Rabies Case Filed

Two Marin veterinarians who may have been exposed to rabies at the Ghilotti ranch in Nicasio yesterday filed $500,000 claims against the county, the sixth and seventh persons to do so.

The actions by John E. Zimmerman of Point Reyes Station and Donald E. Hansen of Inverness bring to $4 million the amount demanded of the county in connection with the rabies affair.

The claims — which commonly lead to lawsuits — arise from the alleged failure of the Marin Public Health Department to detect rabies in a prized Arabian stallion from the Mar-Ghi Ranch in May.

Because the disease went undetected, say Zimmerman and Hansen, they did not begin the series of anti-rabies shots until six weeks after they should have.

The veterinarians are asking $500,000 for distress, loss of income, damage to professional reputation and possible death.

The men, along with others exposed to the rabies on the ranch of Mario and Eva Ghilotti, began receiving treatment but the possibility remains the disease will reach their nervous systems before the inoculation becomes effective.

Other claims pending against the county, all for $1 million, were filed by the Ghilottis, Madeline and Norman Kreuter and a ranch hand, Mark Greving.

The claims will be considered Tuesday by the Marin Board of Supervisors, which is expected to reject them, setting the stage for lawsuits.

Man Withdraws A Guilty Plea

I-J Special Report

A Petaluma man who withdrew his guilty plea to charges of armed robbery and assault will go to trial Sept. 18 in Sonoma County Superior Court.

Judge John Moskowitz set the trial date for Harold Allen Hollen, 25, after Hollen changed his plea Tuesday. He had previously agreed to the guilty plea in exchange for a promise of no more than one year in jail. Hollen said he was no longer agreeable to the arrangement.

Hollen was arrested May 16 after he reportedly struck grocery store owner M. Robert Starnes on the head with a soda bottle during a robbery attempt at Starnes' Store, 500 Petaluma Boulevard South.

Accident Victim Is Doing Well

A Fairfax woman was reported in good condition today at Ross General Hospital with bruises and possible internal injuries received in an auto crash yesterday on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Mary Jean Marshall, 37, of 420 Scenic Road, was westbound on the bridge at 10:15 p.m. when her car was struck from behind by an auto driven by Morris E. Coleman, 32, of 122 Park Street, San Rafael, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Coleman's car then hit guard rails on both sides of the span. Witnesses said Coleman was driving very fast, the patrol reported.

centration of American air power outside the United States. The kingdom's military government guards a border of 1,000 miles with Cambodia and Laos, separated from China by only a narrow strip of Burma.

Military sources said the first withdrawals likely would be from Takhli, an Air Force F4 Phantom base about 100 miles north of Bangkok, and Nam Phong, a U.S. Marine Phantom and A4 Skyhawk camp 40 miles northeast of the capital.

Other units which could be withdrawn are stationed at 7th Air Force headquarters at Nakhon Phanom, known to airmen as "NKP" and situated near the Mekong River border with Laos about 375 miles northeast of Bangkok.

America's Southeast Asia fleet of 40 to 50 B52's is located at U Tapao, 75 miles southeast of Bangkok on the Gulf of Thailand. Most of the B52 crews at U Tapao are on temporary duty (TDY) from Strategic Air Command (SAC) bases in the United States.

Other U.S. bases in Thailand include:

Ubon, about 300 miles northeast of Bangkok where F4 Phantoms are stationed along with fixed-wing gunships and reconnaissance planes.

Korat, 150 miles northeast of Bangkok and the installation from which some of the final F4 Phantom missions over Cambodia were carried out Aug. 15.

Udorn, 290 miles northeast of Bangkok and only 40 miles from the Laotian capital of Vientiane. Phantom fighter-bombers and RF4 Phantom photo-reconnaissance planes are stationed there.

Thailand's Prime Minister, Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, conceded earlier this week an American troop withdrawal would have "a great deal of impact" on the kingdom's economy.

Thanom said the Americans "have spent a lot of money here," but added "not all" of the U.S. servicemen would

Plans Approved For Boys Club

The Novato Plan Review Committee has approved plans for construction of the Novato Boys Club building on the east side of Wilson Avenue, opposite Sinaloa Junior High School.

Groundbreaking for the club, to be constructed after a long drive for building funds, is scheduled for Sept. 16.

The committee on Wednesday also approved site, landscape and architectural plans by Hubbard and Johnson Lumber Co. for a 12,000 square foot retail lumber and handyman's store between Ford Way and Highway 101, just south of United Rent-All.

Pickets Protest 'Throat' Showing

Four hymn-singing men picketed the State Theater in Petaluma last night in protest over X-rated movies.

Police said the men marched in an orderly picket line for nearly two hours and warned prospective patrons not to see the movie "Deep Throat." Officers warned the men not to disturb patrons and permitted the quieter demonstration.

A jury trial on obscenity charges against theatre owner Alan W. Finley is scheduled to begin Sept. 12 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

OBITUARIES

Edwin Jay Lukas Dies At Age 71

A memorial service will be held next month in New York for Edwin Jay Lukas of Tiburon, attorney and civil rights leader, who died Wednesday in a local convalescent hospital after an illness of two months.

Lucas, 71, who lived most of his life in the East, moved to Marin County in 1968.

He was born in Jersey City, N.J., was a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and received his law degree in 1923 from the Brooklyn Law School of St. Lawrence University.

He practiced criminal law for years and lectured on criminology and social legislation at City College of New York, New York University and Columbia University.

For 18 years, from 1950 to 1968, Lukas was general counsel and director of the civil rights and social action department of the American Jewish Committee in New York.

One of Lukas's sons, J. Anthony Lukas, a Pulitzer prize-winning New York Times reporter, said of his father: "He developed the concept that you couldn't defend Jewish rights without defending everyone's rights."

After moving to the Bay Area, Lukas taught a class at San Francisco State University and lectured at Golden Gate College. He also continued his interest in civil rights, writing briefs in connection with various cases but did not actively practice law in California.

His home was at 30 Harbor Oak Drive.

In addition to his son, Anthony, Lukas is survived by another son, Christopher William, a television producer and photographer who lives in London; a sister, Julia Brown of New York, and two grandchildren.

Lukas' first wife, Elizabeth, who was the mother of his children, died in 1941. His second marriage in 1946 ended in divorce a few months later. In 1957 he married actress Betty Field, from whom he was divorced 10 years later.

There will be no service in Marin and cremation will be private.

The family prefers contributions to the Legal Defense Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

AGNES L. TERRIBILINI

Agnes L. Terribilini, 65, of Petaluma, died today at a local hospital after collapsing at her home.

She was a member of the Petaluma Eagles Lodge Auxiliary, American War Mothers and Grandmothers Club of Petaluma.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Terribilini is survived by a son, John Terribilini of Petaluma; two daughters, Frances Beretta of Petaluma and Barbara Martin of Sebastopol; two brothers, Mike Cerini of Marshall and Edward Cerini of Laytonville; a sister, Mae Giubbini of Petaluma and six grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be offered Monday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Vincet De Paul Church, Petaluma. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Sorensen Funeral Home. Burial will be at Tomales Catholic Cemetery.

SCOTT PARKS

A two-year-old Novato boy died unexpectedly at his home yesterday.

The Marin County Coroner's office said Scott A. Parks had been running a high fever Wednesday and was seen by a doctor who prescribed medication.

He was found dead in his crib about 5:30 a.m. yesterday by his mother, Carol Parks. An autopsy is planned.

A native of California, he had lived in Novato for one year, residing at 120 Trish Drive.

In addition to his mother, the child is survived by his father, William Parks; a brother, Sean, of Novato; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Parks of Calistoga, Glen E. Loewen of San Rafael and Mrs. Donald Warnock and his great-grandmother, Ann Loewen.

MRS. WHITNAH

BERKELEY (AP) — Lifelong activist Beatrice Whitnah has died here at the age of 92 after a brief illness.

She was born in Elko County, Nev., in 1881 and moved with her family to the San Francisco Bay area five years later. She spent the rest of her life here.

A Univeristy of California graduate, she was the first probation officer for women in Alameda County.

Mrs. Whitnah, who died last Sunday, married San Francisco newspaperman Joseph C. Whitnah when she was 36.

In the 1960s she offered to pay $5 a sign to anyone who joined her crusade to remove fallout shelter signs.

She planted such signs and peace placards in her front garden, hoping the police would arrest her. But they always looked the other way.

"I am horrified to realize that unless the peoples of the world organize to stop their governments' preparations for the massive slaughter of a nuclear war, the life expectancy of my three grandchildren is little different from my own," she said.

At the age of 90, she applied for a license to beg in the streets of Berkeley to help defray the legal expenses for convict Ruchell Magee, but she apparently never got an answer to the petition.

She is survived by two sons and the three grandchildren.

No funeral plans were announced.

GLADYS RUOFF

Gladys M. Ruoff of Vallejo, former longtime San Rafael resident, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 70.

Mrs. Ruoff was a ntaive of Jackson, Amador County, and moved to San Rafael as a child. Her late husband, Alan H. Ruoff Sr., owned a sawmill in Lagunitas and was a lumber broker for many years.

She lived in San Rafael for about 55 years before moving to Vallejo 12 years ago.

She was a member of the San Rafael Chapter No. 215 of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Ruoff is survived by a son, Alan H. Ruoff Jr. of Santa Venetia; two sisters, Mary Ann Otten of Vallejo and Grace Garibaldi of Richmond; a brother, Theodore Harris of Phoenix, Ariz.; two grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Private funeral will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

Today is Friday, Aug. 24, the 236th day of 1973 with 129 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Roman Catholic Cardinal Richard Cushing was born Aug. 24, 1895.

On this day in history:

In 74 A.D., thousands were killed and the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum buried by the eruption of volcanic Mount Vesuvious in Italy.

In 1814, the British captured Washington D.C., burning the Capitol Building and the Executive Mansion.

In 1932, Amelia Earhart became the first woman to make a transcontinental nonstop flight.

In 1968, France detonated its first hydrogen bomb in the South Pacific.

A thought for the day: British poet Robert Southwell said, "When Fortune smiles, I smile to think how quickly she will frown."

Smoke particles, clean air.

Other areas:

San Francisco, clean air.

San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Report On Satellite Station Is Accepted

Marin County officials yesterday accepted an environmental impact report for a proposed satellite tracking station on the Soula Joule ranch south of the Marshall-Petaluma road in West Marin.

The report, which can be appealed to the planning commission within 10 days, was accepted as adequate by environmental hearing officer Pierre W. Joske when no protests materialized.

The tracking station is one of five planned for the continental United States by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. to establish a domestic satellite communications system.

The Marin station, called the Three Peaks Earth Station, will consist of two dish-shaped antennas, 95 feet in diameter and 115 feet high, one transmitting tower about 235 feet high and a one-story building.

It will be located on a five-acre site surrounded by a seven-foot chain link fence and will have a work force of 14 persons. It will be manned around the clock.

The AT&T property totals about 260 acres, of which 255 acres will remain in a "natural state," according to the environmental report.

The report, prepared by the county planning department, said main adverse impact from the project will be visual blight to surrounding lands which are zoned for 40-acre and 60-acre lots. It suggests future development be located in such a way as to avoid view of the tracking station.

The report also said the new station will generate about $125,000 in tax revenues the first year but will decline as equipment depreciates.

Hub Blaze Comes Close To Houses

A fire fanned by a 20-mile-per-hour north wind yesterday burned through six acres of heavily wooded hillside between South Oak and Oak avenues in San Anselmo.

Three homes sustained minor damage and flames spouted 50 feet in the air in what San Anselmo Fire Chief Richard McLaren said was more like a forest fire than a grass fire.

"It had four homes surrounded almost right from the beginning," according to McClaren, and the fight to stave off damage to houses allowed the fire to get out of control elsewhere, he said.

The fire started at 1:40 p.m. at two points on either side of the home of Thomas Cagwin at 47 South Oak Avenue, which chief McLaren said "points to" the fire being a set.

It was contained by 3 p.m. by 10 units and about 25 men from the San Anselmo, Ross, Fairfax, and county fire departments. Mopping up operations were still going on today.

Damage was limited to blistered paint at the home at 501 Oak Avenue, minor burns on the porch at 30 South Oak Avenue, and a six-inch hole in the roof at 47 South Oak.

the town planning commission last week. This first unit, located on the flat area immediately south of the Koch property and east of Highway 101, is now awaiting town council approval.

(The council decided earlier this week that the project is exempt from the town's building moratorium.)

Other areas in the plan have been modified to provide cluster groups of single-family residences rather than townhouses, Norville said.

An area which earlier was planned for 79 apartment units along the creek adjacent to Marin Estates now shows only 13 single-family homes.

A bowl-shaped hill slope, the most visible area from outside the development, will have a combination of duplex and detached single-family buildings, he said.

Cluster housing will be used to provide maximum open space, according to Norville.

Open space areas would be similar to those proposed in the original plans, but some street realignment would be necessary to provide access to detached homes, Norville said.

He also said that the developer said the price range of the units would be somewhat higher than originally proposed, ranging from $30,000 to $70,000, depending on size and location.

The original Madera del Presidio plans were approved by the council but were halted by a citizens' suit last January. The developers then resubmitted plans for the first phase and subsequently, this latest modification.

New Claims In Rabies Case Filed

Two Marin veterinarians who may have been exposed to rabies at the Ghilotti ranch in Nicasio yesterday filed $500,000 claims against the county, the sixth and seventh persons to do so.

The actions by John E. Zimmerman of Point Reyes Station and Donald E. Hansen of Inverness bring to $4 million the amount demanded of the county in connection with the rabies affair.

The claims — which commonly lead to lawsuits — arise from the alleged failure of the Marin Public Health Department to detect rabies in a prized Arabian stallion from the Mar-Ghi Ranch in May.

Because the disease went undetected, say Zimmerman and Hansen, they did not begin the series of anti-rabies shots until six weeks after they should have.

The veterinarians are asking $500,000 for distress, loss of income, damage to professional reputation and possible death.

The men, along with others exposed to the rabies on the ranch of Mario and Eva Ghilotti, began receiving treatment but the possibility remains the disease will reach their nervous systems before the inoculation becomes effective.

Other claims pending against the county, all for $1 million, were filed by the Ghilottis, Madeline and Norman Kreuter and a ranch hand, Mark Grevving.

The claims will be considered Tuesday by the Marin Board of Supervisors, which is expected to reject them, setting the stage for lawsuits.

Man Withdraws A Guilty Plea

I-J Special Report

A Petaluma man who withdrew his guilty plea to charges of armed robbery and assault will go to trial Sept. 18 in Sonoma County Superior Court.

Judge John Moskowitz set the trial date for Harold Allen Hollen, 25, after Hollen changed his plea Tuesday. He had previously agreed to the guilty plea in exchange for a promise of no more than one year in jail. Hollen said he was no longer agreeable to the arrangement.

Hollen was arrested May 16 after he reportedly struck grocery store owner M. Robert Starnes on the head with a soda bottle during a robbery attempt at Starnes' Store, 500 Petaluma Boulevard South.

Accident Victim Is Doing Well

A Fairfax woman was reported in good condition today at Ross General Hospital with bruises and possible internal injuries received in an auto crash yesterday on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge.

Mary Jean Marshall, 37, of 420 Scenic Road, was westbound on the bridge at 10:15 p.m. when her car was struck from behind by an auto driven by Morris E. Coleman, 32, of 122 Park Street, San Rafael, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Coleman's car then hit guard rails on both sides of the span. Witnesses said Coleman was driving very fast, the patrol reported.

Military sources said the first withdrawals likely would be from Takhli, an Air Force F4 Phantom base about 100 miles north of Bangkok, and Nam Phong, a U.S. Marine Phantom and A4 Skyhawk camp 40 miles northeast of the capital.

Other units which could be withdrawn are stationed at 7th Air Force headquarters at Nakhon Phanom, known to airmen as "NKP" and situated near the Mekong River border with Laos about 375 miles northeast of Bangkok.

America's Southeast Asia fleet of 40 to 50 B52's is located at U Tapao, 75 miles southeast of Bangkok on the Gulf of Thailand. Most of the B52 crews at U Tapao are on temporary duty (TDY) from Strategic Air Command (SAC) bases in the United States.

Thanom said the Americans "have spent a lot of money here," but added "not all" of the U.S. servicemen would

Plans Approved For Boys Club

The Novato Plan Review Committee has approved plans for construction of the Novato Boys Club building on the east side of Wilson Avenue, opposite Sinaloa Junior High School.

Groundbreaking for the club, to be constructed after a long drive for building funds, is scheduled for Sept. 16.

The committee on Wednesday also approved site, landscape and architectural plans by Hubbard and Johnson Lumber Co. for a 12,000 square foot retail lumber and handyman's store between Ford Way and Highway 101, just south of United Rent-All.

Pickets Protest 'Throat' Showing

Four hymn-singing men picketed the State Theater in Petaluma last night in protest over X-rated movies.

Police said the men marched in an orderly picket line for nearly two hours and warned prospective patrons not to see the movie "Deep Throat." Officers warned the men not to disturb patrons and permitted the quieter demonstration.

A jury trial on obscenity charges against theatre owner Alan W. Finley is scheduled to begin Sept. 12 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

OBITUARIES

Edwin Jay Lukas Dies At Age 71

A memorial service will be held next month in New York for Edwin Jay Lukas of Tiburon, attorney and civil rights leader, who died Wednesday in a local convalescent hospital after an illness of two months.

Lucas, 71, who lived most of his life in the East, moved to Marin County in 1968.

He was born in Jersey City, N.J., was a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and received his law degree in 1923 from the Brooklyn Law School of St. Lawrence University.

He practiced criminal law for years and lectured on criminology and social legislation at City College of New York, New York University and Columbia University.

For 18 years, from 1950 to 1968, Lukas was general counsel and director of the civil rights and social action department of the American Jewish Committee in New York.

One of Lukas's sons, J. Anthony Lukas, a Pulitzer prize-winning New York Times reporter, said of his father: "He developed the concept that you couldn't defend Jewish rights without defending everyone's rights."

After moving to the Bay Area, Lukas taught a class at San Francisco State University and lectured at Golden Gate College. He also continued his interest in civil rights, writing briefs in connection with various cases but did not actively practice law in California.

His home was at 30 Harbor Oak Drive.

In addition to his son, Anthony, Lukas is survived by another son, Christopher William, a television producer and photographer who lives in London; a sister, Julia Brown of New York, and two grandchildren.

Lukas' first wife, Elizabeth, who was the mother of his children, died in 1941. His second marriage in 1946 ended in divorce a few months later. In 1957 he married actress Betty Field, from whom he was divorced 10 years later.

There will be no service in Marin and cremation will be private.

The family prefers contributions to the Legal Defense Fund of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

AGNES L. TERRIBILINI

Mrs. Terribilini was born in Planatation, Sonoma County, and was reared there and in Marshall. She and her husband, Elvezio (Ed) Terribilini, had operated ranches in Marin and Sonoma counties for many years. They resided at 2582 Chileno Valley Road.

She was a member of the Petaluma Eagles Lodge Auxiliary, American War Mothers and Grandmothers Club of Petaluma.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Terribilini is survived by a son, John Terribilini of Petaluma; two daughters, Frances Beretta of Petaluma and Barbara Martin of Sebastopol; two brothers, Mike Cerini of Marshall and Edward Cerini of Laytonville; a sister, Mae Giubbini of Petaluma and six grandchildren.

Requiem Mass will be offered Monday at 9:30 a.m. at St. Vincet De Paul Church, Petaluma. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Sorensen Funeral Home. Burial will be at Tomales Catholic Cemetery.

Whale Carvers

Eskimo whale hunters in Alaska carve so fast after they catch their prey that they can reduce an eight-ton whale to a spot in the snow in five to six hours, according to National Geographic.

SCOTT PARKS

A two-year-old Novato boy died unexpectedly at his home yesterday.

The Marin County Coroner's office said Scott A. Parks had been running a high fever Wednesday and was seen by a doctor who prescribed medication.

He was found dead in his crib about 5:30 a.m. yesterday by his mother, Carol Parks. An autopsy is planned.

A native of California, he had lived in Novato for one year, residing at 120 Trish Drive.

In addition to his mother, the child is survived by his father, William Parks; a brother, Sean, of Novato; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Parks of Calistoga, Glen E. Loewen of San Rafael and Mrs. Donald Warnock and his great-grandmother, Ann Loewen.

Inurnment will be private.

MRS. WHITNAH

BERKELEY (AP) — Lifelong activist Beatrice Whitnah has died here at the age of 92 after a brief illness.

She was born in Elko County, Nev., in 1881 and moved with her family to the San Francisco Bay area five years later. She spent the rest of her life here.

A Univeristy of California graduate, she was the first probation officer for women in Alameda County.

Mrs. Whitnah, who died last Sunday, married San Francisco newspaperman Joseph C. Whitnah when she was 36.

In the 1960s she offered to pay $5 a sign to anyone who joined her crusade to remove fallout shelter signs.

She planted such signs and peace placards in her front garden, hoping the police would arrest her. But they always looked the other way.

"I am horrified to realize that unless the peoples of the world organize to stop their governments' preparations for the massive slaughter of a nuclear war, the life expectancy of my three grandchildren is little different from my own," she said.

At the age of 90, she applied for a license to beg in the streets of Berkeley to help defray the legal expenses for convict Ruchell Magee, but she apparently never got an answer to the petition.

She is survived by two sons and the three grandchildren.

No funeral plans were announced.

GLADYS RUOFF

Gladys M. Ruoff of Vallejo, former longtime San Rafael resident, died yesterday in a local hospital after a long illness. She was 70.

Mrs. Ruoff was a ntaive of Jackson, Amador County, and moved to San Rafael as a child. Her late husband, Alan H. Ruoff Sr., owned a sawmill in Lagunitas and was a lumber broker for many years.

She lived in San Rafael for about 55 years before moving to Vallejo 12 years ago.

She was a member of the San Rafael Chapter No. 215 of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Ruoff is survived by a son, Alan H. Ruoff Jr. of Santa Venetia; two sisters, Mary Ann Otten of Vallejo and Grace Garibaldi of Richmond; a brother, Theodore Harris of Phoenix, Ariz.; two grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Private funeral will be Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

The family prefers memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society.

PAWN BROKER GIVES STAKE FOR STEAKS

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — A pawnshop here reported a man pawned three T-bone steaks.

Donald Vingino, co-owner of the Arizona Traders Pawn Shop, said yesterday he gave the man five dollars for the U.S.D.A. choice steaks and promised to hold them for 30 days in a freezer at the shop.

"We'll take most anything of value," said Vingino. He added: "If he doesn't come back I'll eat them."

State Gains 223,000 In Population

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's population reached 20.7 million by mid-1973, a 223,000 increase in the past year, the state's Population Research Unit reported yesterday.

Orange County had the largest increase of any county in the state, jumping from 1.54 million July 1, 1972 to 1.60 million July 1, 1973.

San Diego County recorded the second largest increase, from 1.44 million July 1, 1972 to 1.48 million this year.

Santa Clara County had the third largest, jumping from 1.13 million to 1.16 million.

The research unit, part of the state Department of Finance, also said the populations of Los Angeles and San Francisco declined slightly over the last year, "but by less than their respective declines of the preceding year."

The Los Angeles County population went from 7 million in 1972 to 6.9 million this year. San Francisco dropped from 689,500 in 1972 to 681,200 in 1973.

Speech Aids President's Popularity

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Nixon's popularity rose following his Watergate speech last week from the all-time low it had reached earlier this month, the Gallup Poll reports.

But the poll said Wednesday that a survey conducted Aug. 17-20 showed a majority of Americans, 54 per cent, still disapprove of his performance in office.

The survey also showed that the majority of the 1,452 adults questioned are dissatisfied with his Watergate explanation.

The poll said 38 per cent of the respondents approved of the President's performance in office, an increase of seven percentage points from an all-time low recorded in an Aug. 3-6 poll.

Nixon's highest approval rating occurred last January after the Vietnam peace settlement, when 68 per cent of the people questioned approved of his performance.

In the latest poll, 9 per cent said they believed Nixon planned the Watergate bugging from the beginning; 24 per cent said he did not plan the scheme but knew about it beforehand; 40 per cent believed he had no previous knowledge although he tried to cover it up; and 23 per cent said he had no prior knowledge and spoke up as soon as he learned about it. Four per cent had no opinion.

The Gallup Poll said that despite the fact that most of the respondents did not believe the President, 70 per cent said they were opposed to impeachment proceedings, while 23 per cent favored impeachment. Seven per cent had no opinion.

EARLY LIBRARY — Children settled in chairs for a stretch of reading when Novato's first branch library was established in the upstairs room of the Novato Community House on Aug. 21, 1927. posters of bygone years," Mrs. White said.

Her husband then got an option from J. P. McNear of Petaluma, the owner, to use the building for community meetings, she said.

During the cleanup "curious small boys were told, 'we're going to have a community hall, son, want to help?' " she said.

The first community house, the building near the present DeBorba's restaurant was opened in 1919 "with donated furnishings, and magazines" so people would have a place to meet, Mrs. White said.

Within a few years, the old building was called that "awful place" and a drive was under way to build a new community house with the aid of the National Presbyterian Church.

As the campaign for subscribeers proceeded, the local newspaper commented that residents of other larger communities, who unsuccessfully had tried to get community centers, were asking "What are those farmers up in the sticks trying to do?"

The building designed by architect Walter H. Parker was constructed at Machin and DeLong avenues at a cost of about $25,000.

When the Novato branch of the Marin County Library opened Aug. 21, 1927, it was housed in the community house.

Then came the depression of the 1930s and it was a struggle to keep the books out of the red and the community house started to fall into disrepair.

It was purchased by a local nonprofit group from the Presbyterian Church in 1947, and the Novato Improvement Club was formed to raise funds for upkeep of the building.

When Novato was incorporated in 1960, the city took over the building and in recent years, it has served as a civic meeting hall for the city council and city commissions.

Under the leadership of Bea Carpenter, the community house has been redecorated in the past several years.

Mrs. Coady requested that anyone who has any items connected with the history of the community house and willing to loan them for exhibit, notify her at 747 Bradley Avenue.

Excess State Land Leased For Park

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Highway Commission yesterday approved the leasing of excess state-owned land near Route 23 in Thousand Oaks for park development by the Conejo Recreation and Park District.

The 138,000-square-foot parcel is located west of the freeway and south of Avenida de los Arboles. The 50-year lease calls for a $100 per year rental fee.

Grasshopper Swarm Spoils Experiment

BIG BAR (UPI) —Swarms of grasshoppers invaded and destroyed an 85-acre experimental Ponderosa pine plantation near the top of Ironside Mt., 23 miles west of this Trinity County community, the U.S. Forest Service said yesterday.

A spokesman said all of the one-year-old seedlings in the plantation were killed as well as other foliage including grass. The heavy infestation was attributed to a wet spring and dry summer.

When Novato was incorporated in 1960, the city took over the building and in recent years, it has served as a civic meeting hall for the city council and city commissions.

Under the leadership of Bea Carpenter, the community house has been redecorated in the past several years.

Mrs. Coady requested that anyone who has any items connected with the history of the community house and willing to loan them for exhibit, notify her at 747 Bradley Avenue.

VOLUNTEER LANDSCAPING — With shovels and rakes rampant, members of the Novato Farm Center pitched into the task of landscaping at the Novato Community House in 1926, three years after the opening of the building at Machin and DeLong avenues. Standing in front of the work crew in dark dress is Mrs. O. J. Boone. The Novato Farm Center contributed $150 along with the labor.

Excess State Land Leased For Park

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Highway Commission yesterday approved the leasing of excess state-owned land near Route 23 in Thousand Oaks for park development by the Conejo Recreation and Park District.

The 138,000-square-foot parcel is located west of the freeway and south of Avenida de los Arboles. The 50-year lease calls for a $100 per year rental fee.

Grasshopper Swarm Spoils Experiment

BIG BAR (UPI) —Swarms of grasshoppers invaded and destroyed an 85-acre experimental Ponderosa pine plantation near the top of Ironside Mt., 23 miles west of this Trinity County community, the U.S. Forest Service said yesterday.

A spokesman said all of the one-year-old seedlings in the plantation were killed as well as other foliage including grass. The heavy infestation was attributed to a wet spring and dry summer.

Dock Worker Pay Raise Is Approved

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pay raises for 13,000 West Coast longshoremen retroactive to June 1 have been approved by the Cost of Living Council, union and dock employers said yesterday.

Approval of the two-year contract that boosts wages for dock workers and ships' clerks by a total of 70 cents an hour was announced jointly by presidents Harry Bridges of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and Edmund J. Flynn of the employers' Pacific Maritime Association.

Dock workers began getting 40-cent hourly raises July 1, but council approval was needed to make 25 cents of that raise retroactive to June 1, Flynn and Bridges said in a statement.

Flynn said the retroactive back pay, part of the ILWU-PMA contract reached June 9, will be paid out Aug. 31.

Approval came in a letter from Donald M. Irwin, Cost of Living Council administrator, the statement said.

Flynn and Bridges expressed satisfaction with the approval, which they said imposed three conditions.

They are that any money left from an employer $6 million work guarantee fund in the pact be paid into the ILWU pension fund; that the 25-cent raise be charged to the wage control year beginning July 1 and that any changes in economic terms of the contract be submitted to the council 30 days before taking effect.

The agreement increases the $5.10 an hour basic longshore wage by 25 cents June 1, by another 15 cents July 1 and by an additional 30 cents next July 1.

Under Phase 2, the Pay Board trimmed 30 cents from a 72-cent hourly wage increase negotiated in settlement of a 134-day West Coast dock strike that ended in February 1972.

Pot Found Growing In Garden

Amid rows of corn, tomatoes and squash, Novato police on Wednesday harvested more than 400 marijuana plants ranging in height from three inches to five feet six inches.

David Ehreth, 23, of 792 St. Francis Avenue, Novato, who rented the garden area at 4 St. John's Court, was arrested on suspicion of cultivation and possession of marijuana for sale, Novato police reported.

Officers, acting on a tip, peered through a fence gap and saw numerous plants, that appeared to be marijuana, "growing among a well-cared-for vegetable garden."

Ehreth, son of Beverly Ehreth, a Novato planning commissioner, was arrested at 4 St. John's Court at 6 p.m. He was booked at Marin County Jail and released on his own recognizance. No court date was set.

Kissinger Reveals Plans, Goals

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — Henry Kissinger has outlined a domestic policy he will follow as secretary of state: Less secret diplomacy, more cooperation with Congress, development of public support for defense and disarmament needs, and a healing of the scars left by Vietnam.

Kissinger said that when his nomination is confirmed the conduct of foreign affairs will become "institutionalized" and there will be less friction between the State Department and the White House foreign policy staff that he now heads. He will keep his job as chief White House foreign policy adviser and thus head both organizations.

The German-born former Harvard professor held a news conference on the lawn of the Western White House yesterday and solemnly spoke of the "great honor" he felt in being nominated by the President to succeed Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

As America's future foreign policy overlord, Kissinger said he believed the "impact of Watergate can be minimized," and added that a prime objective of the administration will be to "create a consensus in which the American people and Congress can understand and will support" defense programs and disarmament negotiations.

"We have had the legacy of a war (Vietnam) that bitterly divided Americans and that has to be healed," he said.

"Any administration wants to leave the world better than it found it, and the most important challenge before our country in the field of foreign policy is to bring about a stable peace," he said.

He said during Nixon's term, "many important, revolutionary changes" were made. "These required, to considerable extent, secret diplomacy and they were conducted on a rather restricted basis. But now we are in a different phase. The foundations that have been laid must now lead to the building of a more permanent structure."

"So, what we are going to try to do is to solidify what has been started, he added, "to put more emphasis on our relationship with Europe and with Japan, and to conclude during the term of the President, the building of a structure that we can pass on to succeeding administrations so that the world will be a safer place when they take over."

Kissinger got a head start in winning confirmation by making personal telephone calls to every member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He also pledged frequent appearances on capitol hill to make foreign policy "more accessible to congressional and public scrutiny."

He claimed he would only invoke executive privilege in connection with his personal conversations with the President and any direct advice he may give him.

On the issue of his Jewish background being a source of apprehension by Arab leaders, Kissinger said that U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East will be conducted in the "national interest" and not on the basis of his religious or national heritage.

Kissinger also made the following points:

He still plans to travel to Peking, but will not set a date until after his confirmation by the Senate.

Nixon canceled a trip to Latin America "because he has been preoccupied with domestic matters," meaning Watergate.

The timing of Nixon's trip to Europe will be made after the European foreign ministers meeting early next month in Copenhagen. "We would expect that it will be for a significant substantive result and not simply a grand tour."

Rejected a statement by Prince Norodom Sihanouk, exiled Cambodian leader, that he did not approve the U.S. secret bombing of Cambodia. Kissinger said Sihanouk did not protest and always took the position he would not oppose B52 bombing raids on areas where there were no Cambodians.

Stalled Cambodian negotiations will depend more on the Cambodian parties involved, rather than American decisions as a result of the bombing halt. Also his trip to Peking should not be tied to Cambodian peace negotiations.

Left open the possibility of whether the United States would support Sihanouk's return to power. He said he expected the subject to come up during the Senate hearings and added it is "a rather delicate subject" which he expects to lead to some negotiation.

On the world wheat shortage, a study is underway to plan over the next five to 10 years how the world needs and American productivity could be brought into some relationship. The food and energy shortages have "profound consequences" on foreign policy, he said.

The question of reopening the door to Cuba will have to be studied, but there are no new developments in that respect.

Kissinger paid homage to "great Americans" who have held the top diplomatic post in the past, including Henry Stimson, Gen. George Marshall, Dean Acheson, and John Foster Dulles, all of them in the tough hardline tradition.

He also praised Rogers for conducting his affairs "with enormous dignity, grace, wisdom, and, above all humanity," adding that the secretary had been "more instrumental" in shaping foreign policy than he received credit for.

Kissinger said he plans to take some of his White House staff over to the State Department "to ease the cultural shock" and he hoped to rely on the professional career foreign officers to help revitalize the department's operation.

Nine Black Liberation Army Members Indicted On 48 Counts

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Eugene Gold yesterday said nine top members of the Black Liberation Army have been indicted on 48 counts ranging from robbery to murder.

The group has been blamed with killing a number of police officers.

Gold, who said the group's power is "in the descendency now," announced the indictments at a news conference. Four of those named in the indictments are in custody, including Joanne Chesimard, 25, who Cawley said was the group's leader.

A recent 12-page report by city police intelligence agents put the group's "hard core" strength at 25-30 with 75 "satellite" members throughout the nation.

Albert Seedman, former chief of detectives in the New York City Police Department, said after the force's two-year investigation of the group that one of its basic aims, "in addition to bombing government buildings and large department stores (is) killing police officers. And, a police officer is a police officer — notwithstanding the fact that he may be a black man."

Miss Chesimard is now being held by New Jersey authorities in connection with a May 3 shoot-out in which one of her companions and a state trooper were killed. Gold said he has instituted extradition proceedings to have her arraigned on the New York charges.

Others indicted included Fred Hilton, 21, New York, and Ronald Meyers, Robert Johnson, Avon White, and Victor Cumberbatch, 22; all with no known address.

Hilton, whose bail was set at $350,000, was returned to federal authorities to face bank robbing charges.

Bail was set for Cumberbatch, who was already being held in New York on murder charges, at $268,000 on the new charges. Jackson was accused of murder and held without bail.

Environment Study Isn't Necessary

No environmental impact report is needed for eight new buildings on the Synanon ranch near Marshall, a Marin County hearing officer ruled yesterday.

Environmental hearing officer Pierre W. Joske's decision came after a brief discussion on designs for the new structures which include seven single-family dwellings and a storage shed.

The buildings constructed of aluminum on slab foundations, would have little impact on the environment, Joske said.

The dwellings will house middle-aged Synanon members who abandon the dormitory-style living of younger members.

Synanon is also constructing two new communes on its 1,700-acre Walker Creek Ranch on the Marshall-Petaluma Road.

The communes, along Walker Creek, will house between 200 and 250 residents. The new development; 23 structures including a large central building for eating, recreation, business and education, is to be discussed Monday by the county planning commission.

Planning commissioners are concerned that the county lacks planning controls over agriculture related development in agricultural zones.

School Sign-Ups Set For Monday

Registration for the alternative elementary school to be conducted in the Novato Unified School District this coming school year will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the meeting room at the Novato Branch library.

The school, which will offer a different approach to elementary education, will be located at the Meadow Park School annex at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Bomb Explosion Hits London Stock Office

LONDON (UPI) — A parcel bomb exploded on the 22nd floor of the London Stock Exchange today with the force of a hand grenade, injuring a secretary and her supervisor. It was the sixth day of London bomb incidents attributed to an extremist wing of the Irish Republican Army.

Police said 25-year-old Joanna Knight was hospitalized for observation with multiple superficial wounds and that George Brind, her 61-year-old supervisor, was treated and released. Police said they were lucky to escape death since the blast blew a gaping hole in a desk.

The bomb had been mailed to Stock Exchange Chairman George Loveday, but was being sorted by the secretary in another office on the 22nd floor when it exploded.

Letter and parcel bombs have been mailed to Prime Minister Edward Heath and to a general in the Department of Defense but they were defused before they could do any damage. The Heath bomb lay in a container of water for more than an hour before a police bomb squad defused it.

Incendiary bombs have been placed in a number of British department stores but they have done little damage and caused no casualties.

British police are almost certain the IRA is responsible for the current wave of bomb attacks in this country as part of its campaign to drive the British out of Northern Ireland and unite the six provinces with the Republic of Ireland.

But police say it is probably a local IRA team—not one from Northern Ireland—that is carrying them out. The IRA is outlawed in Ireland but curiously, not in Britain.

It may be working with some local British anarchist or other extreme left-wing group, they say.

Police sources say the type of explosive used for the bombs is so unstable that it would be extremely dangerous to transport by sea or air without the risk of blowing up the people carrying it.

An exchange spokesman said the secretary "was going through the mail in one of the offices and one of the letters exploded in her face."

Most of the explosive letters and packages found have had the power of an American hand grenade, but contained no shrapnel.

Police broadcast warnings for Britons to beware of all suspicious packages received in the mail or abandoned in public places.

LONDON (UPI) — A parcel bomb exploded on the 22nd floor of the London Stock Exchange today with the force of a hand grenade, injuring a secretary and her supervisor. It was the sixth day of London bomb incidents attributed to an extremist wing of the Irish Republican Army.

Police said 25-year-old Joanna Knight was hospitalized for observation with multiple superficial wounds and that George Brind, her 61-year-old supervisor, was treated and released. Police said they were lucky to escape death since the blast blew a gaping hole in a desk.

The bomb had been mailed to Stock Exchange Chairman George Loveday, but was being sorted by the secretary in another office on the 22nd floor when it exploded.

Letter and parcel bombs have been mailed to Prime Minister Edward Heath and to a general in the Department of Defense but they were defused before they could do any damage. The Heath bomb lay in a container of water for more than an hour before a police bomb squad defused it.

Incendiary bombs have been placed in a number of British department stores but they have done little damage and caused no casualties.

British police are almost certain the IRA is responsible for the current wave of bomb attacks in this country as part of its campaign to drive the British out of Northern Ireland and unite the six provinces with the Republic of Ireland.

But police say it is probably a local IRA team—not one from Northern Ireland—that is carrying them out. The IRA is outlawed in Ireland but curiously, not in Britain.

It may be working with some local British anarchist or other extreme left-wing group, they say.

Police sources say the type of explosive used for the bombs is so unstable that it would be extremely dangerous to transport by sea or air without the risk of blowing up the people carrying it.

An exchange spokesman said the secretary "was going through the mail in one of the offices and one of the letters exploded in her face."

Most of the explosive letters and packages found have had the power of an American hand grenade, but contained no shrapnel.

Police broadcast warnings for Britons to beware of all suspicious packages received in the mail or abandoned in public places.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Standard Oil's Contract Hit

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Prompted by a controversial Standard Oil Co. letter to its stockholders, the Senate has called for a study of an alternative to the state's $40 million a year gasoline contract with a single supplier.

Standard Oil currently holds the lucrative contract and has had it for 13 of the last 17 years, said Sen. Alan Robbins, D-North Hollywood, whose resolution (SCR75) requested the study.

His measure calling for the study "to help eliminate the monopolistic tendency of the present contract" was approved on a 24-5 vote yesterday and sent to the Assembly.

Robbins said state employees would find it more convenient and cheaper if they could buy gas at any participating station through a multicompany gasoline contract.

The freshman senator said he would be "less than candid" if he did not acknowledge that one reason for the resolution was the controversial letter by Standard's President Otto N. Miller. As initially drafted, Robbins' measure said the letter "raises serious moral and ethical questions," but any reference to the document was later amended out.

Miller wrote the company's 300,000 stockholders last month, urging "understanding of the aspirations of the Arab people." The letter was widely interpreted as being anti-Israel and an attempt to influence U.S. foreign policy.

Sen. David A. Roberti, D-Los Angeles, a co-author, told the Senate yesterday that it was time to "put Standard Oil in its place."

The study, which would be conducted by the General Services Department, involves a blanket contract to any oil company which agreed to supply the state with gas at a set discount from the pump price. Robbins said state workers could then shop around for the lowest price.

CAMPERS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill requiring camper vehicles to be equipped with a signaling device permitting a passenger riding in the camper to contact the driver was signed yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The bill (AB534) by Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, will take effect Jan. 1, 1975.

BAY PLAN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has narrowly voted to establish a nine-county planning agency to prepare a regional plan for the San Francisco Bay Area.

The bill (AB2040) by Assemblyman John Knox, D-Richmond, was approved yesterday on a 41-25 vote, the minimum required, and sent to the Senate.

Under the measure, the proposed Bay Area Regional Planning Agency would adopt a regional plan covering such subjects as air and water quality, solid waste management, transportation, open space, parks, land use and resource management. The agency would have no power, such as for condemning land, to carry out provisions of the plan.

The planning agency would be governed by a 34-member board composed equally of city councilmen and county supervisors. Board members would be allocated to counties on the basis of population.

Included in the regional area would be San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa and Marin counties.

DRILLING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation creating an oil-free sanctuary in the Santa Barbara Channel has been virtually amended out of existence by the Senate Governmental Organization Committee.

On a split voice vote yesterday, the committee removed language from the bill (AB1159) setting up a 164,300- acre sanctuary in the channel, site of a disastrous oil spill in 1969.

Following the action, all that remained of the measure by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, was a provision allowing the state Lands Commission to halt drilling in state waters if there is an "unreasonable risk" of pollution.

NEUTRALITY

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has narrowly passed a bill forcing state officials to remain "socially neutral" on issues before corporations in which the state owns voting stock.

Currently, the state automatically grants management the right to use its votes for about $6 billion in state-owned stock in any way the corporations wish. Assemblyman John F. Dunlap, D-Napa, contended the practice results in corporate officials using the state's voting power to defeat "reform proposals."

"The very least the state can do is take a position of neutrality on issues like doing business in countries which practice apartheid," he said. His bill (AB974) was sent to the Senate yesterday on a minimum 41-31 vote.

ARRESTS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Employers would be prohibited from asking job seekers about their arrest record under a bill introduced Thursday by Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento.

The measure would not interfere with an employer's prerogative to ask about convictions.

Greene said persons have been arrested because of mistaken identity or suspicion and are not guilty of anything simply because of an arrest.

Forest Fire Battle Near Completion

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Firemen neared victory today in their battle with some of the Western states' worst forest fires on record. The blazes have engulfed almost 200,000 acres of timber and desert lands in the past nine days.

The last four major fires of hundreds that were burning at one stage were expected to be contained some time during the day, according to a forecast by the Interagency Fire Center in Boise, Idaho.

The fires still to be encircled were in California, Idaho, Oregon and Montana, the states which suffered the worst in the fires.

At the peak of activity, almost 10,000 firefighters — many flown in from across the nation in the biggest movement of men for such a task—were battling 47 major blazes in seven states. Hundreds of smaller fires were being fought by state and local forces.

The Interagency headquarters—nerve center for the massive firefighting effort— said the blazes expected to be contained were:

A 10,620-acre fire in California's El Dorado National Forest between Placerville and Lake Tahoe. It was expected to be under control by Sunday.

A fire which has been raging for a week in Oregon's Hell's Canyon near the Snake River and which has consumed 11,850 acres. It was reported "coming along well."

A 2,400-acre fire that was burning in the Pine Creek area of the Boise National Forest.

A 7,050-acre major blaze in the Lo-Lo National Forest of Montana and an 8,000-acre fire in the Kootenai National Forest.

Newsprint Shortage Is Troubling Papers

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Shipments of newsprint that are arriving as late as four weeks behind schedule have forced some of the nation's newspapers to reduce the size of their editions and others to cut out entire issues.

Ted Duffy, advertising manager of the Laramie (Wyo.) Daily Boomerang, said the last shipment of newsprint for his newspaper arrived a week late because of strikes against paper mills in Canada.

"We thought we were going to be in a real bind," he said.

John Lake, publisher of The St. Petersburg, Fla., Times Publishing Co., said the daily average of 200 columns of news in the St. Petersburg Times and the Evening Independent could be cut to 130 columns.

Kenneth Fleming, general business and production manager of the Tulsa Daily World and Tulsa Tribune, said, "We hope we don't have to cut back on size, although it is getting real tough again. Shipments are running three-four weeks behind."

The editor of the Sacramento Union, Pete Hayes, said, "We haven't bee immediately affected by the newsprint shortage, but we are taking steps to reduce the waste of paper."

The Arizona Republic and the Phoenix Gazette last Sunday discontinued their earliest edition and cut the number of papers available on newsstands and in vending machines. Several smaller Arizona newspapers said they were down to two weeks' worth of paper.

John G. Trezevant, executive vice president for publishing for Field Enterprises Publishing in Chicago, said Field has reduced newsprint consumption by 10 per cent this year.

William F. Lindsey, executive director of the Colorado Press Association, said the the Greeley Tribune, founded in the late 1800's by Horace Greeley, is not publishing on Saturdays to save newsprint.

"One of the problems was new subscribers. The paper was averaging 40 pages more a week than last year, so the Saturday paper was given up," he said.

Veterans Record Loss No Problem

Damage to service records in the July 12 fire at the military records center in St. Louis will have no effect on Marin veterans and dependents who are currently receiving veterans benefits, James V. Burdick, county service officer, has reported.

Records for those receiving Veterans Administration benefits are maintained primarily at the agency's 57 regional offices, 169 hospitals on their two insurance centers.

Tahoe Planner Decides To Quit

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Nev. (AP) — J. Allen Bray of Oakland has submitted his resignation as a member of the Tahoe Regional Planning Agency.

Bray has been Gov. Ronald Reagan's appointee to the 10-member, bi-state agency since it was created in 1970.

Bray cited personal reasons in notifying the agency of his resignation yesterday. He gave no details.

Nine-year-old Melinda Flores prepares to be an Indian for a day, assisted by Ester Smirnoff, a crafts teacher at Camp Arequipa. Melinda was among 100 youngsters who have been guests of the Episcopal churches in Marin at the week-long camp. Yesterday's Indian Day festivities capped, or at least headbanded, the week's events. It included display of things made by the youngsters, things like the watchband sported by Miss Smirnoff.

Hearing On Sanity Due Before Trial

A hearing to determine if Donald Eugene Wagner is sane enough to stand trial on a charge of murdering a New York co-ed was scheduled to begin today in Marin Superior Court.

Two psychiatrists have raised doubts that Wagner, a 39-year-old former Navy lieutenant commander, is capable of understanding the charge against him and cooperating in his defense.

Criminal proceedings have been suspended in Marin Municipal Court pending the outcome of the sanity hearing.

If Judge Charles Read Best determines Wagner is not sane enough to stand trial, the accused man could be committed to a state hospital until his mental condition improves.

Wagner, of Redwood City, is charged with killing 21-year-old Patricia H. Dollinger of Pittsford, N.Y., and stuffing her nude body into a cabinet in his motor home. He was arrested July 20.

Grizzly bears feed on both plants and animals.

Three Homes Win Permits For Sewers

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board last night issued sewer permits for three single-family homes.

Approved were applications by John C. Reynolds and Anthony Munoz for homes on Mahogany Drive, and an application by Frederick J. Hass for a home on Sandstone Court, according to Edward Tibbetts, managing engineer.

The board also approved an application by Tele-Vue Systems Inc. for a warehouse on Mitchell Boulevard, he said.

The board postponed action on applications by Charles Bell, Ruth Susonow, Edwin Cutler and Sidney Schwartz, saying it wanted more information, he said.

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board also:

MULLIGAN STATION — Said the district will smoke test sewer pipes at Mulligan pump station in Santa Venetia.

SCETTRINI — Put over to Sept. 13 annexation of the so-called Scettrini parcel, near the Civic Center, where McCarthy Co. of Northern California plans an apartment and townhouse development.

MUDSLIDE — Held over to Sept. 13 action on a mudslide between Tamarack and Elda drives in Terra Linda.

CONFERENCE — Said Tibbetts will attend an environmental conference in New York at a cost of $500.

TYPEWRITER — Authorized purchase of a typewriter for $627.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:30 p.m. Sept. 13.

Tam Valley Drain Plan Is Approved

The Richardson Bay Flood Control Advisory Board last night tentatively approved a master drainage plan for the Tamalpais Valley.

The plan includes diversion pipes, pumps and levees to protect low-lying areas from damage from high tides, said Charles Shinnamon, junior civil engineer.

Public hearings on an environmental impact report will be held in about two months and the project will then go to the board of supervisors.

In other business, the board stood by its decision not to maintain landscaping along the Scott Valley bypass project in Mill Valley which will carry water from the Lomita Drive area to the bay. The board contends the City of Mill Valley should assume maintenance costs, estimated at $1,000 per year.

Pneumonia, Drug Caused Probation Officer's Death

Lowell J. Fouch, the Marin probation officer whose body was found in his Sausalito home June 18, died of pneumonia aggravated by cocaine he sniffed with a friend, the Marin Coroner's Office reported today.

Coroner's deputies said Fouch, 28, who was hired by Marin officials in September 1971, despite a felony case pending against him in San Francisco, also suffered chronic bronchitis.

Traces of morphine — formed when cocaine breaks down in the body — found in his blood and urine showed Fouch died within two hours of sniffing the cocaine.

While the probation officer died of pneumonia, coroner's deputies said the cocaine contributed to his death because it slowed his metabolism — heartbeat and breathing — which already was affected by his bronchitis and pneumonia.

The investigation into Fouch's death was hampered by the disapperarnce of Michael Brannen, who had reported sniffing cocaine from a tinfoil packet and drinking a "couple of bourbons" with Fouch the night before his body was found. Brannen was the last to see Fouch alive.

The coroner's office said alcohol, a depressant, also could have slowed down Fouch's metabolism and contributed to his death but none was found in his system despite Brannen's report Fouch had been drinking.

After the death was reported, it was learned Fouch was overseeing persons on probation in Marin despite the fact he himself was on probation for a misdemeanor assault conviction in San Francisco.

At the time Fouch was hired, a felony charge of mayhem was pending against him, but the count was reduced to assault and he was found guilty in December 1971 and placed on probation.

Chief Probation Officer John W. Brewer defended Fouch's hiring, saying his deputy did "good work" and admitted his arrest hours after he was hired.

More Hospital Space Requested

A committee of physicians last night urged the Petaluma Hospital District Board to provide more room for specialized services at Hillcrest Hospital.

Hospital Administrator Joseph F. Horner said the medical staff members told the board the hospital badly needs a third X-ray area and space for nuclear medicine and other specialized procedures.

Horner said cost would depend on the scope of the building project. He estimated the minimum expense at $300,000.

Board members will consider the request at a special meeting Sept. 5 at noon at the hospital.

Rohnert Park Seeks Garage Sale Control

New controls on garage and patio sales were recommended last night by the Rohnert Park Planning Commission.

The commission proposes to limit residents to one sale per year and require them to pay $3 a day for a city permit.

Commission secretary Sandra Faus said the commission also wants to control sign placement and set penalties for non-compliance. Items sold at the sale would be limited to those owned by the homeowner; joint neighborhood ventures would be banned.

Mrs. Faus said the controls would apply only to residential areas and would not affect non-profit groups which hold sales at churches and other public places. The proposal will be considered next month by the city council.

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission also:

WAREHOUSE — Approved plans by Ernest and Wanda McCulloh for a warehouse on Transport Avenue.

PERMIT — Denied a request by James Fraser to do family and marriage counseling in his home at 7508 Bobbie Way.

APARTMENTS — Granted a request by Robert Harris to convert the Katherine Ames apartments to condominium units.

New Data Hints Collapse Of Universe Impossible

By DAVID F. SALISBURG
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

BOSTON — Never will the universe collapse to the size of a bread box.

This is one of the possible fates forecast by Einstein's relativity. But a unique set of measurements just announced by astromers at Princeton University could rule this out.

According to the "big bang" theory of creation — now in fashion — the universe began over 4 billion years ago as a tiny, incredibly hot mass. Since that time it has been expanding outward like a cosmic balloon being blown up.

Will it continue to expand — the stars getting farther and farther apart and finally winking out one by one? Or will the universe, at some time, reach a limit, stop its expansion, and cave back in on itself?

Scientific debaters have not been able to resolve this issue because they cannot determine how much "invisible" mass exists in the universe — objects they cannot observe even with the most powerful instruments.

During the beginning "big bang" the universe was pushed out by a tremendous explosion. But if there is more than a certain amount of mass in the universe, its gravitational attraction will ultimately halt the expansion. If there is less it will continue outward forever.

The density of matter that astronomers can see is less than this critical amount.

But with a simple measurement, Prof. John B. Rogerson and researcher Donald G. York feel they have sidestepped the problem of the invisible mass.

Before its expansion, the universe was pure energy, scientists believe. Then matter began to precipitate outward. First, subatomic parties formed. Then came hydrogen, the building block of the universe, and its close cousin, deuterium. If present theories about this process are correct these elements were created in a fixed relation.

Using an astronomical satellite, the Princeton astronomers have determined the amount of deuterium lying on a line from Earth to the star Beta Centauri. Because no one has determined a way that quantities of deuterium could have been created since that early time, what they have measured must be primordial. And because of the set ratio between this and hydrogen, they can calculate the amount of hydrogen and so the total amount of matter formed at the beginning of the universe.

From their satellite date, Drs. Rogerson and York found only a small amount of this deuterium in interstellar space: one atom in every 1,000,000. Translating this into the density of original hydrogen yields an average of only one atom in each 10 cubic meters -- not enough to halt the universe in its outward rush. It is the first such determination ever made.

But the method has some severe limitations, it is seen, and will not finally resolve the long-standing scientific debate. The measurement was made of only that deuterium between here and Beta Centauri. The even distribution of this element throughout the universe was assumed.

"We were planning on making the measurement to other stars first, but when the results came in we were so excited that we decided to release it right away," explained Dr. Rogerson.

Ultimately Dr. Rogerson and his colleague hope to determine the amount of deuterium in a number of different directions.

Valentino Seen As Star Of 60s

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Rudolph Valentino would have remained a movie star through the 1960s if he had lived, an astrologer said yesterday at the 47th annual memorial service at the mausoleum crypt.

Anthony Norvell told several hundred persons that he prepared an astrological chart which plotted how Valentino's life would have developed had he not died in 1926 at the age of 31.

Norvell said the silent screen lover would have survived the coming of talking pictures, which ended the careers of many other actors, and would have been a bg star as recently as the 1960s.

Broccoli Rustling Making Scene

MOUNT VERNON, Wash. (UPI) —Now it's broccoli rustling.

Local officials estimated Wednesday that four-fifths of the expected yield from one broccoli field disappeared in the night. Instead of 25 tons, the yield will be only five tons.

Some growers have hired special patrols to guard against thieves.

Burglary Charge Is Denied By Corte Maderan

A Corte Madera man suspected of breaking into a real estate office and stealing a typewriter has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a felony burglary charge.

A preliminary hearing will be held Tuesday for Raymond Thomas Cota, 23, who denied the charge Tuesday.

Corte Madera police, who were tipped off to a burglary at Steward Associates Realty, 215 Tamalpais Drive, early Monday reported they saw Cota backing out a broken door carrying a typewriter.

Dr. Berkeley Johnson, dean of instruction at the College of Marin, will meet with members of the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin and the League of Women Voters of Central Marin Monday at the college to discuss a report to be submitted by the college to the Western Colleges Accreditation Association in October.

The two leagues, as a result of a year study, have produced a position paper on the general aims and purposes of the college. The college committee reviewing the leagues' consensus requested the consultation for the accreditation writing process.

THE RINGLING Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus now at the Oakland Coliseum will be the site of the Monday afternoon field trip sponsored by the Marin Senior Coordinating Council.

Running Family Ready For Dipsea

By BETTY FROST

Four members of a Corte Madera family will be running in the Dipsea race Sunday. The 6.7-mile race begins at Lytton Square in Mill Valley at 10 a.m.

James M. Killeen and his sons Michael, 17, and Timothy, 15, all Dipsea veterans, this year will be joined by his daughter Diane, 16.

Killeen and Mike won the father-son category in 1971. Last year Tim was the first Marin runner to finish, and came in 13th in the field of more than 1,000 starters. This will be the fifth year participation for Mike and his father and the fourth for Tim.

The Killeens also participate in the eight-mile Bay-to-Breakers race. The father-son trophy went to Killeen and Mike in 1971. This race, held in May, takes the runners from the Ferry Building in San Francisco to Ocean Beach.

Killeen, whose sport was swimming at St. Ignatius High School and the University of San Francisco, became interested in running when Michael signed up for both track and cross country during his freshman year at Redwood High School. Both Mike and Tim like distance work and, beside cross country, run the mile and the two-mile courses in the spring track season.

DIANE, A Redwood high School senior, signed up for girls' track and cross country teams last year. To her surprise she won her first race. She credits Redwood coach Douglas Basham for encouraging the whole family.

In the first season for girls' cross country, the Redwood team won the Marin County Athletic League and North Coast Section championships. Diane's teammates, Wendy Servinghaus, Robin Spaan and Linda Stolte, are also entered in the Dipsea competition.

Diane's favorite sport is horseback riding and her present ambition is to become a horse trainer.

Mike, who will enter the College of Marin in the fall, enjoys skiing, canoeing and running. Tim, a Redwood junior, likes tennis and swimming.

"ALL THE family enjoys back-packing in the Sierra," Mrs. Killeen said. Mrs. Killeen, a second grade teacher at St. Isabella's School in Terra Linda, isn't interested in running the Dipsea herself. She and her younger daughter, Katie, 12, will meet the runners at the finish line with a picnic lunch on Sunday.

"We can't beat the racers by car because their route is more direct and because of the traffic," she explained, "so we leave earlier and have to miss the start of the race."

The family has lived in Marin County for 16 years.

Another family entered in this year's race who are also veterans of previous Dipsea runs are Mr. and Mrs. John Boitana and their daughter and son Marietta, 9, and Mike, 11, of San Francisco.

FOUR MEMBERS of the James Killeen family of Corte Madera will run the Dipsea race Sunday. Timothy Killeen, 15, a veteran of the Dipsea, displays the family trophies as inspiration to his sister Diane, 16, who will enter the race for the first time this year.

Running Family Ready For Dipsea

By BETTY FROST

Four members of a Corte Madera family will be running in the Dipsea race Sunday. The 6.7-mile race begins at Lytton Square in Mill Valley at 10 a.m.

James M. Killeen and his sons Michael, 17, and Timothy, 15, all Dipsea veterans, this year will be joined by his daughter Diane, 16.

Killeen and Mike won the father-son category in 1971. Last year Tim was the first Marin runner to finish, and came in 13th in the field of more than 1,000 starters. This will be the fifth year participation for Mike and his father and the fourth for Tim.

The Killeens also participate in the eight-mile Bay-to-Breakers race. The father-son trophy went to Killeen and Mike in 1971. This race, held in May, takes the runners from the Ferry Building in San Francisco to Ocean Beach.

Killeen, whose sport was swimming at St. Ignatius High School and the University of San Francisco, became interested in running when Michael signed up for both track and cross country during his freshman year at Redwood High School. Both Mike and Tim like distance work and, beside cross country, run the mile and the two-mile courses in the spring track season.

DIANE, A Redwood high School senior, signed up for girls' track and cross country teams last year. To her surprise she won her first race. She credits Redwood coach Douglas Basham for encouraging the whole family.

In the first season for girls' cross country, the Redwood team won the Marin County Athletic League and North Coast Section championships. Diane's teammates, Wendy Servinghaus, Robin Spaan and Linda Stolte, are also entered in the Dipsea competition.

Diane's favorite sport is horseback riding and her present ambition is to become a horse trainer.

Mike, who will enter the College of Marin in the fall, enjoys skiing, canoeing and running. Tim, a Redwood junior, likes tennis and swimming.

"ALL THE family enjoys back-packing in the Sierra," Mrs. Killeen said. Mrs. Killeen, a second grade teacher at St. Isabella's School in Terra Linda, isn't interested in running the Dipsea herself. She and her younger daughter, Katie, 12, will meet the runners at the finish line with a picnic lunch on Sunday.

"We can't beat the racers by car because their route is more direct and because of the traffic," she explained, "so we leave earlier and have to miss the start of the race."

The family has lived in Marin County for 16 years.

Another family entered in this year's race who are also veterans of previous Dipsea runs are Mr. and Mrs. John Boitana and their daughter and son Marietta, 9, and Mike, 11, of San Francisco.

FOUR MEMBERS of the James Killeen family of Corte Madera will run the Dipsea race Sunday. Timothy Killeen, 15, a veteran of the Dipsea, displays the family trophies as inspiration to his sister Diane, 16, who will enter the race for the first time this year.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Couple Is Shocked, Bored By Friends' X-Rated Movie Spree

DEAR HELEN:

The latest thing in our crowd of young-marrieds is to get together, have a few cocktails, then go in a group to a hard core X movie, the really porn stuff.

Having seen one with them, my husband and I now refuse to go, because when the shock wore off in the first few minutes, we discovered the most obscene thing about the talentless, plotless, (I won't say pointless) film was the $4.50 admission charge.

Really, we weren't outraged, just bored, and why spend $9 for a dull evening? Seems to me that people who enjoy watching other people make "love" couldn't have much love life of their own.

We don't say this, however; in fact we make no judgments, but our friends aren't that kind. They call us "Mr. and Mrs. Clean" and kid us unmercifully about being prudes.

Until they started this new kick, we had great times together — they aren't swingers, but only voyeurs presently.

Should we waste money and time just to keep on as part of the crowd, or. . .? — PORN WORN

DEAR P.W.:

If your friends follow the usual pattern, they'll be porn dropouts before long, once they realize as you did early on, that these films have all the eroticism of two dogs mating.

When the crowd stops at an X theater, move on to a well-reviewed movie or play. You'll soon have other couples joining you. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am divorced, the mother of three pre-teen sons, have a good job and my "ex" sends his support regularly. I own my own home and go to college at night. I shouldn't complain, but I'm going to anyway.

Like many formerly marrieds in the age-30 bracket, I don't quite belong anywhere. I'm a fifth wheel at parties. I tried the bar scene, but wasn't looking for instant sex. The singles clubs attract losers mostly.

I've dated often enough, but no one special. Not that I'm avid to remarry, but I don't want to stay single forever. The men I meet either have wives or don't want them — and both types want "experiences."

I am attractive, intelligent and fairly independent. Must I just go my own way with my children, always being — MS. ALONE?

DEAR MS. A.:

It's said that one American out of three is presently single (divorced, widowed, separated or never-married). With all that company, surely you can find a mate, for it's also said that the majority of formerly-weds remarry.

Enjoy your casual dates, and let them know you too enjoy your freedom. Once you stop hating singleness you may find several men who surprise themselves by trying to talk you out of it. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

About the woman whose uppity neighbor leaves her child off to play with her daughter, but won't include the "free sitter" in her card-playing set: I had the same kind of neighbor. It really frosted me when this mother made cracks about not having time for "bovine domesticity" while her son drank our lemonade, ate our cookies, ran through our sprinklers, and was generally our second son all those days and nights when she couldn't be bothered.

But I felt more sorry for the boy's neglect than I did for my own status as free sitter. This boy was happy at our house, and I like to think he got needed guidance and love there. Being a child's friend is a great experience, and when you think of it in this way, you stop resenting the fact that you're a patsy. — MRS. B.

FIRST YEAR

Watch For Baby's Signs Of Sickness

Last in a series.

Fever is the body's natural response to many infections. If your baby has a fever, there is something wrong with him.

But how high the fever is doesn't tell you anything about how sick he is. If a child with a high fever is playful and cheerful, he is not very sick and you need not worry. A child with only a slight fever or no fever who appears to be sick and weak needs medical attention. Fever should warn you to watch your child carefully — it doesn't tell you how sick he is.

Many babies will have a fever with every cold. Many have a fever for a day or two with no other signs of illness except tiredness and fussiness.

Most of the time a child with a fever needs no special treatment. Give him plenty to drink, take off any extra sweaters or blankets to let him cool off, and sponge his face with a cool, wet cloth.

If he seems uncomfortable, or particularly jittery, give him half a baby aspirin every six hours if he is 3-to-8-months old, and one baby aspirin every four hours if he is 9-to-18-months old. Aspirin will reduce the fever, but fever itself does no harm. Use aspirin for pain and discomfort, leave the fever untreated unless the baby seems uncomfortable. Give him plenty to drink.

If your child has a fever you can't explain for four or five days in a row, you should seek medical advice even if he doesn't seem very sick.

YOUR BABY may vomit during one of his colds or fevers. Or he may have an illness with vomiting, or vomiting and diarrhea, as the only signs.

When your baby vomits, don't give him anything to eat or drink for one hour. Then give him half oz. of cold sweet juice, tea or soft drink. Repeat this half-ounce feeding every 10 or 15 minutes for an hour. Give one ounce feedings every 10 or 15 minutes for the next hour, and two ounce feedings as often as he wants them for the following hour. If there is no more vomiting it is now safe to give small amounts of cereal, formula, crackers or toast. But don't give more than two ounces to drink at one time until there has been no vomiting for six hours.

If he vomits after you start this routine, wait an hour and start again at the beginning with half-ounce feedings.

If he continues to vomit for more than one day, you should get medical advice.

If he seems uncomfortable, or particularly jittery, give him half a baby aspirin every six hours if he is 3-to-8-months old, and one baby aspirin every four hours if he is 9-to-18-months old. Aspirin will reduce the fever, but fever itself does no harm. Use aspirin for pain and discomfort, leave the fever untreated unless the baby seems uncomfortable. Give him plenty to drink.

If your child has a fever you can't explain for four or five days in a row, you should seek medical advice even if he doesn't seem very sick.

YOUR BABY may vomit during one of his colds or fevers. Or he may have an illness with vomiting, or vomiting and diarrhea, as the only signs.

When your baby vomits, don't give him anything to eat or drink for one hour. Then give him half oz. of cold sweet juice, tea or soft drink. Repeat this half-ounce feeding every 10 or 15 minutes for an hour. Give one ounce feedings every 10 or 15 minutes for the next hour, and two ounce feedings as often as he wants them for the following hour. If there is no more vomiting it is now safe to give small amounts of cereal, formula, crackers or toast. But don't give more than two ounces to drink at one time until there has been no vomiting for six hours.

If he vomits after you start this routine, wait an hour and start again at the beginning with half-ounce feedings.

If he continues to vomit for more than one day, you should get medical advice.

A Sampling Of Mail That Weekly Columnist Receives

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate

There is no more fascinating reading that one's mail — unless it's someone else's mail. Here is a portion of Haggerty's mailbox.

Column on Mormon Church — "If Utah is like you say, we are going to move there immediately. We will go anywhere to be among such an elite white people." — Glendale.

"Attend a Mormon church just one time. Despite their odd rule about blacks, you'll see and hear a way of life that no writer should miss. Everyone who comes in contact with a Mormon for any length of time knows positively that whether or not they're the true church, or wrong about their thoughts about black people, they are truly the Christian church that practices 100% what they preach. Someday their prophet will open the doors to blacks to hold the priesthood and it will be the 'complete' church." — Sunland.

"My conviction that withholding the priesthood from blacks is heresy has been long crystallized in spite of a lifetime of church propaganda to the contrary.

My letter to the Times was my first public act of agitation against the Negro policy. As a result, I have been threatened by anonymous phone calls and censured by my fellow church members. Ugly letters have been sent to my parents and in-laws indicating they may bear the shame of having black great-grandchildren someday." — Los Angeles.

"ALTHOUGH IT may not seem so to you, the issue of blacks/priesthood is a peripheral one when compared to church teachings regarding the atonement of Jesus Christ, the nature of man and his ultimate potential, man's relationship to God the Father and Christ, the eternal scope of family relationships and continuing revelation." — Los Angeles.

"When my church had 'revelations' with regard to whether or not members could drink Coca Cola, I began to wonder about 'revelations.'" — Nevada

"The Mormons persecute nobody! You'd be a lot better off if you'd go to church. . .especially the Mormon church. There are black Mormons. . .you didn't know that, did you?" — Salt Lake City

"Who asked you to join the Mormon church, anyway!" — Bakersfield

"Unlike blacks, the Mormons have the strongest family unit of any people. They value and care for their children!" — Oakland

"The sanctity of the Mormon family is a myth. I've lived in SLC for 28 years and, believe me, the 'hanky-panky' is just as prevalent among Mormons as any other group." — Salt Lake City

Column on Seeing America

"I read of the racial slurs you described during your recent trip. I've also heard of white-women subjected to racial insults by black men in Los Angeles, but haven't yet seen a column on that subject!" — Covina

"That was a nice story about turning the other cheek in the No-Name Laundromat, but you didn't give us the denouement: Did the @#&% &•• let you use the dryer?" — Pacific Palisades

"Why don't you take the chip off your shoulder and stop wallowing in your own ego? The minute you walk into a place you expect everyone to fall on their faces and grovel at your feet. Untruthfulness, ignorance, rudeness and bigotry are the major failings of blacks. Also, tell some of your black women to clean up their mouths and stop using such foul language." — Los Angeles

"Please accept my warmest congratulations for your elegant, mature handling of a 'yuckky' situation in a laundromat in Utah. (What a great lady your daughter will be when she matures.)" — Texas

"You used the word 'Christian' in an un-Christian way. I resent the mockery made of something I hold very dear. Please be careful of your use of the word. . .There are some Christians left who are dedicated and practicing followers of Jesus Christ and His way of life." — Illinois

"This type of treatment is not reserved for black people. We have three children, ages 20 to 26, and for the past eight years have learned the bitter truth of what it is to be a member of a minority group. . .In most places a teen-ager or college-age person (especially with long hair) is definitely a minority member." — California

Black Genocide Column

A newspaper clipping from the Cincinnati Post and Times Star: "Cutting welfare: Ohio Legislator, Gene Damschroder, backs sterilization measures. 'If a man decides to live like an animal, he should be treated like an animal.' Damschroder's bill in the house (HB626) would sterilize fathers failing to support children under 18; (HB591) would require women receiving state welfare subsidies to submit to sterilization after a second child is born out of wedlock." A black prison inmate sent the clipping, with his comment: "Can you believe this, Sister?" — Ohio

"I mourn for those girls who may never know the love and joy of motherhood as I have known it." — Texas

"Sterilization is too good for sexually crazed blacks. They ought to be set before the firing squads!" — California

Ex-Temptations Robbery Victims

DETROIT (UPI) — Two former members of the singing group Temptations and the group's musical director were robbed Wednesday of more than $800, plus several items of clothing and jewelry.

The two former Temptations, David Ruffin and Eddie Kendricks, and musical director Cornelius Grant were robbed by two men in front of Grant's home shortly after 2 a.m. Kendricks and Ruffin were in Detroit to attend the funeral Friday of Paul Williams, another former member of the singing group, who was found shot to death Sunday in an apparent suicide.

Kendricks said he noticed a car parked in front of Grant's home as the three men were leaving the house. He said two men in their 20s got out of the car and ordered the three men not to move. Kendricks said the bandits knocked down Grant and kicked him during the course of the robbery. Grant was not seriously hurt.

Doubleton Is Often Rejected Cause It Takes Cooperation

The doubleton is a much despised and rejected opening lead, largely because it often calls for understanding and cooperation from your partner. That may be why some bridge authorities say that the most difficult feature of bridge is finding a partner worth keeping.

SHREWDLY PLAYED

West opened the six of diamonds, and South shrewdly played the king from dummy. The idea was to encourage East to take his ace promptly.

East was too old a bird to be taken in . He was sure that South would play low from the dummy unless he had the queen in his own hand. What's more, the opening bid of one notrump pretty clearly indicated that South had balanced holdings in the minor suits together with the four cards he was known to have in each of the majors.

East therefore refused the first trick, playing the eight of diamonds to encourage his partner.

Declarer finessed with the queen of trumps, but this was not his lucky day. West won with the king of hearts and led his other diamond.

CO-OPERATION PAYS OFF

Now East's co-operation paid off. He could take the ace of diamonds and lead a third diamond for West to ruff. West then took the ace of clubs, setting the contract.

South would make the contract if East took the first diamond. A diamond return at this stage would do West no good. East would never regain the lead to give his partner a ruff, and South would have no further problems.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids 1-NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♥ - Q 6
♦ - K J 10 9
♣ - J 9 6 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three notrump.

The combined count should be 27 to 29 points, easily enough for game in notrump but not enough for game in a minor suit.

Opening lead — ◇ 6

SHREWDLY PLAYED

West opened the six of diamonds, and South shrewdly played the king from dummy. The idea was to encourage East to take his ace promptly.

East was too old a bird to be taken in . He was sure that South would play low from the dummy unless he had the queen in his own hand. What's more, the opening bid of one notrump pretty clearly indicated that South had balanced holdings in the minor suits together with the four cards he was known to have in each of the majors.

East therefore refused the first trick, playing the eight of diamonds to encourage his partner.

Declarer finessed with the queen of trumps, but this was not his lucky day. West won with the king of hearts and led his other diamond.

CO-OPERATION PAYS OFF

Now East's co-operation paid off. He could take the ace of diamonds and lead a third diamond for West to ruff. West then took the ace of clubs, setting the contract.

South would make the contract if East took the first diamond. A diamond return at this stage would do West no good. East would never regain the lead to give his partner a ruff, and South would have no further problems.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner bids 1-NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - A 7 5
♥ - Q 6
♦ - K J 10 9
♣ - J 9 6 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three notrump.

The combined count should be 27 to 29 points, easily enough for game in notrump but not enough for game in a minor suit.

Opera To Be Broadcast Once Again

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Live broadcasts of San Francisco Opera productions will be carried again this season, beginning with Donizetti's "La Favorita," the opening night production on Sept. 7.

Announcement of the Friday night presentations over KKHI AM and FM was made yesterday by Kurt Herbert Adler, general manager of the opera company.

For the third consecutive year the broadcasts are being made possible by a grant from Standard Oil Co. of California, Adler said.

"La Favorita" is a new production — a gift from the Gramma Fisher Foundation. Featured in the cast will be Maria Luisa Nave, Luciano Pavarotti, Renato Bruson and Bonaldo Giaiotti.

Again this season Scott Beach, Bay Area theater and radio personality, will be broadcast announcer, presenting commentary and interviews during intermissions.

Adler said a new element in this year's broadcasts will be quadraphonic sound — a method of reproducing music by the use of four loudspeakers.

The broadcasts will take place on 11 Fridays, beginning at 7:55 p.m.

The complete schedule: "La Favorita," Sept. 7; "Die Fledermaus," Sept. 14; "Rigoletto," Sept. 28; "Cosi fan tutte," Oct. 5; "Tannhauser," Oct. 12; "Boris Godunov," Oct. 19; "Elektra," Oct. 26; "La Traviata," Nov. 2; "Peter Grimes," Nov. 9; "La Boheme," Nov. 16, and "Don Carlo," Nov. 23.

Farmers In Dark On Nixon Plans

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —As long as the Nixon administration keeps farmers guessing about economic strategy, no "all out" effort to produce more food can be expected, according to American Farm Bureau Federation President William J. Kuhfuss.

"Farmers and ranchers do not know from one day to another whether the Nixon administration, responding politically to uninformed consumer pressure, will announce export controls on wheat and feed grains," Kuhfuss told the Charles Town Chamber of Commerce last night.

Kuhfuss said the President's Food Advisory Committee to the National Cost of Living Council, of which he is a member, did not know what new methods President Nixon planned to employ until they were reported by the news media.

Rogers Plans To Rejoin Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers is preparing to rejoin the New York law firm he left in 1969 when he became a member of President Nixon's cabinet.

Nixon announced Rogers' resignation Wednesday and appointed Dr. Henry A. Kissinger to succeed him.

Rogers, aides said, would go to New York this weekend to confer with his former law partners. He will rejoin the firm of Royall, Koegel and Wells after his Sept. 3 departure from the State Department.

Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Rush will serve as acting secretary pending Senate confirmation of Kissinger.

Boeing Readies Junior 747 Jet

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The Boeing Co. is ready to manufacture a junior jumbo jet which would fly higher, faster, farther and at less cost than the 747 or any other wide-body airliner.

Boeing said yesterday that the new 747SP (special performance) would be 47 feet shorter than current 747s and would carry 288 to 360 passengers, 100 less than the basic 747.

"It is designed to serve with excellent economy on the world's air routes where passenger traffic does not require airplanes the size of present 747 models," a company spokesman said.

"You'll Like My Mother" — Violence and graphic birth scene add terror to this story of a pregnant war widow who gets a hostile reception from her late husband's family. She uncovers some shocking secrets.

ADULTS ONLY

"Blume In Love" — Self-indulgent romance about a lawyer who tries to win back his divorced wife. At an adult level, love, hate and sexual feelings are explored from a man's point of view.

"Cheerleaders" — Film producer self-imposed the X rating. Story concerns a girl's efforts to become a high-school cheerleader and live up to the tradition of "serving" the football team. Total nudity and sex. (Boxoffice Magazine)

Farmers In Dark On Nixon Plans

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —As long as the Nixon administration keeps farmers guessing about economic strategy, no "all out" effort to produce more food can be expected, according to American Farm Bureau Federation President William J. Kuhfuss.

"Farmers and ranchers do not know from one day to another whether the Nixon administration, responding politically to uninformed consumer pressure, will announce export controls on wheat and feed grains," Kuhfuss told the Charles Town Chamber of Commerce last night.

Kuhfuss said the President's Food Advisory Committee to the National Cost of Living Council, of which he is a member, did not know what new methods President Nixon planned to employ until they were reported by the news media.

Rogers Plans To Rejoin Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers is preparing to rejoin the New York law firm he left in 1969 when he became a member of President Nixon's cabinet.

Nixon announced Rogers' resignation Wednesday and appointed Dr. Henry A. Kissinger to succeed him.

Rogers, aides said, would go to New York this weekend to confer with his former law partners. He will rejoin the firm of Royall, Koegel and Wells after his Sept. 3 departure from the State Department.

Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Rush will serve as acting secretary pending Senate confirmation of Kissinger.

Boeing Readies Junior 747 Jet

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — The Boeing Co. is ready to manufacture a junior jumbo jet which would fly higher, faster, farther and at less cost than the 747 or any other wide-body airliner.

Boeing said yesterday that the new 747SP (special performance) would be 47 feet shorter than current 747s and would carry 288 to 360 passengers, 100 less than the basic 747.

"It is designed to serve with excellent economy on the world's air routes where passenger traffic does not require airplanes the size of present 747 models," a company spokesman said.

The Marin Colleges May Have a Class For You This Fall

Marin adults have never before had a more favorable opportunity for college study. A curriculum of solid academic programs (more than 50 subject areas) and more than 1200 classes and two campuses - Kentfield and Novato - make college conveniently accessible to all residents.

Counselors are available to assist new or returning students interested in career preparation or transfer programs. No tuition to Marin residents in most cases. Both day and evening classes in most subject areas.

This fall in Marin, the return to college includes housewives, older retired adults, employed men and women, and young people who failed to complete high school or college, alongside recent high school grads, returning vets, and career and transfer students seeking job preparation and degrees.

Contact the Registrar for more information. 8 am to 4:30 pm in Kentfield; 8 am to 5 pm in Novato.

DINING OUT AND INNS

Large Restaurants Can Lose Personal Touch, Not I-Zii

Some restaurants start out big and some start out small, and some of them get bigger and others don't grow at all.

I just can't see the little I-Zii Sicilian Restaurant in Larkspur becoming a very large place, even with its build-up of satisfied customers. I don't think owners Anna and Paul Carminati would ever want to run the risk of losing their personal touch with the people who go there for their unique food. And something definitely would be lost with size.

Brown-eyed Anna, who is the Sicilian half of this duo, simply likes to cook the dishes she learned from her mother. She puts what one restaurateur calls "love" into her food, going beyond the call of regular commercial duty. Paul is blue-eyed and fair, from Northern Italy. He's no less devoted than Anna to making their restaurant a "second home dining room."

The name I-Zii translates out as "the aunt and uncle." Their family tree bears a full crop of nephews and nieces. And it seems they all use this short term affectionately to address and refer to Paul and Anna as a couple. Ergo it became a natural for the name of a restaurant. There's a slight difference in the pronunciation according to whether it's spoken by the Sicilians or those from further north, but the stress is strong on the last syllable.

Sicilian food is said to be more spicy than regular Italian fare, but I do not find it at all objectionable. On the contrary, the flavoring seems to be done with a certain sublety that piques both curiosity and appetite. According to Anna, her childhood was a time of strict discipline in preparing food in the traditional Sicilian manner and her two brothers are also good cooks.

Since eliminating the serving of lunches at I-Zii, more variety is being given to the dinner menu, which now boasts such offerings as beef burgundy, veal a la cacciatore, veal a la parmigiana, pasticcio (macaroni casserole), linguini with clam sauce, zucchini parmigiana, glace chicken wings, trippa a la Milanese, sandwiches (a number of them meatless), deep fried squid on Fridays and Saturdays and other specials. So the menu may vary slightly from day to day.

And there are frequently such treats as caponata (eggplant antipasto), a bean soup (with seven different types of beans) and also an excellent cabbage soup. Anna makes a very special pie of four different fruits and quite a nice rolled torte. Some of her fruits and vegetables are home grown.

She does all the cooking and spends quite a bit of time at it. Complete dinners are in the $3.50 - $5 range, and a glass of wine is included in the $5 dinner. Hours are now from 3:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays through Sundays.

ON A TRIP to the Mendocino coast last weekend we found that Gregory's at Albion has decided also to forego lunches. In this case, Albion is a little too far from the center of things at Fort Bragg to draw much mid-day patronage from the business people there, and there's not enough traffic on Highways 1 to make up the difference. But dinners are now served on Mondays, making Tuesday the only day of closing.

Business is picking up with the Seuberts (both local and tourist) and they are pleased with the steady increase. Not a week goes by that someone from Marin County doesn't appear for dinner. They've been fighting a water shortage but seem to have conquered that by having it brought in by tank truck, 1,250 gallons at a time. I've been told that Rancho Nicasio in Marin has had the same problem at times.

So far, the menu goes along on the same price range as before.

A FEW MILES NORTH of Albion, at Little River, the Heritage House has long been a "must" on many coast itineraries. The Heritage House's origin goes well back into the last century and it displays many historical artifacts.

It is both restaurant and cocktail lounge and de luxe garden hotel. So it is visited by many travelers for no other reason than to stay there overnight or a few days and relax. All accommodations are spaced on the large grounds to take advantage of its location between the highway and the ocean.

Visitors who go there for meals alone must make reservations well in advance, for priority is given to those who occupy rooms and cabins. If you decide to go for Sunday brunch, for instance, as we did, you'll be told to be there by 9:30 a.m., otherwise take your chances. There are only two meals a day — breakfast (or Sunday brunch) and dinner.

While the Mendocino coast does have its foggy moments, at this time of year there are still many clear, beautiful days. And on many other occasions the fog lifts from time to time to bring out the blue skies and views of the water. Unfortunately no weatherman is able to predict these cycles, so you'll have to take your chances. But the odds can be worth it.

ANNA CARMINATI
The Sicilian influence

IF YOU MAKE a trip of a few days to this area and insist on taking your golf with you, there's a nine-hole course at Little River Inn. This also has accommodations and a nice dining room and cocktail lounge. It's a fun place and very popular.

AND SPEAKING of fun places, miles south and inland from this location, Kleist's Heidelberg at Windsor comes into that category — especially on Saturday night and Sunday, when you can have dinner and dance to the music of Ken and Doris Ensele. There's a large dance floor.

THERE'S A NEW French chef by the name of Jean Boudin at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael. But while he's a master of French cuisine, Dominic's is sticking by the menu it had, because as manager Mario Brenta puts it, "people have become used to it and know what to expect." Jean's touch will show in the quality of his servings.

There is one new menu addition — a double entrecote of beef (New York cut) which goes at $15 for two — same as the chateaubriand. Naturally beef prices have been raised there, some other scarce items only slightly and several not at all (certain seafoods, for example).

Mario reports that there is some shortage of veal, but Dominic's "French bistro dinner specials" which are changed daily are still going for less than $5.

ALICE STUART AND SNAKE will return to Gatsby's in Sausalito for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Fireman Misses Girl's Birthday

CHICO, Calif. (UPI) — Rick Clements, 22, a college student, has missed his girlfriend's birthday for the second consecutive year because he had to fight a forest fire.

Clements, a member of the "Firebreakers" volunteer crew, was in Idaho yesterday on the fire line at the Boise National Forest and had a reporter telephone Miss Martha Lewis, 20, here to tell her he was sorry he missed her birthday Tuesday.

And Clements asked Miss Lewis to inform his landlord he would not be home for a while and to ask him not to throw out his belongings.

"I sure will tell the landlord," she said. "I'm getting used to this."

Annexation Election Set For Two Voters

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Marion County commissioners yesterday set Oct. 2 as the date of a special annexation election in which two brothers will be the only voters.

The commission was forced into calling the special election by David and Ivan Imig who established residence last March in a mobile home hidden inside a tool shed on a 94-acre area that was believed to be uninhabited.

The Marion-Polk Counties Boundary Commission annexed the area to the city of Salem, but the Imig brothers announced their opposition, and the officials were forced into calling the election.

County Clerk T. Harold Tomlinson said he has not yet determined where the polling place will be, since the only building in the area is the Imigs' mobile home.

Tomlinson also reported that under state election law he will be required to keep the polling place open and manned from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. even though only two voters are eligible.

The cost is expected to be $250 to $300.

Bus Drivers Due Awards For Safety

San Rafael Elementary School District bus drivers Paul Silva and Margaret Roddick have received driver safety awards at the Pupil Transportation Conference of the State Department of Education in Coronado.

Silva, a 24-year veteran with a perfect safety record, and Mrs. Roddick, whose quick thinking saved six passengers in her bus June 11 when the steering mechanism broke down, will be honored along with representatives from all over Califonia, according to Donald A. Leisey, superintendent.

But while he's a master of French cuisine, Dominic's is sticking by the menu it had, because as manager Mario Brenta puts it, "people have become used to it and know what to expect." Jean's touch will show in the quality of his servings.

There is one new menu addition — a double entrecote of beef (New York cut) which goes at $15 for two — same as the chateaubriand. Naturally beef prices have been raised there, some other scarce items only slightly and several not at all (certain seafoods, for example).

Mario reports that there is some shortage of veal, but Dominic's "French bistro dinner specials" which are changed daily are still going for less than $5.

ALICE STUART AND SNAKE will return to Gatsby's in Sausalito for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Fireman Misses Girl's Birthday

CHICO, Calif. (UPI) — Rick Clements, 22, a college student, has missed his girlfriend's birthday for the second consecutive year because he had to fight a forest fire.

Clements, a member of the "Firebreakers" volunteer crew, was in Idaho yesterday on the fire line at the Boise National Forest and had a reporter telephone Miss Martha Lewis, 20, here to tell her he was sorry he missed her birthday Tuesday.

And Clements asked Miss Lewis to inform his landlord he would not be home for a while and to ask him not to throw out his belongings.

"I sure will tell the landlord," she said. "I'm getting used to this."

Annexation Election Set For Two Voters

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Marion County commissioners yesterday set Oct. 2 as the date of a special annexation election in which two brothers will be the only voters.

The commission was forced into calling the special election by David and Ivan Imig who established residence last March in a mobile home hidden inside a tool shed on a 94-acre area that was believed to be uninhabited.

The Marion-Polk Counties Boundary Commission annexed the area to the city of Salem, but the Imig brothers announced their opposition, and the officials were forced into calling the election.

County Clerk T. Harold Tomlinson said he has not yet determined where the polling place will be, since the only building in the area is the Imigs' mobile home.

Tomlinson also reported that under state election law he will be required to keep the polling place open and manned from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. even though only two voters are eligible.

The cost is expected to be $250 to $300.

Chico Frat Fighting Order For Eviction

OROVILLE (UPI) —A Chico State University fraternity, the scene of an all-night beer party April 30 attended by a young mother later found raped and strangled, has filed a court action here to block an eviction order.

The County Board of Supervisors revoked the building use permit of Tau Gamma Theta Fraternity last month after residents complained of noise, excess traffic and general nuisance.

The fraternity filed suit in Butte County Superior Court for an order stopping the board ruling. A hearing was set for Aug. 31.

The fraternity said it has occupied the old house on the outskirts of Chico for four years.

The April 30 beer bust was attended by about 2,000 persons, one of them Patricia Farish, 18, the mother of an infant daughter who was separated from her husband.

Her nude body was found the day after the party in an almond orchard adjacent to the fraternity. Charged with murder in the case was Aden R. Miller III, 23, an unemployed farm laborer who also attended the beer bust.

Jury Picked For Newton Trial

OAKLAND (AP) — A seven-man, three-woman jury has been selected for the trial of Black Panther Party co-founder Huey Newton and his bodyguard, Robert L. Bay, on charges they beat up a disc jockey.

Both sides agreed Wednesday to the 10-member panel in the court of Municipal Court Judge Winton McKibben.

The trial of Newton, 30, and Bay, 29, was scheduled to begin today.

They are accused of beating Alonzo Miller, 30, in an Oakland bar on April 16, 1972. Miller worked for radio station KDIA under the name of Marlo Scott.

Blind Singer Is Out Of Hospital

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Rock singer Stevie Wonder was released from the UCLA Medical Center yesterday.

A spokesman for the blind singer said three days of tests had found no complications from the head injury he suffered when he was thrown into the windshield of an auto in a collision with a truck in North Carolina.

WHO NEEDS BEEF?

Armadillo Is Good In Or Out Of Shell

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) —Bob Carlisle likes his armadillo baked in its shell and basted every half hour with butter. Most Texans don't have a preference and change the subject if given an opportunity.

However, Carlisle is persistent, and says people in these days of beef shortages should consider the armadillo. He said his family eats one three or four times a year.

The proper method, he said, is to place the armadillo in a big pan and stuff it with carrots, apple slices, potatoes and cabbage. He seasons with salt, pepper, garlic and other spices and drenches it in butter.

"Bake it at 350 degrees for four hours, adding butter every 30 minutes," Carlisle said. "You can then serve it right in the shell, but some people don't like that.

"If not, chill it and the meat will peel right out of the shell. You can serve it chilled or warm it up again."

The small mammal is considered a nuisance by farmers because it eats vegetation and burrows most anywhere. When confronted with danger, the armadillo rolls into a ball like a porcupine, protected by the small bony plates that cover its body.

"My gosh, it's one of the easiest animals in the world to catch," Carlisle said. "We've caught them bare-handed...

"It's very good, clean meat if properly prepared. First you might want to skin him out of the shell, cut it up like chicken or rabbit and fry it. Sometimes I'll skin it out of the shell and smoke it—very slowly—and paint it with barbecue sauce. But my favorite is to bake them in the shell—it's a lot of trouble but it sure is good."

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has no season or daily bag limit on the armadillo —it is by no means an endangered species. But armadillo hunters must purchase the standard state hunting license if they plan to go after the armored creature outside their own county.

Church To Stage Jack And Beanstalk

A musical production of "Jack and the Beanstalk" will be staged at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. every Saturday from September 8 to October 13 at the Community Congregational Church in Tiburon.

The show will be presented by the Sunshine Theater of Mill Valley. Director is Marney McArthur Coscia.

BEEF SUBSTITUTE — Though the days of big Texas Armadillo drives are still a way off, Bob Carlisle of Austin likes to have one in place of expensive beef now and then. He bastes the little mammal in its shell, stuffs it with vegetables and smothers it in melted butter. They're not dangerous, as Carlisle showed yesterday, and he says they're easy to catch.

Echeverria Calls Flooding Of Town One Of Mexico's 'Worst'

IRAPUATO, Mexico (UPI) — Army troops began cleanup work yesterday in this city of 180,000 persons after floods that Mexican President Luis Echeverria called "one of the most serious in our history."

Echeverria returned here for a second day of overseeing relief operations and aides said he would probably also tour nearby flooded areas.

"Thousands of houses have been destroyed," Echeverria said, "most of them houses of the poorer people."

Mexican Secretary of Defense Gen. Hermenegildo Cuenca Diaz said that 47 bodies have been found here in the mud and wreckage left by a wave of water seven feet high. Army sources said Wednesday that there were 124 dead and some 300 missing.

Officials registered 10 confirmed flood deaths outside Irapuato and continued to estimate that about 300,000 persons were left homeless by the floods across the country.

Echeverria said, "This catastrophe has been without a doubt one of the worst, one of the most serious, in our history."

SHARKS FOR FOOD — The U.S. is checking the possibility of adding shark to the dinner table. Though not very popular with Americans, shark meat is a valued food source in many parts of the world. To develope boundaries for commercial fishing, sharks are being tagged and their migration followed.

Sharks Are Eyed As Food Source

By CLIVE LAWRANCE
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

NEW YORK — Through the clear, still water came the shark drawn to the small boat by hook and line. Its dorsal fin broke water under the stern and its tail swung up and thumped against the boards.

"Hold her still," said Graham MacMillan, director of shark tagging for the American Littoral Society, as he poised a long spear-like pole. A sudden jab and a small tag was firmly embedded in the tough front part of the dorsal fin.

The line was cut and the shark disappeared into the quiet depths, none the worse for its adventure. The hook would soon dissolve in its jaws, leaving no aftereffects.

One more shark had joined a research program that could someday add a new source of protein to American tables.

In some parts of the world, shark meat is already a valuable, and valued, food staple. But western North Atlantic sharks are essentially a virgin population, an underdeveloped resource in a heavily fished area.

"The implications," explains Charles Stillwell, "are that an intensive commercial shark fishery could develop at any time in the Atlantic." Stillwell heads a National Marine Fisheries Service research program that should help the United States exploit its share of that resource.

Many nations are likely to be interested in such a shark fishery. If the U.S. is to have a major part in developing what is essentially a local industry, it must, under internation law, demonstrate to other nations "how important these resources (sharks) are to the American people now and in the future," Stillwell says.

His program is a continuing effort. Now in its seventh year, it includes biologists from a number of laboratories as well as several hundred sportsmen volunteers.

So far, they have tagged over 10,600 sharkes of 30 species. They have recaptured about 3 percent of these. Such details as length, approximate weight, sex, and date and place of tagging and capture are filed with the Fisheries Service. Thus, as the data accumulates, the outline of the potential fishery emerges.

Right now, the program is still at the "finding out" stage. Stillwell admits that the researchers do not yet know what general picture will come out of the data or even how the data will be used.

He also recognizes that few people in the United States now eat sharks. The fish are generally held in disdain. But, Stillwell says, "A few sportsmen have tried them and they say they are great."

He has himself eaten five or six species, all of which he found "tasty." The best are mako and white shark, which taste something like swordfish.

For commercial fishermen, preservation will be a problem. Shark meat does not keep unless the fish is immediately processed in some way - skinned, gutted, or packed in ice. "One hour on deck is enough for the flesh to begin giving off an unpleasant odor," Stillwell says.

Although biologists don't yet know the full story of shark life cycles, it already looks as though fishermen will be dealing with highly migratory animals. Tagged sharks are proving to be extensive travelers.

For example, a blue shark tagged in New England waters traveled over 2,000 miles to South America. Tagged mako sharks have traveled from New England to Bermuda and Venezuela; sand bar sharks from New England to Florida; and a blacktip from eastern Florida to Mexico.

SHARKS FOR FOOD — The U.S. is checking the possibility of adding shark to the dinner table. Though not very popular with Americans, shark meat is a valued food source in many parts of the world. To develope boundaries for commercial fishing, sharks are being tagged and their migration followed.

BACK TO NATURE

Teddy, the Louise A. Boyd Science Museum's 7-year old American Black Bear, inspects his spacious new quarters. He was moved in yesterday by the museum, which built the $7,500 habitat complete with waterfall to approximate the natural mountain home to which Teddy can never return.

According to museum director Stephen Siegel, if Teddy were returned to the wilds of Mount Shasta where he was found, an abandoned orphan, he would be as helpless as a human raised in the wilds by a bear and "then tossed out into the middle of Market Street."

Span Budget Is Likely To Bring Call For Toll Hike

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A $35 million budget for the Golden Gate Bridge District, endorsed yesterday by a committee of bridge directors, is likely to bring about a renewed push for a toll hike on the bridge.

The proposed 50 per cent toll increase, to 75 cents for a round trip crossing, would be effective Jan. 1, if approved by the full bridge board.

The budget and finance committee, which recommended the budget by a 6-to-1 vote, set a hearing on the toll increase for 9 a.m. Sept. 13 in toll plaza offices.

Ben K. Kerer of San Francisco, who objected that the budget would push reserves almost $1 million below the $7.5 million set by the board as the minimum, cast the dissenting vote.

He and other directors agreed the district faces three choices: slash the budget, hike the tolls, or cut reserves. Reducing reserves would only postpone the need for increasing tolls, they generally agreed.

The same committee recommended the toll hike months ago, but it never came to a vote before the full board because of opposition by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

The San Francisco board's attorney has ruled that its representatives on the bridge board must vote as the supervisors direct them. His opinion has been disputed by the bridge district's attorney.

The legal dispute over how San Francisco members of the bridge board must vote will have to be faced on Sept. 13 before the toll hike issue can be resolved. Several San Francisco supervisors have indicated they now favor higher tolls.

Supervisor John L. Molinari told newsmen yesterday he would limit the increase to commuter hours.

Both Lerer and bridge board president Stephan C. Leonoudakis, also of San Francisco, said the increase was "inevitable."

District reserves as of June 30 were estimated by Auditor-Controller Robert D. Tough at $17.2 million. The reserves will tumble to about $6.6 million by the end of this fiscal year, largely because of initial costs for the $25 million ferry system.

Without a toll hike, the district will be in the red by July 1976, Tough said, but added a toll inerease would put reserves at $6 million by the same date — even after purchase of 32 more buses.

The total budget was $6,461,120 more than last year's. The district's share will be offset by approved federal grants totaling $10,445,900.

Operating expenses were up $2,138,720 over last year and capital expenses were up $4,322,400.

The committee previously had reviewed separate budgets for the span and bus and ferry operations, but until yesterday did not tie all three together to see the impact on reserves.

Appearance Challenge Being Made

A Marin Municipal Court judge's practice of requiring personal court appearances of those charged with misdemeanors is being challenged by the county public defender's office.

A hearing has been set Sept. 14 in superior court on a request by the defender's office to bar Judge Gary W. Thomas from ordering the arrest of such accused persons.

For years the defender's office has told its clients charged with misdemeanors that they don't have to show up for routine court appearances. State law allows them to be represented by their attorney, the defender's office maintained.

But Judge Thomas Tuesday ordered a 20-year-old San Rafael man, Keith Griffin, to spend one day in jail for being absent from court.

The public defender appealed the sentence to superior court, and Judge Henry J. Broderick Wednesday tossed out Thomas's order and reinstated Griffin's release from jail on his own recognizance until his case is decided. He is charged with malicious mischief.

The defender's office cites Section 977 (a) of the California Penal Code, which states, "in all cases in which the accused is charged with a misdemeanor only, he may appear by counsel only."

The district attorney's office counters that the word "may" leaves the issue up to the discretion of the judge and allows him to order personal appearances.

In at least one other case, Judge Thomas ordered the arrest of a defendant under unusual circumstances.

On June 13, Thomas ordered Patrice M. Stephens, 29, of San Jose, arrested because she failed to keep a court date.

But Mrs. Stephens had telephoned authorities and told them she was in a cast because her husband had beaten her with a shotgun.

Thomas's decision in her case was overturned by Marin Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire.

Barbecue Off

The Marinwood Firemen's Association annual Labor Day weekend barbecue will not be held due to conflicts with other activities and the rising cost and uncertain availability of meats, a spokesman said today.

Judge Declares Car Clouter A Drug Addict

A man who reportedly broke into cars at Point Reyes National Seashore, after escaping from Marin County Jail, yesterday was declared a narcotics addict in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Charles Read Best ordered Michael Earl Watson, 21, of no known address, to California Rehabilitation Center for treatment.

Watson yesterday pleaded guilty to stealing a wallet on July 14 from a car at Kehoe Beach. Two weeks earlier he had escaped from the police pistol range in San Rafael, where he was working as a jail trusty.

As part of Watson's plea bargain, Judge Best agreed to sentence him to a county jail term if he successfully completes the state treatment center's program. If he fails, he could be sent to state prison.

Watson's codefendant, Charles Alfred Wilson, 23, of Fairfax, still is awaiting his disposition of his case in superior court.

Stinson Beach Ban On Building Viewed

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — A proposed ban on all construction in Stinson Beach will be considered Tuesday by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Designed to halt pollution from septic tanks, the moratorium would be effective immediately and continue for as long as it takes the Stinson Beach County Water District to build a sewage disposal system.

The regional board said in June the ban would not apply to projects which obtain county permits before the hearing.

The board will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Alameda County Public Works Department auditorium, 399 Elmhurst Street, Hayward. It could adopt the moratorium after the hearing. While the ban would be on further septic tanks, it would bar construction since no sewage system exists.

The moratorium was proposed by the board's staff after a state geologist warned it was "highly probably" sewage will percolate from the septic tanks into the water table and adjacent lagoon.

Additional construction will further overload the soil's capacity to filter pollution out of wastes before they reach the Bolinas and Seadrift lagoons, posing an increased danger of pollution, the geologist said.

The board's order would also require existing homes be hooked up to the community waste disposal system when it is built.

Burned Astronaut Critical But Stable

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Doctors, fearful of hot gases Fred Haise Jr. inhaled in a burning plane, guardedly called the former astronaut's condition "critical but stable" today.

Haise received second and third degree burns over half his body Wednesday when the engine stopped in a World War II trainer he was flying, and the plane plunged into an open field and burned.

BACK TO NATURE

Teddy, the Louise A. Boyd Science Museum's 7-year old American Black Bear, inspects his spacious new quarters. He was moved in yesterday by the museum, which built the $7,500 habitat complete with waterfall to approximate the natural mountain home to which Teddy can never return. According to museum director Stephen Siegel, if Teddy were returned to the wilds of Mount Shasta where he was found, an abandoned orphan, he would be as helpless as a human raised in the wilds by a bear and "then tossed out into the middle of Market Street."

Span Budget Is Likely To Bring Call For Toll Hike

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

A $35 million budget for the Golden Gate Bridge District, endorsed yesterday by a committee of bridge directors, is likely to bring about a renewed push for a toll hike on the bridge.

The proposed 50 per cent toll increase, to 75 cents for a round trip crossing, would be effective Jan. 1, if approved by the full bridge board.

The budget and finance committee, which recommended the budget by a 6-to-1 vote, set a hearing on the toll increase for 9 a.m. Sept. 13 in toll plaza offices.

Ben K. Kerer of San Francisco, who objected that the budget would push reserves almost $1 million below the $7.5 million set by the board as the minimum, cast the dissenting vote.

He and other directors agreed the district faces three choices: slash the budget, hike the tolls, or cut reserves. Reducing reserves would only postpone the need for increasing tolls, they generally agreed.

The same committee recommended the toll hike months ago, but it never came to a vote before the full board because of opposition by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors.

The San Francisco board's attorney has ruled that its representatives on the bridge board must vote as the supervisors direct them. His opinion has been disputed by the bridge district's attorney.

The legal dispute over how San Francisco members of the bridge board must vote will have to be faced on Sept. 13 before the toll hike issue can be resolved. Several San Francisco supervisors have indicated they now favor higher tolls.

Supervisor John L. Molinari told newsmen yesterday he would limit the increase to commuter hours.

Both Lerer and bridge board president Stephan C. Leonoudakis, also of San Francisco, said the increase was "inevitable."

District reserves as of June 30 were estimated by Auditor-Controller Robert D. Tough at $17.2 million. The reserves will tumble to about $6.6 million by the end of this fiscal year, largely because of initial costs for the $25 million ferry system.

Without a toll hike, the district will be in the red by July 1976, Tough said, but added a toll inerease would put reserves at $6 million by the same date — even after purchase of 32 more buses.

The total budget was $6,461,120 more than last year's. The district's share will be offset by approved federal grants totaling $10,445,900.

Operating expenses were up $2,138,720 over last year and capital expenses were up $4,322,400.

The committee previously had reviewed separate budgets for the span and bus and ferry operations, but until yesterday did not tie all three together to see the impact on reserves.

Appearance Challenge Being Made

A Marin Municipal Court judge's practice of requiring personal court appearances of those charged with misdemeanors is being challenged by the county public defender's office.

A hearing has been set Sept. 14 in superior court on a request by the defender's office to bar Judge Gary W. Thomas from ordering the arrest of such accused persons.

For years the defender's office has told its clients charged with misdemeanors that they don't have to show up for routine court appearances. State law allows them to be represented by their attorney, the defender's office maintained.

But Judge Thomas Tuesday ordered a 20-year-old San Rafael man, Keith Griffin, to spend one day in jail for being absent from court.

The public defender appealed the sentence to superior court, and Judge Henry J. Broderick Wednesday tossed out Thomas's order and reinstated Griffin's release from jail on his own recognizance until his case is decided. He is charged with malicious mischief.

The defender's office cites Section 977 (a) of the California Penal Code, which states, "in all cases in which the accused is charged with a misdemeanor only, he may appear by counsel only."

The district attorney's office counters that the word "may" leaves the issue up to the discretion of the judge and allows him to order personal appearances.

In at least one other case, Judge Thomas ordered the arrest of a defendant under unusual circumstances.

On June 13, Thomas ordered Patrice M. Stephens, 29, of San Jose, arrested because she failed to keep a court date.

But Mrs. Stephens had telephoned authorities and told them she was in a cast because her husband had beaten her with a shotgun.

Thomas's decision in her case was overturned by Marin Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire.

Barbecue Off

The Marinwood Firemen's Association annual Labor Day weekend barbecue will not be held due to conflicts with other activities and the rising cost and uncertain availability of meats, a spokesman said today.

Judge Declares Car Clouter A Drug Addict

A man who reportedly broke into cars at Point Reyes National Seashore, after escaping from Marin County Jail, yesterday was declared a narcotics addict in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Charles Read Best ordered Michael Earl Watson, 21, of no known address, to California Rehabilitation Center for treatment.

Watson yesterday pleaded guilty to stealing a wallet on July 14 from a car at Kehoe Beach. Two weeks earlier he had escaped from the police pistol range in San Rafael, where he was working as a jail trusty.

As part of Watson's plea bargain, Judge Best agreed to sentence him to a county jail term if he successfully completes the state treatment center's program. If he fails, he could be sent to state prison.

Watson's codefendant, Charles Alfred Wilson, 23, of Fairfax, still is awaiting his disposition of his case in superior court.

Stinson Beach Ban On Building Viewed

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — A proposed ban on all construction in Stinson Beach will be considered Tuesday by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Designed to halt pollution from septic tanks, the moratorium would be effective immediately and continue for as long as it takes the Stinson Beach County Water District to build a sewage disposal system.

The regional board said in June the ban would not apply to projects which obtain county permits before the hearing.

The board will meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Alameda County Public Works Department auditorium, 399 Elmhurst Street, Hayward. It could adopt the moratorium after the hearing. While the ban would be on further septic tanks, it would bar construction since no sewage system exists.

The moratorium was proposed by the board's staff after a state geologist warned it was "highly probably" sewage will percolate from the septic tanks into the water table and adjacent lagoon.

Additional construction will further overload the soil's capacity to filter pollution out of wastes before they reach the Bolinas and Seadrift lagoons, posing an increased danger of pollution, the geologist said.

The board's order would also require existing homes be hooked up to the community waste disposal system when it is built.

Burned Astronaut Critical But Stable

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Doctors, fearful of hot gases Fred Haise Jr. inhaled in a burning plane, guardedly called the former astronaut's condition "critical but stable" today.

Haise received second and third degree burns over half his body Wednesday when the engine stopped in a World War II trainer he was flying, and the plane plunged into an open field and burned.

INTERESTING FACT:

Did you ever stop to think of the oddities connected with the names of some of the states of U.S.? For instance, Rhode Island is NOT an island. Part of Virginia is actually farther west than the whole state of West Virginia. Wyoming is named for the Wyoming Valley of Pennsylvania and yet the Wyoming Valley of Pennsylvania has nothing to do with the state of Wyoming. And, part of North Carolina is farther south than parts of South Carolina. AND HERE ARE OTHER INTERESTING FACTS . . .

Marin Relay Team 2nd, Backhaus 3rd In Swimming

I-J Special Report

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Olympian Robin Backhaus of San Rafael last night finished third behind a meet-record performance in the men's 200-meter freestyle at the National Amateur Athletic Union Long Course swimming championships at the Plantation Country Club here.

Backhaus swam four lengths of the Plantation pool in 1:54.6, which tied the 1970 standard set by Mark Spitz. It also bettered Backhaus' previous best time by two and one half seconds.

In the same race, however, Jim Montgomery of the Badger Dolphins, Madison, Wis., shattered the old record by turning in a 1:53.7. In the preliminary heats, Montgomery recorded a 1:54.0.

Backhaus also swam the third leg for Marin Aquatic Club's second-place 400-meter medley relay team. Finishing in 4:01.1, the relay team would have ended up third, but the Santa Clara Swim Club was disqualified after John Hencken splashed into the pool to congratulate freestyler Joe Bottom, who had just triggered the clock to record victory.

There were still three teams left in the pool and an instant disqualification was ruled. That gave Indiana University's Gatorade team first place and moved Marin into second.

"It was a superb effort," exulted Marin coach Don Swartz. "It was a tight battle for third (before the disqualification), with three other teams under 4:02.0. Everybody on the team turned in their best time ever."

Art Morrill led off in the backstroke and turned in a 1:03.2 leg, two and one half seconds faster than his previous best. Keith Strange turned in a 1:08.9 for the breaststroke leg, Backhaus a 55.9 for the butterfly and Rick DeMont a 53.1 for the freestyle anchor leg. Altogether, the four combined to clip six and one half seconds off their fastest time.

Other Marinites to place yesterday were DeMont, who took sixth in the 200-meter individual medley with a 4:40.6 — two seconds faster than his previous best — and Jo Hislop, who took 20th in the women's 200 free with a 2:14.0.

After two days of competition, Marin is in third place with 103 points. Santa Clara is still out in front with 160 points, but Gatorade is just behind with 152.

MUST WIN TONIGHT

Italian Club '9' Takes 3-1 Loss

I-J Special Report

STOCKTON — The Italian Athletic Club, after making the least of several opportunities Thursday night against Stockton, will be facing a "must-win" situation tonight in the state Joe DiMaggio baseball tournament.

The Marinites will send lefthander Mark Ruggles to the mound at 8:30 p.m. against Los Angeles Central in a game which will mean death to the loser in this double-elimination tourney.

Thursday night, the Italian Club left 11 runners on base in a 3-1 loss to Stockton, saddling pitcher Gene Frey with a defeat he strove mightily to avoid.

Frey allowed just three hits, struck out seven and walked nobody, and in the third inning crashed an opposite-field home run over the 336-foot sign in right center for the Marinites' lone run.

The Italians loaded the bases in the fourth and fifth innings with two out, but failed to score either time, and in the sixth had runners on first and second when Gary LaTorre's deep drive to left field was caught.

Stockton combined three straight hits and a sacrifice fly for two runs in the fourth inning, and added another tally in the fifth on a hit batsman, two passed balls and a sacrifice fly.

Rich Lopez stroked two singles in three times off Stockton's Doug Haines, who scattered five hits.

Raiders, Vikings In First Meeting

BERKELEY (AP) — The Oakland Raiders and Minnesota Vikings, each winner of division titles in four of the last five seasons, clash Saturday for the first time ever at the University of California's Memorial Stadium.

But neither club is likely to show the other too much in the National Football League exhibition game starting at 7 p.m. PDT. Oakland's Coach John Madden and the Vikings' Bud Grant will want to hold back a few surprises for Sept. 16 when their teams meet in Minnesota in the regular season opener.

Both the Raiders and Vikings are unbeaten so far in preseason play. Minnesota beat Pittsburgh 10-6 and last Sunday edged the Chiefs in Kansas City 13-10. Oakland tied New England 17-17 in its exhibition opener, then beat Dallas 27-26 and Los Angeles 16-3.

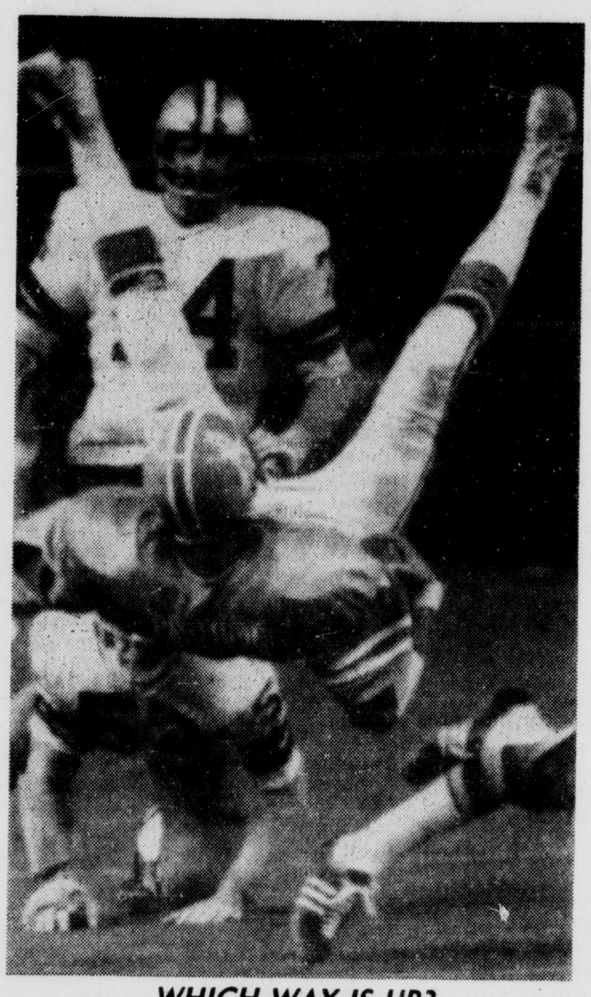
Last Sunday's victory over the Rams was played here on the University of California field, and 45-year-old George Blanda kicked three field goals. For the three preseason games, Blanda has six field goals and six conversions to lead Raider scoring with 24 points.

Madden says he expects the Vikings to "be a good challenge for our offense."

The Raiders will need to have their well-balanced offense clicking against the veteran Minnesota defense, because it is part of Grant's strategy to force opponents to the airways. The Vikings led their conference last year in pass defense and had a conference high of 26 interceptions.

An interception by cornerback Nate Wright opened the way for a drive to the winning field goal with 1:03 left at Kansas City.

Each club reports an injured defensive tackle. Gary Larsen of Minnesota will be sidelined with a sore instep, and Tony Cline of the Raiders has a minor leg injury.



WHICH WAY IS UP?

Houston Oilers quarterback Dan Pastorini was upended by Dallas Cowboy linebacker Dave Edwards (52) after an eight-yard gain late in the fourth quarter of last night's action in Houston. The Oilers won the game 27-24. See football roundup, page 38. (UPI Telephoto)

Mill Valley Woman Sets Bowling Mark

Sheila Macdonald of Mill Valley Thursday set a new Marin County women's high-game mark at Country Club Bowl with a 289, breaking the old mark of 288 set by Vivian Gray in 1962.

The 31-year-old mother of four bowled 10 consecutive strikes, but left the 10 pin on her 11th ball. She picked up the pin on the next ball.

"It was fitting," she said. "I've blown a lot of good games by leaving the ten pin. Half of the thrill was picking it up, because I usually blow the ten pin."

Mrs. Macdonald followed her near perfect game with a 180 and a 168 — closer to her 164 average —to record a 637 in the Thursday Morning Sleeper League.

Going into the lanes in her "usual fog," Mrs. Macdonald had no thoughts of a record breaking performance. "I just kept hanging in there and got lucky, there was no real skill involved," she said. Everyone was real pleased, but I just wish there was half a roast beef involved in this thing."

Mrs. Macdonald has been bowling "on and off" for eight years and recorded her previous high game of 245 four months ago.

Illinois Scrimmages

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — The Illinois football squad had a pair of heated scrimmages Thursday and Coach Bob Blackman said he was "pleased" with the contact.

Fox Says Giants Still Have Chance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants, who trail Los Angeles in the National League West by seven games with only 37 games left to play, "still have a whack at the division championship," their manager, Charlie Fox, says.

The Giants open a three-game series here tonight against the New York Mets with Juan Marichal, 10-9, going against the Mets' Jerry Koosman, 9-14.

With a day off after a three-game sweep at Montreal, the Giants fell another half game behind the pace-setting Dodgers who beat the Mets 5-4 Thursday.

Fox has no lineup changes planned for the series here, he said, other than perhaps to rest Willie McCovey on Sunday. McCovey is having trouble with an arthritic right knee. Ed Goodson, who suffered a hairline finger fracture a week ago in Pittsburgh in a collision with catcher Dave Rader, may be used against the Mets to pinch hit. Goodson is batting .302.

The Giants have won six of their last eight games and moving Gary Matthews to leadoff seems to be working well. Matthews has nine hits in 19 trips since going to the top of the batting order. He says he took too many good pitches when he batted first earlier this season, but now "I go up there a-swinging."

Hot A's Host Yankees; Hunter To Face Medich

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics will open a three-game series here tonight against the New York Yankees who, two weeks ago, started the A's on their red-hot winning streak.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter, 15-3, will pitch against the Yankees' George Medich, 10-6.

Two weeks ago, the A's scored seven times in the last three innings to beat New York, 13-12. Since then, Oakland has won 10 of their last 11 games and captured first place in the American League West. Kansas City is second, two games bacj.

Hunter is making his second start in a month since injuring his right thumb in the All-Star game July 24. Last weekend, he threw five innings against Milwaukee before being relieved. He did not receive credit for the win.

Ronn Perry Pitches Softball Perfect Game

Ronn Perry threw a perfect game last night to lead Denny's Mobil to a 4-0 victory over Round Table Pizza in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league game at Albert Field.

In other games last night, SMB Flyers edged Perry's, 9-7, and KFC pounded Ad-Lite, 9-2, with Chris Hanson hitting a home run for KFC.

Treachery Lurks On Dipsea Trail

Behind a beautiful facade, there sometimes lurks untold evil and treachery.

A case in point would be the Dipsea trail, which will be cajoled, trampled and cursed by nearly 1,600 runners Sunday when the Mill Valley Jaycees hold the 63rd annual Dipsea race.

Unmatched for its scenic beauty, the 6.8 mile Dipsea trail starts at Lytton Square in Mill Valley and then winds its way through Muir Woods and along Highway 1 to the post office at Stinson Beach.

In between, the runners will have to contend with steep ravines, narrow trails, three brutal hills and each other.

The first part of the race is deceptively easy — a jaunt up Throckmorton Avenue into Old Mill Park — but then the runners must climb the infamous Dipsea steps, 671 of them. The steps are four feet wide at the base, but narrow down to not much more than two at the top, so runners arriving 20 abreast have to form file to ascend.

At the top of the steps the trail widens onto Sequoia Valley Road and passes through the 4-H Ranch, whict gives the scratch runners their first real opportunity to pass handicappers.

The trail narrows again and winds its way 750 feet up to the crest of the first hill at Windy Gap. The runners then descend along Highway 1, through the Muir Woods' parking lot and across shallow Muir Creek to pick up the trail again.

Next comes the brutal trek up Hog's Back Ridge and Cardiac Hill, a two-and one-half mile stretch that ascends 1,200 feet and separates the men from the boys, so to speak. Heat prostration is a danger on a hot day, but Cardiac Hill provides another opportunity for passing handicapped runners.

The ocean and San Francisco can be seen for the first time from the crest of Cardiac Hill, which is called Lone Pine for obvious reasons.

The runners, however many are left, then continue on through Swoop Hollow and Steep Ravine, a 1,300-foot descent in a mile and one half. Due to rain erosion, this is the most dangerous spot on the course, according to tournament director Hal Graves.

After navigating Steep Ravine, runners are required to ascend Insult Hill — the smallest of the three — before pouring it on at the finish. Insult Hill is only 200 feet, but after traversing five and a half miles of rugged terrain, even an ant hill seems steep.

Passing the crest of Insult Hill at White Barn Gate (the barn burned down years ago), the remaining runners then have a mile downhill stretch to the finish line. If the handicap system is valid, this is where the scratch runners will finally pass the handicappers.

If the excitement, or physical effort, of the race is too much, there will be six or seven checkpoints along the way and an ambulance and medical people at the finish. The checkpoints will be equipped with radio in case of emergencies.

Summing up the course, Graves said, "It's tough when you have 100 people, and we're going to have 1,500 to 1,600 runners."

76ers' Collins Hurt, Out Up To Six Weeks

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Doug Collins, the No. 1 draft choice of the Philadelphia 76ers, suffered a fracture of his left foot and will be out of action for four to six weeks.

A club spokesman said Tuesday Collins injured a metatarsal bone during an All-Star game in Springfield, Mass., last Wednesday and a cast was put on Friday after an examination by club physician Dr. Joseph Torg. The cast will remain on for two weeks.

Reopening Slated By Sears Point

Sears Point International Raceway will officially reopen to the public Sept. 15-16 with a major championship sports car race sponsored by Rough Rider, a Napa manufacturer of men's sports clothes.

The Rough Rider Nationals, sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America, will be the final event of the 1973 Gold Rush Series which determines West Coast championships in each of SCCA's racing divisions.

On Sept. 22-23, the Sonoma County racing facility located at the junction of highways 37 and 121 will host the World Championship Drag Racing point meet. It will feature the top drag racing stars of the nation in a National Hot Rod Association event on the 750-acre plant.

This racing doubleheader reintroduces the Sears Point motor sport facility after nearly three years of inactivity, which began in May, 1970. Belvedere's Hugh Harn and Napa's Parker Archer, co-owners of the facility, plan new construction. On Aug. 8, Bob Bondurant's Driving School moved its headquarters from Ontario Motor Speedway to Sears Point.

This move underlines the anticipated changes leading up to the racing doubleheader next month. "This is our way of indicating Sears Point will become the center of major Bay Area motor sports action in the years to come," Archer said.

The Rough Rider Nationals is expected to bring more than 300 of the country's finest road racers to Northern California. As the final event in the Western Divisional Championship, it is expected to decide many class titlists.

The NHRA Drag Race is also the final point meet in a nationwide series and is the only major NHRA drag race held this year in the Bay Area.

In announcing the weekend scheduling, Archer stressed Thursday that "it will be our only spectator races of the year unless there is a cancellation somewhere else.

"But for now," he continued, "it looks like we're off and running." Sears Point officials got the official go-ahead from Sonoma County last Friday, according to Archer.

Archer, who was in Chicago this week for the SCCA convention on Tuesday and Wednesday, is beginning to map out plans for next year. He noted that "Nothing has been set yet, but I was surprised back in Chicago to learn that they're (SCCA) already talking about next year's schedule."

QB Trade Rumor Denied By Nolan

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — San Francisco 49ers Coach Dick Nolan has denied reports that he is considering trading veteran quarterback John Brodie to the Cincinnati Bengals.

"I haven't talked to Cincinnati in over a month and when I did, John's name wasn't mentioned," Nolan said Thursday.

"I'm always willing to listen to any club's offer, but none of our quarterbacks' names have been specifically mentioned."

The 49ers are shallow in running backs, but deep in quarterbacks with Brodie, Steve Spurrier, Joe Reed and rookie Dennis Morrison. Reports suggested that Brodie may be traded for Bengals' running back Jess Phillips.

Bengals Coack Paul Brown also denied talk of a trade. Phillips has averaged 4.4 yards per carry over five seasons for a total of 1,859 yards rushing.

Nolan also said running back J.D. Smith, picked up as a free agent from Denver this week, will not play in Sunday's game against the Broncos.

In between, the runners will have to contend with steep ravines, narrow trails, three brutal hills and each other.

The first part of the race is deceptively easy — a jaunt up Throckmorton Avenue into Old Mill Park — but then the runners must climb the infamous Dipsea steps, 671 of them. The steps are four feet wide at the base, but narrow down to not much more than two at the top, so runners arriving 20 abreast have to form file to ascend.

At the top of the steps the trail widens onto Sequoia Valley Road and passes through the 4-H Ranch, whict gives the scratch runners their first real opportunity to pass handicappers.

The trail narrows again and winds its way 750 feet up to the crest of the first hill at Windy Gap. The runners then descend along Highway 1, through the Muir Woods' parking lot and across shallow Muir Creek to pick up the trail again.

Next comes the brutal trek up Hog's Back Ridge and Cardiac Hill, a two-and one-half mile stretch that ascends 1,200 feet and separates the men from the boys, so to speak. Heat prostration is a danger on a hot day, but Cardiac Hill provides another opportunity for passing handicapped runners.

The ocean and San Francisco can be seen for the first time from the crest of Cardiac Hill, which is called Lone Pine for obvious reasons.

The runners, however many are left, then continue on through Swoop Hollow and Steep Ravine, a 1,300-foot descent in a mile and one half. Due to rain erosion, this is the most dangerous spot on the course, according to tournament director Hal Graves.

After navigating Steep Ravine, runners are required to ascend Insult Hill — the smallest of the three — before pouring it on at the finish. Insult Hill is only 200 feet, but after traversing five and a half miles of rugged terrain, even an ant hill seems steep.

Passing the crest of Insult Hill at White Barn Gate (the barn burned down years ago), the remaining runners then have a mile downhill stretch to the finish line. If the handicap system is valid, this is where the scratch runners will finally pass the handicappers.

If the excitement, or physical effort, of the race is too much, there will be six or seven checkpoints along the way and an ambulance and medical people at the finish. The checkpoints will be equipped with radio in case of emergencies.

Summing up the course, Graves said, "It's tough when you have 100 people, and we're going to have 1,500 to 1,600 runners."

Reopening Slated By Sears Point

Sears Point International Raceway will officially reopen to the public Sept. 15-16 with a major championship sports car race sponsored by Rough Rider, a Napa manufacturer of men's sports clothes.

The Rough Rider Nationals, sanctioned by the Sports Car Club of America, will be the final event of the 1973 Gold Rush Series which determines West Coast championships in each of SCCA's racing divisions.

On Sept. 22-23, the Sonoma County racing facility located at the junction of highways 37 and 121 will host the World Championship Drag Racing point meet. It will feature the top drag racing stars of the nation in a National Hot Rod Association event on the 750-acre plant.

This racing doubleheader reintroduces the Sears Point motor sport facility after nearly three years of inactivity, which began in May, 1970. Belvedere's Hugh Harn and Napa's Parker Archer, co-owners of the facility, plan new construction. On Aug. 8, Bob Bondurant's Driving School moved its headquarters from Ontario Motor Speedway to Sears Point.

This move underlines the anticipated changes leading up to the racing doubleheader next month. "This is our way of indicating Sears Point will become the center of major Bay Area motor sports action in the years to come," Archer said.

The Rough Rider Nationals is expected to bring more than 300 of the country's finest road racers to Northern California. As the final event in the Western Divisional Championship, it is expected to decide many class titlists.

The NHRA Drag Race is also the final point meet in a nationwide series and is the only major NHRA drag race held this year in the Bay Area.

In announcing the weekend scheduling, Archer stressed Thursday that "it will be our only spectator races of the year unless there is a cancellation somewhere else.

"But for now," he continued, "it looks like we're off and running." Sears Point officials got the official go-ahead from Sonoma County last Friday, according to Archer.

Archer, who was in Chicago this week for the SCCA convention on Tuesday and Wednesday, is beginning to map out plans for next year. He noted that "Nothing has been set yet, but I was surprised back in Chicago to learn that they're (SCCA) already talking about next year's schedule."

Mill Valley Woman Sets Bowling Mark

Sheila Macdonald of Mill Valley Thursday set a new Marin County women's high-game mark at Country Club Bowl with a 289, breaking the old mark of 288 set by Vivian Gray in 1962.

The 31-year-old mother of four bowled 10 consecutive strikes, but left the 10 pin on her 11th ball. She picked up the pin on the next ball.

"It was fitting," she said. "I've blown a lot of good games by leaving the ten pin. Half of the thrill was picking it up, because I usually blow the ten pin."

Mrs. Macdonald followed her near perfect game with a 180 and a 168 — closer to her 164 average —to record a 637 in the Thursday Morning Sleeper League.

Going into the lanes in her "usual fog," Mrs. Macdonald had no thoughts of a record breaking performance. "I just kept hanging in there and got lucky, there was no real skill involved," she said. Everyone was real pleased, but I just wish there was half a roast beef involved in this thing."

Mrs. Macdonald has been bowling "on and off" for eight years and recorded her previous high game of 245 four months ago.

Illinois Scrimmages

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI) — The Illinois football squad had a pair of heated scrimmages Thursday and Coach Bob Blackman said he was "pleased" with the contact.

Fox Says Giants Still Have Chance

NEW YORK (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants, who trail Los Angeles in the National League West by seven games with only 37 games left to play, "still have a whack at the division championship," their manager, Charlie Fox, says.

The Giants open a three-game series here tonight against the New York Mets with Juan Marichal, 10-9, going against the Mets' Jerry Koosman, 9-14.

With a day off after a three-game sweep at Montreal, the Giants fell another half game behind the pace-setting Dodgers who beat the Mets 5-4 Thursday.

Fox has no lineup changes planned for the series here, he said, other than perhaps to rest Willie McCovey on Sunday. McCovey is having trouble with an arthritic right knee. Ed Goodson, who suffered a hairline finger fracture a week ago in Pittsburgh in a collision with catcher Dave Rader, may be used against the Mets to pinch hit. Goodson is batting .302.

The Giants have won six of their last eight games and moving Gary Matthews to leadoff seems to be working well. Matthews has nine hits in 19 trips since going to the top of the batting order. He says he took too many good pitches when he batted first earlier this season, but now "I go up there a-swinging."

Hot A's Host Yankees; Hunter To Face Medich

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics will open a three-game series here tonight against the New York Yankees who, two weeks ago, started the A's on their red-hot winning streak.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter, 15-3, will pitch against the Yankees' George Medich, 10-6.

Two weeks ago, the A's scored seven times in the last three innings to beat New York, 13-12. Since then, Oakland has won 10 of their last 11 games and captured first place in the American League West. Kansas City is second, two games bacj.

Hunter is making his second start in a month since injuring his right thumb in the All-Star game July 24. Last weekend, he threw five innings against Milwaukee before being relieved. He did not receive credit for the win.

Ronn Perry Pitches Softball Perfect Game

Ronn Perry threw a perfect game last night to lead Denny's Mobil to a 4-0 victory over Round Table Pizza in a San Rafael Recreation Department adult softball league game at Albert Field.

In other games last night, SMB Flyers edged Perry's, 9-7, and KFC pounded Ad-Lite, 9-2, with Chris Hanson hitting a home run for KFC.

76ers' Collins Hurt, Out Up To Six Weeks

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Doug Collins, the No. 1 draft choice of the Philadelphia 76ers, suffered a fracture of his left foot and will be out of action for four to six weeks.

A club spokesman said Tuesday Collins injured a metatarsal bone during an All-Star game in Springfield, Mass., last Wednesday and a cast was put on Friday after an examination by club physician Dr. Joseph Torg. The cast will remain on for two weeks.

QB Trade Rumor Denied By Nolan

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — San Francisco 49ers Coach Dick Nolan has denied reports that he is considering trading veteran quarterback John Brodie to the Cincinnati Bengals.

"I haven't talked to Cincinnati in over a month and when I did, John's name wasn't mentioned," Nolan said Thursday.

"I'm always willing to listen to any club's offer, but none of our quarterbacks' names have been specifically mentioned."

The 49ers are shallow in running backs, but deep in quarterbacks with Brodie, Steve Spurrier, Joe Reed and rookie Dennis Morrison. Reports suggested that Brodie may be traded for Bengals' running back Jess Phillips.

Bengals Coack Paul Brown also denied talk of a trade. Phillips has averaged 4.4 yards per carry over five seasons for a total of 1,859 yards rushing.

Nolan also said running back J.D. Smith, picked up as a free agent from Denver this week, will not play in Sunday's game against the Broncos.

FISH AND GAME

Concern Rises Over Botulism

With the arrival of the first flights of northern ducks in the Tulare Lake Basin, concern is rising over the probability of a massive outbreak of botulism among waterfowl wintering in the state.

The Department of Fish and Game said that fear of the botulism flareup increased with the discovery of maggot-infested carcasses on the Kern National Wildlife Refuse where losses were continuing. Decomposing carcasses are a major factor in the spread of the disease.

According to the Department of Fish and Game's weekly botulism report, the infected carcasses had been missed in the heavy vegetation during the daily searches for the pickup of dead birds.

Federal and state officials have redoubled control work in an effort to halt the outbreak before the arrival of most wintering birds from Canada.

However, prompt action in picking up most dead birds on the refuge was credited with limiting losses to about 20 birds a day.

Meanwhile, losses in the irrigated Tulare Lake Basin, one of the state's historic trouble areas for botulism, were averaging less than 20 birds daily. The earlier problem on the Pixley National Wildlife Refuge was considered eliminated.

Estimated losses of birds to botulism in all areas of the southern San Joaquin Valley since the first outbreak on June 20 included 1,659 ducks and 1,134 shorebirds and others.

Losses by area were Kern National Wildlife Refuge, 1,099 ducks and 594 others; Pixley National Wildlife Refuge, 130 and 24; and Tulare Lake Basin, 255 and 384. Some 179 ducks and 132 other birds died in the field hospital at the Kern refuge.

In addition, 569 ducks and 129 other waterfowl have been treated at and released from the field hospital. Of the birds hospitalized, 60 per cent of the ducks and five per cent of the shorebirds survived.

As pre-irrigation flooding continued in the basin, an estimated 4,000 acres of cropland were under water, up about 500 acres from the previous week. About 16,000 birds were in the basin.

All flooded areas were being checked daily from the ground and weekly from the air in the joint Department of Fish and Game - U.S. Wildlife Service effort.

SALES OF 1973-74 hunting licenses and deer tags are running far ahead of those for last year.

For July, the first month of the new license year, the Department of Fish and Game reported license sales totaling 5,357, up 712 from the 4,645 for the initial month last year.

Deer tag sales for July totaled 4,675, up 1,235 from last year's 3,440.

Department of Fish and Game license chief James Christopher declined to speculate regarding the reasons for the increased license and tag sales, but he said the development was "pleasant news after several years of decline" in such sales.

He said he expected the heavier volume to continue.

Department spokesmen previously had said the shortage of beef and increased met prices could result in more interest in hunting and, therefore, a greater volume of license and tag sales.

Some 628,800 licenses were sold last year, a drop from the previous year's 698,799. Deer tag sales for the last two years totalled 353,300 and 384,240, respectively.

IN MARIN COUNTY, the deer take as of the 12th day of this season is 67 bucks. This count is established from the number of tags received. Last year as of the 12th day, the count was 57. Mendocino County leads with bucks taken with a 764 figure. Last year the Mendocino count was 760.

KEITH FRASER of Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle Shop said Thursday Bob Armitage of Sacramento still leads the Lord of the Sea Summer Striper Derby concluding Sept. 9. Armitage has a 26-pound, two-ouncer, he has led since the derby opened Aug. 4. Ed Gherman of Cloverdale took over second place Saturday by landing a 25-pound, eight-ouncer. His catch won him the weekly prize — a $40 rod and reel outfit. This week's leader is Jack Ireland of Tiburon with a 17-footer caught Thursday morning drifting a live shiner at The Sisters.

U.S. Cagers Face Soviets For Crown

MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States, its spirits brightened by a five gold medal sweep in swimming, can gain a measure of satisfaction in its futile chase of the Soviet Union at the World University Games today when the two powerful nations meet head-to-head in the honor-bound finals of the basketball competition.

The U.S., whose battle-fatigued cagers had to struggle to a narrow 66-60 victory over Brazil after Wednesday's chair-throwing brawl with Cuba, can atone for the Americans' overall disappointing showing in the Games with one quick KO of the Russians. The Soviets earned the right to the final by beating Canada, 89-74.

Regardless of the basketball outcome—or even of the David Johnson-led five gold medals the Americans took in swimming Thursday—the host Russians' insurmountable gold medal total has now reached 56 while the U.S. is a distant but solid second with 13.

Johnson, of San Diego, Calif., who won the 200-meter backstroke on Wednesday, came back 24 hours later to cop the 100-meter event in 59.9 after trailing at the turn. Johnson thus joined teammate Allen Poucher of Jacksonville, Fla., as the only U.S. athletes to hold two individual gold medals.

Jack Tingley of Louisville, Ky., then added the men's 400-meter freestyle to the American gold, winning in a new games record of 4:02.9.

Phils' Robinson Worries Rivals

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Bill Robinson, who almost worried himself out of baseball only two years ago, has finally become a cause of worry to the opposition.

Robinson, billed as a future superstar when he came to the New York Yankees in a trade with Atlanta in 1967, let a case of nerves almost ruin his career and seriously contemplated quitting in 1971 when he failed in an effort to make the Chicago White Sox.

He decided to give himself one more chance, however, and adopted a new approach to the game which succeeded in helping him develop his natural talents to a professional level.

Robinson's new philospophy was simple—relax. He decided not to worry about his play in the field, and it began to pay off last year when he hit .304 with 20 homers at Eugene in the Pacific Coast League.

That resulted in his being called up to the Philadelphia Phillies for the second half of last season, and though he batted only .239 in 82 games, he delivered some timely hits.

This year he has been a terror at the plate since the opening of the season. His play reached a high point Thursday night when he belted a pair of homers to lead the Phillies to a 6-3 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Robinson, who has belted 21 homers this year—only three less than he had hit in four previous big league seasons—has played in 90 of the Phillies' 126 games so far and is batting .298 with 55 runs batted in.

Robinson's two homers and a solo shot by Greg Luzinksi, his 23rd, enabled Jim Lonborg to notch his 11th victory in 21 decisions. It also spoiled a fine performance by second-year man Dave Roberts of the Padres, who had a double, triple and homer in a losing effort.

In the only other National League contests, Los Angeles downed New York 5-4 and Chicago edged Cincinnati in 10 innings, 4-3. California defeated Milwaukee 6-3 in the only American League game.

Joe Ferguson's third double of the game scored Willie Davis with the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning to give the Dodgers a victory over the Mets. Claude Osteen went the distance for the Dodgers to gain his 15th victory. The triumph enabled the first place Dodgers to move three games ahead of Cincinnati in the NL West.

Don Kessinger's single with two out in the 10th scored Randy Hundley and gave the Cubs their third straight triumph over the Reds.

Relief pitcher Chris Short walked two batters in succession to force home the tying and go-ahead runs during a five-run seventh inning and give the Angels a victory over the Brewers.

George Scott had a two-run homer and Don Money a solo shot for the Brewers.

GOLF NOTES

1-2-3-4 On 8th At Meadow Club

One . . . Two . . . Three . . . Four!

A hole-in-one, a birdie two, a par three and a bogey four were recorded by a golfing foursome last Sunday at the Meadow Club near Fairfax.

On the par three, 145-year eighth hole, Joseph Costamagna recorded his first ace. It came in Costamagna's first round he has played after a four-month layoff due to illness. Al Finocchio, Gus Colvin and Dean Solinsky witnessed the five wood shot. "It was the only hole I could reach in one," Costamagna said.

On that same hole, Finocchio contributed a birdie, Colvin a par and Solinsky a bogey, giving the foursome scores of 1-2-3-4.

CHRISTOPHER GRIFFIN, 53, has returned to Marin Country Club as an assistant golf pro.

Griffin, who was an assistant under pro Buddy Sullivan from August, 1970 to May, 1971, was selected by pro Bill Leahy Aug. 1. Griffin replaces Paul Fakundiny who is trying to qualify for his players permit on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

The 5-foot-9, 165-pound Larkspur resident managed the Hamilton Air Force Base driving range from May, 1971, to Sept., 1972. In September, he did maintenance work for the Reed Union School District in Tiburon.

"I was working there when Bill asked me to come back here. I manage the shop here. That's my primary duty. But I'll also give some lessons," Griffin said.

DEFENDING champion Bob Gaillard of San Francisco heads a 400-plus field set to compete Sept. 14-15 in the men's 36-hole Marin Amateur Golf Championship at San Geronimo National Golf Club.

Gaillard, the University of San Francisco basketball team coach, will be among the Bay Area golfers playing for $5,000 in prizes in the Kiwanis Club of San Rafael-sponsored event. Entry forms are available through Sept. 7 by contacting the Kiwanis Club of San Rafael, P.O. Box 353, San Rafael, Calif., 94902.

Costs are $20 for championship flight or $15 for the Handicap or Callaway flights. Championship flight golfers play 36 holes; Handicap and Callaway participants shoot 18.

A PRO-AM tourney has been added to the Red Cross Golf Tournament slated Oct. 10 at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael.

Marin County golf club pros will participate in a best-ball threesome tourney. Each team will consist of a club pro plus another man and a woman. Scratch play will be used for the pros, handicaps for the others.

Some 100 players are expected to take part in the second annual Red Cross tourney over 18 holes. Starting times are from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for tourney costing $20 per person. Entries, which can be obtained until Sept. 28, are available at the Red Cross, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, 94901.

A HOLE-in-one and an eagle two were recorded recently at San Geronimo National Golf Club. Bus Cramer of Novato aced the par three, 13th hole Aug. 16. He used a five iron on the 135-year hole. Cramer's ace, his second, was witnessed by Al Lawton, John Meeman, Hal Ramsey and Alex Graham.

It's taken nearly a month but Coach Don Shula of the World Champion Miami Dolphins finally will get his Super Bowl backfield together again.

Fullback Larry Csonka, who has missed all three Miami preseason games since the victory over the College All-Stars, and Mercury Morris will join quarterback Bob Griese, out last week with an elbow infection, in the Miami backfield tonight when the Dolphins play host to the Los Angeles Rams. Csonka has been out with a calf injury and Morris has a bad hip.

Cincinnati is at Detroit in the only other game scheduled tonight while in Saturday action, Atlanta plays Cleveland at Knoxville, Tenn., Oakland meets Minnesota at Berkeley, Calif., Baltimore is at Washington, New England at New Orleans, Philadelphia at San Diego and the New York Jets at St. Louis.

The victory was Houston's first after three straight preseason losses and a 1-13 record last year.

In news from the camps Thursday, running back John Riggins, who reported five weeks late and sporting a Mohican haircut, said he will sit down with Weeb Ewbank, the New York Jets' coach and general manager, to discuss contract terms this weekend. Riggins was the Jets' MVP last season.

Three Tied For Lead In L&M Open Golf Tourney

CARY, N.C. (UPI) —Allen Miller said the fans crowded around the 18th tee at MacGregor Downs Country Club were like "a bunch of buzzards."

The fans huddled around the tee at the top of a long hill and watched golfer after golfer smack balls into a lake below. Miller's description was apt. The fans witnessed more misery in one afternoon than they would see on a week of TV soap operas.

Three of the men able to finesse the 18th Thursday were Brian "Buddy" Allin, Dave Stockton and Dave Eichelberger, who also finessed the entire course with four-underpar 67s to share the first round lead in the $100,000 L&M Open. Miller and four others were just one shot back.

After today's second round, the top eight men in the L&M will leave the tournament for the $150,000 U.S. Professional Match Play championship, which is to be played simultaneously with the final two rounds of the L&M on the same course Saturday and Sunday.

Backhaus was scheduled to swim the 200 fly tonight and Strange the 200-breast. "I expect him to qualify for the finals, and he has a good chance of winning," Swartz said about Backhaus' chances.

Olympic veteran Shirley Babashoff of the Huntington Beach Aquatic Club was clocked in 2:04.6 in the women's 200 free, breaking previous meet record of 2:07.0 set by Keena Rothhammer of the Santa Clara club set earlier in the day.

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Concern Rises Over Botulism

With the arrival of the first flights of northern ducks in the Tulare Lake Basin, concern is rising over the probability of a massive outbreak of botulism among waterfowl wintering in the state.

The Department of Fish and Game said that fear of the botulism flareup increased with the discovery of maggot-infested carcasses on the Kern National Wildlife Refuse where losses were continuing. Decomposing carcasses are a major factor in the spread of the disease.

According to the Department of Fish and Game's weekly botulism report, the infected carcasses had been missed in the heavy vegetation during the daily searches for the pickup of dead birds.

Federal and state officials have redoubled control work in an effort to halt the outbreak before the arrival of most wintering birds from Canada.

However, prompt action in picking up most dead birds on the refuge was credited with limiting losses to about 20 birds a day.

Meanwhile, losses in the irrigated Tulare Lake Basin, one of the state's historic trouble areas for botulism, were averaging less than 20 birds daily. The earlier problem on the Pixley National Wildlife Refuge was considered eliminated.

Estimated losses of birds to botulism in all areas of the southern San Joaquin Valley since the first outbreak on June 20 included 1,659 ducks and 1,134 shorebirds and others.

Losses by area were Kern National Wildlife Refuge, 1,099 ducks and 594 others; Pixley National Wildlife Refuge, 130 and 24; and Tulare Lake Basin, 255 and 384. Some 179 ducks and 132 other birds died in the field hospital at the Kern refuge.

In addition, 569 ducks and 129 other waterfowl have been treated at and released from the field hospital. Of the birds hospitalized, 60 per cent of the ducks and five per cent of the shorebirds survived.

As pre-irrigation flooding continued in the basin, an estimated 4,000 acres of cropland were under water, up about 500 acres from the previous week. About 16,000 birds were in the basin.

All flooded areas were being checked daily from the ground and weekly from the air in the joint Department of Fish and Game - U.S. Wildlife Service effort.

SALES OF 1973-74 hunting licenses and deer tags are running far ahead of those for last year.

For July, the first month of the new license year, the Department of Fish and Game reported license sales totaling 5,357, up 712 from the 4,645 for the initial month last year.

Deer tag sales for July totaled 4,675, up 1,235 from last year's 3,440.

Department of Fish and Game license chief James Christopher declined to speculate regarding the reasons for the increased license and tag sales, but he said the development was "pleasant news after several years of decline" in such sales.

He said he expected the heavier volume to continue.

Department spokesmen previously had said the shortage of beef and increased met prices could result in more interest in hunting and, therefore, a greater volume of license and tag sales.

Some 628,800 licenses were sold last year, a drop from the previous year's 698,799. Deer tag sales for the last two years totalled 353,300 and 384,240, respectively.

IN MARIN COUNTY, the deer take as of the 12th day of this season is 67 bucks. This count is established from the number of tags received. Last year as of the 12th day, the count was 57. Mendocino County leads with bucks taken with a 764 figure. Last year the Mendocino count was 760.

KEITH FRASER of Loch Lomond Live Bait and Tackle Shop said Thursday Bob Armitage of Sacramento still leads the Lord of the Sea Summer Striper Derby concluding Sept. 9. Armitage has a 26-pound, two-ouncer, he has led since the derby opened Aug. 4. Ed Gherman of Cloverdale took over second place Saturday by landing a 25-pound, eight-ouncer. His catch won him the weekly prize — a $40 rod and reel outfit. This week's leader is Jack Ireland of Tiburon with a 17-footer caught Thursday morning drifting a live shiner at The Sisters.

U.S. Cagers Face Soviets For Crown

MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States, its spirits brightened by a five gold medal sweep in swimming, can gain a measure of satisfaction in its futile chase of the Soviet Union at the World University Games today when the two powerful nations meet head-to-head in the honor-bound finals of the basketball competition.

The U.S., whose battle-fatigued cagers had to struggle to a narrow 66-60 victory over Brazil after Wednesday's chair-throwing brawl with Cuba, can atone for the Americans' overall disappointing showing in the Games with one quick KO of the Russians. The Soviets earned the right to the final by beating Canada, 89-74.

Regardless of the basketball outcome—or even of the David Johnson-led five gold medals the Americans took in swimming Thursday—the host Russians' insurmountable gold medal total has now reached 56 while the U.S. is a distant but solid second with 13.

Johnson, of San Diego, Calif., who won the 200-meter backstroke on Wednesday, came back 24 hours later to cop the 100-meter event in 59.9 after trailing at the turn. Johnson thus joined teammate Allen Poucher of Jacksonville, Fla., as the only U.S. athletes to hold two individual gold medals.

Jack Tingley of Louisville, Ky., then added the men's 400-meter freestyle to the American gold, winning in a new games record of 4:02.9.

Phils' Robinson Worries Rivals

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Bill Robinson, who almost worried himself out of baseball only two years ago, has finally become a cause of worry to the opposition.

Robinson, billed as a future superstar when he came to the New York Yankees in a trade with Atlanta in 1967, let a case of nerves almost ruin his career and seriously contemplated quitting in 1971 when he failed in an effort to make the Chicago White Sox.

He decided to give himself one more chance, however, and adopted a new approach to the game which succeeded in helping him develop his natural talents to a professional level.

Robinson's new philospophy was simple—relax. He decided not to worry about his play in the field, and it began to pay off last year when he hit .304 with 20 homers at Eugene in the Pacific Coast League.

That resulted in his being called up to the Philadelphia Phillies for the second half of last season, and though he batted only .239 in 82 games, he delivered some timely hits.

This year he has been a terror at the plate since the opening of the season. His play reached a high point Thursday night when he belted a pair of homers to lead the Phillies to a 6-3 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Robinson, who has belted 21 homers this year—only three less than he had hit in four previous big league seasons—has played in 90 of the Phillies' 126 games so far and is batting .298 with 55 runs batted in.

Robinson's two homers and a solo shot by Greg Luzinksi, his 23rd, enabled Jim Lonborg to notch his 11th victory in 21 decisions. It also spoiled a fine performance by second-year man Dave Roberts of the Padres, who had a double, triple and homer in a losing effort.

In the only other National League contests, Los Angeles downed New York 5-4 and Chicago edged Cincinnati in 10 innings, 4-3. California defeated Milwaukee 6-3 in the only American League game.

Joe Ferguson's third double of the game scored Willie Davis with the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning to give the Dodgers a victory over the Mets. Claude Osteen went the distance for the Dodgers to gain his 15th victory. The triumph enabled the first place Dodgers to move three games ahead of Cincinnati in the NL West.

Don Kessinger's single with two out in the 10th scored Randy Hundley and gave the Cubs their third straight triumph over the Reds.

Relief pitcher Chris Short walked two batters in succession to force home the tying and go-ahead runs during a five-run seventh inning and give the Angels a victory over the Brewers.

George Scott had a two-run homer and Don Money a solo shot for the Brewers.

A hole-in-one, a birdie two, a par three and a bogey four were recorded by a golfing foursome last Sunday at the Meadow Club near Fairfax.

On the par three, 145-year eighth hole, Joseph Costamagna recorded his first ace. It came in Costamagna's first round he has played after a four-month layoff due to illness. Al Finocchio, Gus Colvin and Dean Solinsky witnessed the five wood shot. "It was the only hole I could reach in one," Costamagna said.

On that same hole, Finocchio contributed a birdie, Colvin a par and Solinsky a bogey, giving the foursome scores of 1-2-3-4.

CHRISTOPHER GRIFFIN, 53, has returned to Marin Country Club as an assistant golf pro.

Griffin, who was an assistant under pro Buddy Sullivan from August, 1970 to May, 1971, was selected by pro Bill Leahy Aug. 1. Griffin replaces Paul Fakundiny who is trying to qualify for his players permit on the Professional Golfers Association tour.

The 5-foot-9, 165-pound Larkspur resident managed the Hamilton Air Force Base driving range from May, 1971, to Sept., 1972. In September, he did maintenance work for the Reed Union School District in Tiburon.

"I was working there when Bill asked me to come back here. I manage the shop here. That's my primary duty. But I'll also give some lessons," Griffin said.

DEFENDING champion Bob Gaillard of San Francisco heads a 400-plus field set to compete Sept. 14-15 in the men's 36-hole Marin Amateur Golf Championship at San Geronimo National Golf Club.

Gaillard, the University of San Francisco basketball team coach, will be among the Bay Area golfers playing for $5,000 in prizes in the Kiwanis Club of San Rafael-sponsored event. Entry forms are available through Sept. 7 by contacting the Kiwanis Club of San Rafael, P.O. Box 353, San Rafael, Calif., 94902.

Costs are $20 for championship flight or $15 for the Handicap or Callaway flights. Championship flight golfers play 36 holes; Handicap and Callaway participants shoot 18.

A PRO-AM tourney has been added to the Red Cross Golf Tournament slated Oct. 10 at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael.

Marin County golf club pros will participate in a best-ball threesome tourney. Each team will consist of a club pro plus another man and a woman. Scratch play will be used for the pros, handicaps for the others.

Some 100 players are expected to take part in the second annual Red Cross tourney over 18 holes. Starting times are from 8 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. for tourney costing $20 per person. Entries, which can be obtained until Sept. 28, are available at the Red Cross, 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, 94901.

A HOLE-in-one and an eagle two were recorded recently at San Geronimo National Golf Club. Bus Cramer of Novato aced the par three, 13th hole Aug. 16. He used a five iron on the 135-year hole. Cramer's ace, his second, was witnessed by Al Lawton, John Meeman, Hal Ramsey and Alex Graham.

Bob Lindbom of Menlo Park Saturday recorded an eagle two on the 18th hole. He used a driver and a wedge on the par four, 333-yard hole.

Dolphin Backfield Finally Reassembled

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

It's taken nearly a month but Coach Don Shula of the World Champion Miami Dolphins finally will get his Super Bowl backfield together again.

Fullback Larry Csonka, who has missed all three Miami preseason games since the victory over the College All-Stars, and Mercury Morris will join quarterback Bob Griese, out last week with an elbow infection, in the Miami backfield tonight when the Dolphins play host to the Los Angeles Rams. Csonka has been out with a calf injury and Morris has a bad hip.

Cincinnati is at Detroit in the only other game scheduled tonight while in Saturday action, Atlanta plays Cleveland at Knoxville, Tenn., Oakland meets Minnesota at Berkeley, Calif., Baltimore is at Washington, New England at New Orleans, Philadelphia at San Diego and the New York Jets at St. Louis.

On Sunday, Pittsburgh plays the Giants in New York, Green Bay is at Kansas City, Chicago at Buffalo and Denver at San Francisco.

In Thursday night's "Battle of Texas", Dan Pastorini threw three touchdown passes, including a 24-yarder to Fred Willis with just 72 seconds left, to lead the Houston Oilers to a 27-24 upset of the Dallas Cowboys.

The victory was Houston's first after three straight preseason losses and a 1-13 record last year.

In news from the camps Thursday, running back John Riggins, who reported five weeks late and sporting a Mohican haircut, said he will sit down with Weeb Ewbank, the New York Jets' coach and general manager, to discuss contract terms this weekend. Riggins was the Jets' MVP last season.

Three Tied For Lead In L&M Open Golf Tourney

CARY, N.C. (UPI) —Allen Miller said the fans crowded around the 18th tee at MacGregor Downs Country Club were like "a bunch of buzzards."

The fans huddled around the tee at the top of a long hill and watched golfer after golfer smack balls into a lake below. Miller's description was apt. The fans witnessed more misery in one afternoon than they would see on a week of TV soap operas.

Three of the men able to finesse the 18th Thursday were Brian "Buddy" Allin, Dave Stockton and Dave Eichelberger, who also finessed the entire course with four-underpar 67s to share the first round lead in the $100,000 L&M Open. Miller and four others were just one shot back.

After today's second round, the top eight men in the L&M will leave the tournament for the $150,000 U.S. Professional Match Play championship, which is to be played simultaneously with the final two rounds of the L&M on the same course Saturday and Sunday.

don't have any more relays," Swartz predicted. "We should get more points out of Rick (DeMont) and Robin (Backhaus) and maybe Keith Strange."

Backhaus was scheduled to swim the 200 fly tonight and Strange the 200-breast. "I expect him to qualify for the finals, and he has a good chance of winning," Swartz said about Backhaus' chances.

Olympic veteran Shirley Babashoff of the Huntington Beach Aquatic Club was clocked in 2:04.6 in the women's 200 free, breaking previous meet record of 2:07.0 set by Keena Rothhammer of the Santa Clara club set earlier in the day.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Crime Protection Services Discussed

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in investing in a company which provides crime protection services. Should I hold Baker International? Would you name another firm in this field to buy? — G.A.

A. Although the various companies operating in this sector have been weak market performers of late, a few appear worth considering for long-term investment. It is estimated that the private crime protection industry grosses more than $3 billion annually, about double the figure a decade ago. And, according to industry sources, a 10 per cent to 15 per cent annual increase in the market is expected to continue. Sources for expansion include: foreign markets, fire alarm devices for homes and institutions, electronic surveillance devices, airline security checks and further penetration into the industrial guard area which is now a highly fragmented situation. Corporations and institutions, for the most part, employ their own guards rather than utilizing professionally trained personnel from the security services industry.

There are six companies which derive the major portion of revenues from protection services. More than 85 per cent of Burns International's (ASE), Pinkerton's (OTC) and Wackenhut's (OTC) volume is generated by providing uniformed guard services. Brinks Inc. (OTC) is the leading company in the armored car field. Two other firms in the industry are listed on the New York Stock Exchange: American District Telegraph and Baker International. The former derives revenues from electronic surveillance devices for fire and crime protection. The latter company is more broadly based, offering armored car and guard services, alarm devices and fire detection systems. Shares of this company have long-term growth potential and should be held. In the first half, Baker's earnings rose 26 per cent on a 12 per cent increase in revenues. Based on estimated 1973 earnings of $1.15 a share, this issue is currently trading at a 21 times multiple, well below the average of the last 5 years. A more speculative issue which also rates attention, Wackenhut has recently received a $1.1 million government contract for guard personnel and communication equipment.

Stocks Slightly Higher; Trade Surplus Helped

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stock prices moved slightly higher on the New York Stock Exchange today; continuing a rally begun yesterday. Trading was moderate.

A major factor encouraging investors was the Commerce Department report the United States had a trade surplus of $106.1 million during July. This was the second month this year the nation has had a surplus in its balance of payments.

Despite the low volume, some investors appeared encouraged by yesterday's rally which saw the Dow gain more than 12 points. But many analysts expressed concern about the lack of turnover.

AMP Inc. was the most active issue, off ½ at 43 on 119,900 shares, including a block of 117,000 shares at 43.

Prices were slightly higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Leslie Fay was the most active issue, off ¾ at 8 ⅜ on 90,600 shares.

Steels, motors, rails, airlines, electronics and computers were mixed in fractions.

New Northgate Firm Makes Material To Soak Up Oil Spills

Earth Technology Corporation, a new firm that produces absorbent products to clean up oil spillage, has been formed at Northgate Industrial Park in San Rafael by John E. Crawford of Terra Linda.

It is an offshoot of another company headed by Crawford, called Crawford Marine Specialists Inc., which he operated in San Francisco at Pier 38 for seven years before moving it to Northgate last month. Crawford Marine Specialists has been involved in mineral exploration and environmental work, primarily in investigating the effects of effluent on water pollution.

The new Earth Technology Corporation has patents pending on absorbent products that are used by oil companies and can be used in everyday maintenance at service stations and garages.

Crawford's two companies are located in a suite at 124 Paul Drive, Northgate Industrial Park. He has been a geologist since 1948.

William Hoey Company of San Rafael arranged the lease of space for Crawford. Other companies which leased space through Hoey include these:

UNITED SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS Inc. moved from 124 Paul Drive to the La Plaza Building, suite 226, Northgate Industrial Park.

MOONEY INDUSTRIALS, manufacturer's representative for bearings and power transmission equipment, moved from Mount Tallac Court in San Rafael to the La Plaza Building, suite 355, Northgate Industrial Park.

HOLT ALLEN WEST, importer and distributor of marine hardware, leased space at 26 Medway No. 5, in San Rafael. Operator of the new firm is James Cooper of Belvedere, who imports small boat fittings and foul weather gear and sells them to retailers, distributors and boat makers.

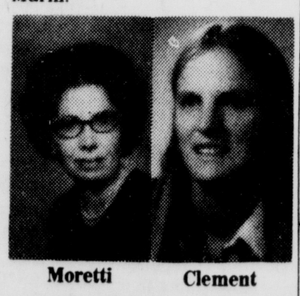
EARL SOARES ENTERPRISES, a maintenance company, moved from Larkspur to 30 Golden Gate Drive, No. 3, at Golden Gate Industrial Park, San Rafael.

CARMELA A. MORETTI of Greenbrae has been named assistant vice president and manager of Crocker Bank's Kentfield office. She succeeded Jack Berg, who became assistant vice president and manager of the Tiburon office.

A 30-year veteran with Crocker Bank, Miss Moretti was assistant vice president and manager of the West Arcadia office in Arcadia before coming to Marin.



Moretti Clement

ELIZABETH H. CLEMENT of Sausalito has been named credit officer in Wells Fargo Bank's 464 California Street office, San Francisco.

Miss Clement joined Wells Fargo in 1972 after graduating from Stanford University in Palo Alto.

GEORGE DEXTER, San Rafael automobile dealer, plans a new car leasing office at 445 Francisco Boulevard, next to Dexter Toyota.

The octagonal structure, of steel and glass, will be the center for the lease of all types of cars and trucks, which is now handled out of Annex Motors. Details of the building are subject to approval by the city of San Rafael. Dexter said he hopes to have the building up by fall.

RICHARD SERVETNICK, 30, of San Rafael was appointed head trader for American Express Investment Management Company (AEIMCO) in San Francisco.

Servetnick was formerly a trader with a Houston-based investment management company and with a mutual fund group in Los Angeles.

AEIMCO, an American Express Company subsidiary, is responsible for about a billion dollars in mutual funds, endowments and pension trusts.

Servetnick Hochman

DAVID C. HOCKMAN of San Rafael was promoted to the position of customer service engineer with Digital Telephone Systems Inc. at 85 Mitchell Boulevard, San Rafael. He will serve D.T.S. customers in the western United States, assisting in installing telephone equipment and providing customers with operation and maintenance training.

Hochman won his degree in engineering technology from California Polytechnic University in San Luis Obispo and joined D.T.S. eight months ago.

Ceccotti, a realtor since 1968, is a member of the Marin County Board of Realtors for which he served as secretary and on the board of directors. He is also an active member of the American Arbitration Association and Marin Property Owners Association.

Century 21 offers a national referral system which gives buyers and sellers information on real estate throughout the country.

NORTHWESTERN PACIFIC Railroad won the National Safety Council award for a perfect safety record for 1972 — not a single on-the-job fatality or injury. NWP, headquartered in Willits, operates between Marin County and Arcata.

Cattle Could Solve Payment Balance

OVERTON, Tex. (UPI) — The agricultural and cattle industries can probably do more to solve the U.S. balance of payments problem than any other industry in the country, according to Walker Wilson, president of the American International Charlais Association.

"People of many nations over the world are just beginning to become affluent enough to afford beef and they like it," said Wilson, an Overton rancher.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Crime Protection Services Discussed

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am interested in investing in a company which provides crime protection services. Should I hold Baker International? Would you name another firm in this field to buy? — G.A.

A. Although the various companies operating in this sector have been weak market performers of late, a few appear worth considering for long-term investment. It is estimated that the private crime protection industry grosses more than $3 billion annually, about double the figure a decade ago. And, according to industry sources, a 10 per cent to 15 per cent annual increase in the market is expected to continue. Sources for expansion include: foreign markets, fire alarm devices for homes and institutions, electronic surveillance devices, airline security checks and further penetration into the industrial guard area which is now a highly fragmented situation. Corporations and institutions, for the most part, employ their own guards rather than utilizing professionally trained personnel from the security services industry.

There are six companies which derive the major portion of revenues from protection services. More than 85 per cent of Burns International's (ASE), Pinkerton's (OTC) and Wackenhut's (OTC) volume is generated by providing uniformed guard services. Brinks Inc. (OTC) is the leading company in the armored car field. Two other firms in the industry are listed on the New York Stock Exchange: American District Telegraph and Baker International. The former derives revenues from electronic surveillance devices for fire and crime protection. The latter company is more broadly based, offering armored car and guard services, alarm devices and fire detection systems. Shares of this company have long-term growth potential and should be held. In the first half, Baker's earnings rose 26 per cent on a 12 per cent increase in revenues. Based on estimated 1973 earnings of $1.15 a share, this issue is currently trading at a 21 times multiple, well below the average of the last 5 years. A more speculative issue which also rates attention, Wackenhut has recently received a $1.1 million government contract for guard personnel and communication equipment.

Stocks Slightly Higher; Trade Surplus Helped

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stock prices moved slightly higher on the New York Stock Exchange today; continuing a rally begun yesterday. Trading was moderate.

A major factor encouraging investors was the Commerce Department report the United States had a trade surplus of $106.1 million during July. This was the second month this year the nation has had a surplus in its balance of payments.

Despite the low volume, some investors appeared encouraged by yesterday's rally which saw the Dow gain more than 12 points. But many analysts expressed concern about the lack of turnover.

AMP Inc. was the most active issue, off ½ at 43 on 119,900 shares, including a block of 117,000 shares at 43.

Prices were slightly higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Leslie Fay was the most active issue, off ¾ at 8 ⅜ on 90,600 shares.

Steels, motors, rails, airlines, electronics and computers were mixed in fractions.

Then It Was Drought; Now It Is Exports

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
40 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

U.S. Commissioner of Reclamation Elwood Mead had just made a swing through the great wheat-growing region between the Rockies and the Great Lakes. He concluded it by advising that much of the population might as well pull up stakes and move out.

The land, he declared, was ruined beyond redemption: "There is nothing left, no green thing; it is gone."

THE DATE was July 24, 1934, midsummer of the hottest, driest year the Midwest had ever known.

Farmers in the whole tier of states between the Mississippi River and the Rockies, from Mexico to Canada, were grimly watching their farms blow away — literally. Heat and drought had killed the crops, the hot winds were lifting off the top soil in dust storms that swirled clear over the mountains into western Montana, Idaho, Utah and Arizona.

It was the middle of a series of dry years that gave "America's Breadbasket" the new name of "the Dust Bowl." Because of them, much of the population did head west — as Commissioner Mead advised. Most of them headed for California — to be turned back at the border or to settle in "Hoovervilles" and be known as "Okies."

The drought had another effect. Secy. of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace remarked wryly, shortly after Mead's dismal report, that it had effectively done away with crop surpluses which his Agricultural Adjustment Administration had been spending millions of dollars to eliminate.

THERE HAS BEEN no drought this year. The Department of Agriculture in its annual crop report forecasts the biggest grain harvests ever. But that same report shows that the surplus of feed grains has been wiped out as effectively as it was in 1934 — not by heat and drought this time, but by exports.

So much wheat, corn and soybeans has been exported that, according to the department's report, even the expected record harvests will not make up the loss. There will not be enough for domestic use and export.

That is why wheat is selling at well over $4 a bushel, corn at well over $3. That is why there is a shortage of beef in the markets — and likely to continue to be. That is why the housewife must pay more for bread — and for just about all other foods.

THE GREAT reduction in the wheat reserve came from sale to Russia — at knockdown prices — of 440 million bushels, roughly one-fourth of the entire U.S. crop.

The Russians are benefiting now from this deal. Their government is careful not to let them know that there is American wheat in the two-pound loaves of bread they buy at the government-controlled price of 23 cents.

Commentator William F. Buckley had two Russian professors as guests on his program on public television this week. They talked about the wheat deal. One of the Russians expressed amazement that the U.S. had not exacted a quid pro quo — such as a sharp reduction in armaments. The Soviet government would have granted much to get the wheat, he said.

But there was no quid pro quo. Instead, there was a bargain price — far, far below $4 per bushel.

That may be rapproachement; but it certainly is not smart Yankee trading.

And what happens now if we are hit by another series of drought years like those of the 1930s?

Restricting President's Powers Won't Keep U.S. Out Of Wars

WASHINGTON — One overriding fact and an overriding question flow from ending the bombing in Cambodia.

QUESTION: How can we keep it that way?

Wishful thinking won't do it, and it is wishful thinking to assume that the danger of unwanted involvement will be greatly reduced if Congress will only pass a law which says the United States must not get involved in any war without the approval of Congress.

I OFFER THIS central and fundamental premise: The best way to keep out of war is to keep war from breaking out. This means that the United States must exert its leadership, its influence and its power to build a stable world order. We can't be the world's lone policeman, but there must be a collective deterrent to war or war will continue to be, for some, an attractive course.

If we can't stop the world and get off, then we must do more than ever to help lay the building blocks of a better peace. Much is being done. This is the road, and it is the only road, away from war.

We cannot legislate noninvolvement in war. We passed a "neutrality act" in the late '30s to keep out of World War II, and shortly thereafter we were in World War II.

Now the slogan is "No More Vietnams," and the theory is that if Congress can somehow limit the authority of the commander-in-chief in his use of American military forces abroad this will be one way to ensure no more Vietnams.

It won't.

NO PRESIDENT — as Harry Truman did in Korea and as John Kennedy did in Vietnam — should put the United States into war without the earliest possible consent of Congress. But there is no evidence whatsoever that circumstances which caused President Truman to go to the defense of South Korea would not have caused Congress to approve his action if he had taken the decision to Congress. Sen. Robert Taft said so many times.

And after President Lyndon Johnson succeeded John Kennedy, he asked Congress to approve his military actions in Southeast Asia, and Congress authorized him to "take all necessary measures" to defend the Southeast Asian nations. This resolution passed the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees 30 to 1. It passed the House Foreign Affairs Committee 30 to 1. It passed the House 414 to 0 and the Senate 88 to 2.

It will be all to the good for Congress to affirm its sense that a President should not use U.S. armed force anywhere in the world without taking the decision to Congress as rapidly as possible. But Congress cannot amend the constitutional powers of the commander-in-chief by legislation.

IF CONGRESS affirms its intent, without attempting to circumscribe a President's constitutional authority, I would have no doubt that President Nixon will make it equally clear that his intent is the same: namely, not to involve the United States in any war without congressional participation.

But it needs to be clear that insuring congressional participation in the war-making process will not insure that there will be no warmaking.

More has been done during the last four years to dissolve many of the causes of the cold war in Europe than at any time since the end of World War II.

It may well be that in this last quarter of the 20th century the responsible leaders of the world have come to see that war is just too stupid to be used or to be tolerated. This seems to be the premise of the Brezhnev-Nixon summits and Chou En-lai-Nixon summit.

The premise seems to be that the best way to keep out of war is to keep war from breaking out.

Much Grandstanding In Watergate Hearings

Having pondered over and reflected upon the Watergate hearings, which were obviously an excellent post-graduate course in grandstanding, I am convinced that Glycon in the fifth century A.D. foresaw those hearings when he said: "All is dust and all is laughter, all is trivial, chaos before and chaos after, unreason hatches all".

It was absorbing, indeed, to observe the interrogators jockey for position and, seemingly thinking of those future $1,500 speaking fees, "take it big" as they say in show business. It brought to mind the old song, "Every Little Movement Has A Meaning All Its Own".

Taking cognizance of the fact that most committee members are experienced lawyers, and currently holders of political offices, it was almost too much to watch their surprise, shock and expressed indignation upon "learning" that politics can be and often is a dirty game. Their "innocence" must have brought forth smiles if not laughter from many living politicians and possibly from those who have moved on to the great perhaps where birds sing forever and flowers never cease to bloom.

With the possible exception of the latter class, just about everyone is aware that there are those who subscribe to the theory that the end justifies the means. And those who entertain the foolish opinion that politicians are excempt from such nefarious words, acts and deeds should by all means get out of the house more often. . .

In view of the fact that some lives will be ruined as a result of the Watergate hearings, I don't want to leave the impression that I consider those hearings, or the almost unbelievable stupidities that precipitated them, as being humorous. My opinion is quite the contrary. That is precisely why I consider it sad that some members of the committee were obviously more interested in impressing the audience with their backgrounds in the practice of law, their oratorical abilities, and their story telling proclivities than they were in showing consideration for either the wise or the foolish witnesses who took the stand. . .

Letter Stirs Old Memories; Switch On Ferry Significant

One never knows when turning the pages of the I-J what poignant bit from memory's book will be there to bemuse you.

So as I turned the pages of Monday's paper, the first letter to the editor bemused me. It attracted my attention because it expressed the same affection for our county that I have. And the gentleman had lived here for almost the same time. He arrived during August 50 years ago and had lived in Sausalito all those years while he, as an architect, designed such buildings as a Priory Church for the Dominican Fathers and for other denominations. Something seemed familiar to me and I looked for his name at the end of the letter — Arnold S. Constable, truly a gentle man 88 years this month and with his lovely gentle wife who will be 90 next week.

It was 60 years ago that Billie and I would hear the friendly, gentle voices of his family and of himself, with their delightful British accent, as they slowly worked their way up the meandering trail from the floating wharf far below our log cabin — coming to visit his father, a retired Bank of England manager and our neighbor near snug little Gig Harbor on Puget Sound.

IT IS SOMETHING to ponder over when you read that the Marin Conservation League now endorses the Larkspur site for the ferry terminal after bitterly fighting to prevent it for three years. It was so obvious that was the best location.

When we see von Gundell working around the edges, constantly trying to force the folk of this county to live where he thinks they should, it seems that there should be enough level-headed citizens around to put a stop to such action, in which le Baptiste is now out in the open as an active ally of von Gundell's.

Peanuts For Mass Transit 'Elephantine In Potential'

SOMEWHERE NEAR EAST ORANGE, N.J. — It is hard to be precise about where you are when the highway is unfamiliar and you are being pushed along at 70 miles per hour by the leading edge of rush-hour traffic. I think it was East Orange, because it was where the Garden State Parkway crosses Interstate 280.

What I remember most clearly is that the Garden State at that point rams straight through an old cemetery, which once was a quiet and leafy resting place where relatives buried their dead in naive confidence that they would be peaceful there for at least the indefinite future. But then the surveyors came, and the bulldozers, and the future turned out to be more indefinite than anyone could have guessed.

IN THE LATEST highway act, Congress has approved another $5 billion to build highways in the current fiscal year, just as it did in recent years past. It has tentatively voted even larger sums for each year from now through 1980.

More than half the construction total for each year is earmarked for the Interstate system, the one that slashed through the cemetery and has flattened so many forests and neighborhoods from corner to corner of America.

But the most important part of the new act involved only a niggling amount of money, relatively. It was arrived at only after three months of tedious negotiation in House-Senate conference committee. It was labeled by the National Journal as "legislation elephantine in terms of its potential significance to U.S. transportation policy."

WHAT CONGRESS DID was permit a small percentage of Highway Trust Fund money to be used for the first time for urban mass transportation in the years immediately ahead. This breakthrough came after the fund had been held inviolate since its creation against use for anything but highways.

The rationale, heavily supported by the highway lobby, has been that since 40 per cent of the fund comes from the trucking industry and the remainder from private highway users in the form of gasoline and similar taxes, none of it should be diverted away from highway construction.

All very reasonable within itself, until you realize that cars are choking our city streets and their fumes are choking city taxpayers, and not only cemeteries but also parks, homes and historic landmarks are pulverized to make way for them.

And the process has been self-perpetuating: Because the fund was there, the roads were built to hasten more traffic into the cities; because more gasoline thus was burned, more taxes were poured into the fund, and so on. This cycle was a prime contributor to the cried-over death of our cities. Yet at the same time railroad passenger service was allowed to deteriorate, and the federal contribution to its revival is chickenfeed next to the spending on highways.

PUBLIC THINKERS did not take this long to see that the system was both self-perpetuating and eventually self-destructive. But because of powerful industry lobbying, it did take this long finally to get a foot in the door, to allow some of the highway fund money to be used for highway-related urban mass transit (that is, bus purchases) in the next fiscal year, and for rail transit in the year after.

Politically, highways are a touchy subject becuse while any broad-minded voter can grasp the need for diversified transportation, he also wants to be able to zip from the Jersey shore to Paterson without slowing down at East Orange — and the fact that the Garden State bisects a cemetery to get him there probably is noted by less than 1 driver in 1,000.

More About Reasons For Prepaid Health Plans

By RUS WALTON

In the column before this one I was asking Jeff Davis, president of Medi-Mark, about prepaid health plans (PHP) and what those programs mean to the doctor, the patient and the taxpayer. On with the interview.

You obviously see this whole health care system as an important public issue?

Davis: "Sure. Because we must find a way to provide proper medical care for the people. For the wage-earning, tax-paying individual and his family who finds it almost impossible to afford such care. And, also for those who need help from the taxpayer. We can't deny them that help but we can find ways to provide it as economically as possible."

Medical economics is the big part of the problem, right?

Davis: "Right. Medical research and technology is far ahead of economics.

"Exotic technology requires expensive equipment and expensive medicines. Hospitals have higher fixed overhead because of new machines — cobalt treatment, ultra-modern operating rooms, intensive care units. And, we're overbuilt on hospital rooms right now, statewide.

"All that has taken the day-rate at the hospital sky-high. We tend to look on those higher costs as we do the impact of larger jury awards and higher repair costs on insurance; shove them along to the customer (the patient) without enough policing or concern about cost-efficiencies. The average wage-earner is being shut out of the medical market. And, of course, the increase in costs of public health plans means higher taxes."

What about these charlatans that are getting rich on PHPs?

Davis: "No doubt about it. There are some people in the PHP for the fast buck, the rip-off artist who wants to line his pocket and the heck with health care services. . .

"It's a matter of policing yourself. Just as in any other public service — if you don't control yourself, government will.

"The problem is that when government moves in to get rid of the charlatans, it has a tendency to (1) throw the baby out with the dirty water and (2) jump from quality control to complete control."

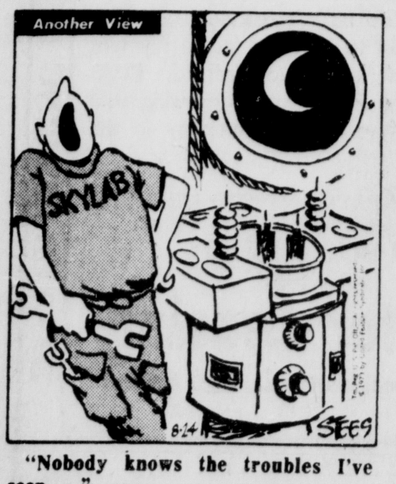
What about existing PHPs?

Davis: "We are working on several. The front-runner is a two-county program in Tulare and Kings. There are others under way in San Diego and Imperial, and Santa Barbara and Santa Clara counties."

Is PHP the answer to health care problems?

Davis: "It's one answer. There are no miracle drugs for the problem. The big thing to remember is that this is a pluralistic society. Each of us fits a different mold and has different needs.

"The job in health care service is to assure each person a free choice. And, the biggest threat to free choice is government control."



"Nobody knows the troubles I've seen. . ."

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Then It Was Drought; Now It Is Exports

Independent-Journal
SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
40 SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1973 EDITORIAL PAGE

U.S. Commissioner of Reclamation Elwood Mead had just made a swing through the great wheat-growing region between the Rockies and the Great Lakes. He concluded it by advising that much of the population might as well pull up stakes and move out.

The land, he declared, was ruined beyond redemption: "There is nothing left, no green thing; it is gone."

THE DATE was July 24, 1934, midsummer of the hottest, driest year the Midwest had ever known.

Farmers in the whole tier of states between the Mississippi River and the Rockies, from Mexico to Canada, were grimly watching their farms blow away — literally. Heat and drought had killed the crops, the hot winds were lifting off the top soil in dust storms that swirled clear over the mountains into western Montana, Idaho, Utah and Arizona.

It was the middle of a series of dry years that gave "America's Breadbasket" the new name of "the Dust Bowl." Because of them, much of the population did head west — as Commissioner Mead advised. Most of them headed for California — to be turned back at the border or to settle in "Hoovervilles" and be known as "Okies."

The drought had another effect. Secy. of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace remarked wryly, shortly after Mead's dismal report, that it had effectively done away with crop surpluses which his Agricultural Adjustment Administration had been spending millions of dollars to eliminate.

THERE HAS BEEN no drought this year. The Department of Agriculture in its annual crop report forecasts the biggest grain harvests ever. But that same report shows that the surplus of feed grains has been wiped out as effectively as it was in 1934 — not by heat and drought this time, but by exports.

So much wheat, corn and soybeans has been exported that, according to the department's report, even the expected record harvests will not make up the loss. There will not be enough for domestic use and export.

That is why wheat is selling at well over $4 a bushel, corn at well over $3. That is why there is a shortage of beef in the markets — and likely to continue to be. That is why the housewife must pay more for bread — and for just about all other foods.

THE GREAT reduction in the wheat reserve came from sale to Russia — at knockdown prices — of 440 million bushels, roughly one-fourth of the entire U.S. crop.

The Russians are benefiting now from this deal. Their government is careful not to let them know that there is American wheat in the two-pound loaves of bread they buy at the government-controlled price of 23 cents.

Commentator William F. Buckley had two Russian professors as guests on his program on public television this week. They talked about the wheat deal. One of the Russians expressed amazement that the U.S. had not exacted a quid pro quo — such as a sharp reduction in armaments. The Soviet government would have granted much to get the wheat, he said.

But there was no quid pro quo. Instead, there was a bargain price — far, far below $4 per bushel.

That may be rapproachement; but it certainly is not smart Yankee trading.

And what happens now if we are hit by another series of drought years like those of the 1930s?

Restricting President's Powers Won't Keep U.S. Out Of Wars

WASHINGTON — One overriding fact and an overriding question flow from ending the bombing in Cambodia.

QUESTION: How can we keep it that way?

Wishful thinking won't do it, and it is wishful thinking to assume that the danger of unwanted involvement will be greatly reduced if Congress will only pass a law which says the United States must not get involved in any war without the approval of Congress.

I OFFER THIS central and fundamental premise: The best way to keep out of war is to keep war from breaking out. This means that the United States must exert its leadership, its influence and its power to build a stable world order. We can't be the world's lone policeman, but there must be a collective deterrent to war or war will continue to be, for some, an attractive course.

If we can't stop the world and get off, then we must do more than ever to help lay the building blocks of a better peace. Much is being done. This is the road, and it is the only road, away from war.

In the column before this one I was asking Jeff Davis, president of Medi-Mark, about prepaid health plans (PHP) and what those programs mean to the doctor, the patient and the taxpayer. On with the interview.

You obviously see this whole health care system as an important public issue?

Davis: "Sure. Because we must find a way to provide proper medical care for the people. For the wage-earning, tax-paying individual and his family who finds it almost impossible to afford such care. And, also for those who need help from the taxpayer. We can't deny them that help but we can find ways to provide it as economically as possible."

Medical economics is the big part of the problem, right?

Davis: "Right. Medical research and technology is far ahead of economics.

"Exotic technology requires expensive equipment and expensive medicines. Hospitals have higher fixed overhead because of new machines — cobalt treatment, ultra-modern operating rooms, intensive care units. And, we're overbuilt on hospital rooms right now, statewide.

"All that has taken the day-rate at the hospital sky-high. We tend to look on those higher costs as we do the impact of larger jury awards and higher repair costs on insurance; shove them along to the customer (the patient) without enough policing or concern about cost-efficiencies. The average wage-earner is being shut out of the medical market. And, of course, the increase in costs of public health plans means higher taxes."

What about these charlatans that are getting rich on PHPs?

Davis: "No doubt about it. There are some people in the PHP for the fast buck, the rip-off artist who wants to line his pocket and the heck with health care services. . .

"It's a matter of policing yourself. Just as in any other public service — if you don't control yourself, government will.

"The problem is that when government moves in to get rid of the charlatans, it has a tendency to (1) throw the baby out with the dirty water and (2) jump from quality control to complete control."

What about existing PHPs?

Davis: "We are working on several. The front-runner is a two-county program in Tulare and Kings. There are others under way in San Diego and Imperial, and Santa Barbara and Santa Clara counties."

Is PHP the answer to health care problems?

Davis: "It's one answer. There are no miracle drugs for the problem. The big thing to remember is that this is a pluralistic society. Each of us fits a different mold and has different needs.

"The job in health care service is to assure each person a free choice. And, the biggest threat to free choice is government control."

"Nobody knows the troubles I've seen. . ."

Five new polio cases were reported in Marin County, bringing the year's total to 19.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

If the world suffers from mental deterioration or from moral degradation, then something goes wrong at the very root of civilization or culture. Even though that civilization may drag out for a considerable period, it grows less and less vital and ultimately tumbles down. — Jawharlal Nehru.

Pink Stucco Bus Depot Becomes Big White Elephant

One of Mill Valley's biggest white elephants is its pink stucco bus depot.

After months of deliberations, the city council has postponed until Sept. 13 any decision on who should rent the city-owned depot which has been empty for several months.

The council debate seems to center now on whether the depot should bring in a high rent or provide a home for some group which might not pay the city as well but might run a public service-oriented enterprise.

LAST WINTER, the council seemed to have made up its mind when it picked as a renter a resident who wanted to start a French restaurant in the depot. But later, after he had invested in equipment and spent several weeks negotiating about his lease, the council decided his financial backing was weak.

The council then told the city manager it wanted a tenant who would sell bus tickets and might provide newspapers and coffee for bus riders and would also be more oriented to helping the community.

Several councilmen said they were interested in a proposal from Edward T. Ryken, executive director of the Marin Senior Coordinating Council, who wanted senior citizens to rent the depot for a small food and newspaper concession.

But this week, the seniors withdrew their application, because, said Ryken, "the city had taken such a long time in making a decision."

Ryken said his group had set up a $5,000 fund for the project but as time went on other projects exhausted the money.

"If the council had decided on us earlier or later on we might have been able to do it. But I didn't get the impression that the city was leaning towards us anyway," he said.

THE SENIORS would have paid $250 per month rent. City Mgr. William H. Cunningham said he wanted $500.

According to Cunningham, the city now has four proposals left for privately run bookshop or coffee shop type enterprises. He said he will recommend picking a renter who wants to sell newspapers and light meals.

So the bus depot remains an empty shell. Downtown businessmen complain about the young people who hang around its outside benches and about its deteriorating exterior. A property that could be drawing revenue for the city remains in limbo.

Federal No-Fault Bill Looks Certain In '74

By LUCIA MOUAT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Hard as it may be for some to dismiss the old axiom that the one at fault must bear the cost, federal no-fault auto insurance legislation is looking more and more like a sure thing for 1974.

Its basic premise is that no matter who is at fault in an accident — often a costly, lengthy matter for the courts to decide — each driver collects from his own insurance company for his particular damage claims.

Although an estimated 19 states now have some variation of no-fault legislation on their books, several are considered poor imitations of what a no-fault system should be and the prospect of a uniform floor level set by Washington appears to be slowly but steadily gaining acceptance.

The Senate Commerce Committee already has approved the so-called Hart-Magnuson bill and the full Senate is considered likely to tackle it before the end of this year. Hearings on the House side are expected to begin this fall and floor action is likely during the next congressional session.

A similar measure was defeated in the Senate last year by a 49-to-46 vote. The current bill has been substantially redrafted to the point where backers are much more hopeful now about its prospects for passage. The states, they say, will have more authority and flexibility to set their own standards within the national guidelines.

With the exception of the American Trial Lawyers Association (ATLA), most critics now channel their opposition into a plea for letting states experiment with such legislation on their own before the federal government rushes in.

Former flat-out no-fault opponents now advocating this state route to action include the Nixon administration, a growing number of lawyers, and the bulk of the insurance industry.

Proponents of national legislation considered it a major coup for their team earlier this month when officials of State Farm Mutual, largest car insurer in the nation, announced their support of the federal bill.

Briefly, that bill would require every car owner to buy protection for himself and his family with the guarantee that, in the event of a mishap, all of their medical and rehabilitation expenses would be reimbursed and the right to sue for damages would be limited to a case involving only very serious injuries or death.

Women's Suffrage Spotlighted

This Sunday will be a day to think about women's rights and to commemorate their successful struggle for the vote. August 26th has been set aside by various groups as Women's Suffrage Day, Women's Liberation Day, Women's Equality Day, and Susan B. Anthony Day. On that date in 1920, American women were granted the right to vote after a battle dating back to the 1600's. It was Ms. Anthony who drafted the constitutional amendment giving women the vote. The amendment failed when first introduced in 1878. But it was reintroduced in each succeeding Congress until it was passed.

The difference between running water and running out of water

There was a time when running water was a luxury. Things have changed. Now we use 20 gallons for a shower, 50 to wash a load of clothes, and flush a toilet to the tune of 6 gallons — all without a second thought. Yet, in spite of our progress with water, one fact hasen't changed: Water resource is not infinite — it has a beginning and an end.

In Marin County, all of the water we use comes from local watershed lands and is stored in five reservoirs. When full, these reservoirs hold 52,430 acre feet. However, our safe annual yield (that is: the amount we can count on) is 26,000 acre feet. Our water use in 1970 was 32,250 acre feet — 6,250 feet beyond the safe yield mark. What this basically means, is that we had overdrawn our water "bank account" and were not in a good position to deal with our periodic dry cycles

In 1972 your water district initiated a water conservation program and consumption dropped by 1300 acre feet. This told us one very important thing: the people of Marin care about their water resource — enough to take a significant step toward our safe yield mark.

Consequently, we have decided to broaden that conservation effort and extend it into the coming year. During this year we'll be collecting and giving you helpful information on how to conserve water. Watch for this information as it appears in ads and your mail, and remember this: it isn't necessary use that endangers our water supply, it's thoughtless waste. A thought about your water use today. is an investment in tomorrow's water supply.

Diplomat's Sons In Pot Arrest

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two sons of the late William V. S. Tubman, former president of Liberia, were arrested on charges of possession of marijuana and stolen property yesterday.

Police said they found a stolen checkbook and marijuana and hashish in the apartment of William Tubman Jr., 27, and Ambrose Tubman, 23. William Tubman Jr. was charged additionally with passing a bad check.

The younger brother told detectives he was a student while the older brother said he was unemployed.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Samuel L. Barrett, 52, was appointed yesterday as state director of vocational education by Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles.

California Given Land For Parks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California was presented deeds to 1,397 acres of surplus federal lands for parks and recreation yesterday by Presidential Counselor Anne Armstrong.

The Capitol ceremony with Gov. Ronald Reagan and officials from San Mateo County and the city of San Diego formalizes transfer of the three parcels under President Nixon's "Legacy of Parks" program to release surplus property.

Reagan praised the Nixon administration for what he said were continuing efforts to return more authority and resources back to local and regional governments.

Not all persons, he told a crowd of 50 parks and recreation workers, "are aware of how revolutionary is this program of federalism."
